ROOSEVELT REFUSES TO SEE METHODISTS

Resents Their Latest Attack on Catholic Church and Cancels Reception for Americans.

WILL NOT REPUDIATE TAFT

Report "a Baseless Fabrication"—Goes Driving with King and Praises Italian Cavalry.

ROME, April 5.—Just as he resisted the efforts of the Vatican to restrict his liberty of action after his proposed presentation to the Pope, so Theodore Roosevelt to-day resented an attempt by the Methodists of Rome to make capital out of his action.

When his attention was drawn to the inflammatory statement issued by the Methodists he immediately canceled the reception at the American Ambassador's home fixed for to-morrow afternoon and requested Ambassador Leishman to so inform the Methodists. He reiterated his emphatic disapproval of any attempts to inflame religious animosities. His statement follows:

> I had made no arrangements to speak at any church or clerical organization in Rome. I have received a number of gentlemen of all religious faiths who have called at my rooms or at the American Embassy.
>
> Under the circumstances I have requested the American Ambassador not to hold the reception which he had intended to hold Wednesday afternoon.
>
> As regards all efforts, by whomsoever made, to bring about and inflame religious animosities because of what has occurred in connection with the Vatican and myself, I can do no more than to refer to the emphatic statements contained in my open letter to Dr. Lyman Abbott, already published.
>
> All that I there said I desire to reiterate with my whole power.

I am able to state that Col. Roosevelt regards the statement of the Methodists here as simply scurrilous. He feels that while of course the Methodists in no shape or way justified the Vatican in its attitude in connection with his audience with the Pope, the statement made last night by the Methodists rendered it out of the question for him to have anything to do with them.

Treats Both Denominations Alike.

As Col. Roosevelt is absolutely certain that the majority of American Catholics will repudiate the action of Cardinal Merry del Val, so is he certain that a great majority of the Methodists will repudiate what was done by the Methodists here. Whether or not the Catholics or Methodists believe, as he hopes they believe, in the justice of his action in the two incidents, he stands and will stand absolutely upon the principles he has announced. He would no more submit to dictation by the Vatican than to dictation by the Methodists in Rome, and just as little by the Methodist organization here as by the Vatican.

Exactly as he refused to give the Vatican the slightest promise of any kind, so when the Methodist organization misbehaved he instantly refused to have anything to do with it. His whole course in Rome has not been in the slightest degree partisan. He cares not a snap of his finger for any possible effect upon himself, for he feels that he is entirely competent to take care of himself against the assault of either side. He also believes that his fellow-countrymen will cordially approve of his refusal to be dictated to by either side. His sole concern has been to try to prevent any religious acrimony or bitterness in the United States.

He will not condone the action of Protestants who in his judgment strive to inflame religious hostility any more than the action of the Catholics toward the same end. He stands absolutely for justice and fair dealing between the different creeds and for treating with respect the religious opinions of all honest men. And he can neither be coerced out of his attitude by anything done by the Vatican on the one hand nor by any of the representatives of a Protestant organization on the other hand.

Mr. Roosevelt has always possessed a peculiar affection for the Methodists, but he is incapable of hesitating for one moment in disapproving of their conduct when they go wrong, just as he is incapable of hesitating for one moment to refuse the acceptance of any dictation whatever by the Vatican in a matter which he regards as concerned only with his personal judgment.

Congratulated by Catholics.

He has been heartily congratulated already by telegrams and quantities of cablegrams from the United States and by persons who have called upon him here in Rome. Significant among the visitors are Catholics and Protestants, including priests and clergymen. Both the Catholics and the Methodists of Rome now realize that Col. Roosevelt is determined to deal with all alike, acting precisely on principles of toleration and equality, a treatment which has always guided him.

Even Catholics close to the Vatican are beginning to understand that his attitude in connection with the audience with the Pope had no relation with them or their religion, but was caused entirely by the effort of Vatican diplomacy to make capital out of his reception. The Methodists here likewise know that he has no intention to permit his action with reference to the

PAWNSHOP JEWELS HELD.

Diamond Necklace and Dagger, Costly Earrings—Circular About Them.

The police of this city sent out recently a confidential circular to other cities announcing the discovery and detention in pawnshops here of this valuable jewelry:

> One diamond necklace set with small diamonds.
> One diamond dagger set with four emeralds.
> One diamond and emerald ring of two carats each, with five small diamonds on each side.
> One gold-chased ring.
> One diamond triangular scarf pin.
> One diamond triangular fly pin.
> One diamond lover's knot.
> One pair of pear-shaped diamond earrings, emerald in centre, encircled by diamonds.
> One pair of earrings set with pear-shaped sapphires, diamond bar attached.

At Police Headquarters all information regarding the confidential circular or the jewelry to which it referred was denied. The circular was dated March 29, and referred to the jewelry as "described in Pown List 78 of March 25, 1910."

Mrs. Frederick H. Bugher, wife of Deputy Police Commissioner Bugher, while visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. Nicoll Ludlow, at 14 Lafayette Square, Washington, D. C., was robbed of between $20,000 and $50,000 worth of jewelry and a purse containing $150 on March 29. A general alarm was sent out for Clarence Wilson the "second man" employed by the Ludlows who was missing after the theft was discovered.

This jewelry was described as consisting of a diamond necklace valued at $12,000, a diamond dagger, a diamond star, an emblem ring, a pear-shaped emblem surrounded by diamonds, a pair of earrings set with sapphires, and several diamond pins. The jewels described in the confidential circular can hardly be those stolen from Mrs. Bugher, however, because they were apparently in a pawnshop circular four days before the Bugher theft.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—At Police Headquarters here it is said while a list of the jewels found in pawnshops in New York corresponds in part with some of the Bugher jewels, these must in reality be another set, as the Bugher robbery did not occur until March 28, while the New York find is reported as early as March 25. No word has been received from the New York police, and at Police Headquarters there is no disposition to believe that the missing Bugher jewels have been traced.

BRIDE-TO-BE RESISTS COURT.

Locks Herself in Her House to Avoid Arrest for Contempt.

Mrs. Susan I. Whittemore of 265 Halsted Street, East Orange, N. J., was last night, behind barred doors and windows, a voluntary prisoner. She is to be married to-day, and it depends on the efforts of her intended husband, Thomas J. McLaughlin, formerly an Alderman in Newark, whether the wedding takes place. Mrs. Whittemore is resisting the efforts of a court constable and two deputies, who want to put her under arrest for contempt of court. Mr. McLaughlin is doing his best to get into communication with the court and obtain a stay in the proceedings.

The bridegroom to be only arrived on the scene last night, having been summoned by telephone by Mrs. Whittemore. He tried to communicate with Judge Malcolm MacLear of the First District Court of Newark, where the proceedings are taken, but failed to reach the Judge.

Thus Mrs. Whittemore remains a prisoner. The guard has not been removed, despite the pleadings of Mr. McLaughlin, and the latter was forced to give up the fight for the night. The constables have orders to stay at their posts until her arrest is made. Mrs. Whittemore has refused even to show herself at a window.

Her intended husband says that the papers following the judgment out of which grew the contempt proceedings were never served on Mrs. Whittemore, but were accepted by mistake by her sister, Mrs. Hall. A judgment was secured last Winter by the Siegel Cooper Company of New York for $139. Supplementary proceedings were taken and an order of discovery made, which were ignored by the defendant.

Mrs. Whittemore is said to have formerly possessed considerable wealth and to have lost it suddenly in a slump of mining stock.

"KID McCOY" ARRESTED.

Charged with Running a Disorderly Resort in the Normandie.

Norman Selby, better known as "Kid McCoy," was arrested in his café at the Hotel Normandie, Thirty-eighth Street and Broadway, last night on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. The arrest was made by Central Office Detectives Connell and McManus. In the West Thirtieth Street Station, where he was taken, while George Considine was preparing to bail him out, Selby gave vent to the following sentiment, according to the police:

"It's all right to be well known, but it's hell to be notorious."

Considine gave as security for Selby's appearance in Jefferson Market Court this morning the houses 107 and 109 West Forty-seventh Street. The required bond was for $500.

The warrant for Selby's arrest was issued yesterday by Magistrate Herbert.

When Selby was seen at his place, which is in the basement of the Hotel Normandie, early this morning he was indignant over the action of the police, saying that spite had actuated them. He said that out of respect for Mayor Gaynor he had closed his establishment last Sunday, and that this had not only made the police believe that he was afraid of them, but that they had taken umbrage at his obeying the law. He did not throw any light on this seemingly anomalous statement, but promised a statement in a few days that would make people open their eyes.

"I know what underground wires are at work," he said. "and why the police are trying to kill my place."

HARVARD TO VOTE ON TAFT.

Students to Say Whether President Should Be Recalled.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 5.—At the suggestion and under the direction of the Harvard Political Club, an organization composed of men of all political beliefs in the university, undergraduates and students in the other higher classes will be asked to cast a ballot on the question: "Resolved, That if the Constitution of the United States provided for the recall of public servants, President Taft's record would justify his recall."

Members of the Democratic and Republican Clubs will superintend the casting of the ballots as Inspectors. There will be two precincts established, one at the undergraduate and the other for the law and graduate schools. The ballots will be in four colors, representing the Democratic, Republican, Socialist, and unclassified voters.

MAYOR INSPECTS THE WATCH ON VICE

Wrecked Habitations, Guarded Stoops with Their Storm Shelters, and All the Rest.

ASKS QUESTIONS, SEES MUCH

Policemean Patrolling Who Don't Know Why—Seems to Be Answer to What "Special Duty" Means

Mayor Gaynor, leaving City Hall early yesterday afternoon, went on a personal inspection tour through several lower east side police precincts, apparently to acquaint himself, first hand, with the duties of the plain-clothes man and policemen who do special work. Though he would not comment on what he saw and learned, the Mayor seems to have found much to open his eyes. Some of those he talked with had the notion afterward that he might extend his sphere of observation until he takes in most of the city. Cold chills went up and down the spinal columns of many policemen who have had "fat" jobs on special duty, at the mere prospect.

The Mayor has already gone on record as wondering what the plainclothes men did for their salaries. Not long ago he asked Commissioner Baker to send him a complete list of the policemen who were doing plain clothes work. It is not known whether or not Commissioner Baker has yet furnished the Mayor with this information, but the tip has gone forth in the last few weeks that the fewer plain clothes men there were, the better it would be for some people in authority in the Police Department. As the result of this tip most of the men on special duty have been called in and set to plain patroling in uniform.

Inspector Daly, who has charge of the Second Inspection District, is the only official who has ignored the plain hint of the Mayor and kept his full quota of special duty men at work. Daly's district comprises the Elizabeth, Mulberry, Macdougal, and Fifth Street precincts, and it was through these that the Mayor wended his inquisitive way.

The Mayor did more than make a cursory tour. He stopped policemen, in plain clothes and otherwise, inquired minutely as to their duties, questioned women of the street, and even looked into occasional houses. What he found will probably form the basis for a complete overhauling of certain methods now in vogue at Headquarters.

The Mayor left the City Hall at 4 o'clock. He was accompanied by his executive secretary, William B. Meloney, a former newspaper reporter, and another man, said to be a lawyer. The three stepped into an automobile and whizzed up Broadway, but as soon as the City Hall was left behind the automobile turned west and stopped in Macdougal Street. The party alighted and went through several streets on foot. They picked out houses which had been under police scrutiny for months. The list is said to have been furnished by Commissioner Baker.

In front of one house they found a policeman, who walked monotonously up and down and stared from time to time at the brick walls. The house had all the appearance of being vacant. The Mayor spoke to the policeman in an undertone, and then the two moved to the corner, about one hundred feet away. They entered a house, which had a storm door, behind which was a little sheet-iron stove and a chair. Everything looked comfortable and cozy. The policeman told the Mayor that he and other policemen had been stationed in front of these houses for six months, day and night, and that in the cold weather last Winter they had sat within the shelter or behind the storm door and kept themselves partly warm by a fire in the stove.

By this time a small crowd had collected, and the Mayor was recognized. The crowd, however, seemed to realize that he was on business, and did not attempt to speak to him or start a demonstration

On went the party presently to West Third Street and stopped in front of two houses. Here also a policeman was walking aimlessly up and down. The houses were dilapidated and apparently unoccupied. A canvas cover had been erected from the stoop of one to the stoop of the other, and under this shelter also was a little stove. The policeman said that the shelter had been used by policemen who had been on guard last Winter. He added that the watch had been kept up constantly for six months.

The next stop was in Mulberry Street. In front of a house that appeared as neglected and forlorn as the rest the Mayor found still another policeman, whose only duty apparently was to watch the house, although the reason wasn't discernible, for there was every indication that it had long been untenanted. After a few words with the policeman the Mayor and his companion entered and went upstairs.

There were many evidences that the place had been through a raid. On the second and third floors the furniture had been smashed to bits; holes had been punched through the cane seats of the chairs, and the place looked as if a cyclone had struck it.

Several persons had followed the Mayor and his party into the house. Turning to one, the Mayor asked which had brought about the wreckage. He was informed that the police had visited the place and smashed things last October. Since then the Mayor learned a policeman had been on guard over the vacant house ever since.

In front o a house in Mott Street, which was next visited, a policeman told the Mayor that he and his companions had been doing duty for eight months.

In front of a house in Worth Street, near Mulberry, the Mayor asked a policeman who was looking up at a house what he was doing there. The policeman replied that he didn't know; that he had been stationed there for eight months, but a short time ago the occupants had moved away. He said he had been instructed to inform those who wanted to enter that if they did so they might get into trouble. For weeks, he said, no one had even evinced a desire to enter.

A crowd also assembled here and watched the Mayor as he drove away. The next stop was also in front of a Mott Street house. There, also, the inevitable policeman was found, who told the Mayor that he had been warning people from the habitation. At this, as at all the other stops, the Mayor refused to discuss his movements or to say why he made the trip.

The last place visited was 6 Mott Street, a saloon and house kept by Patrick Mullins, whose liquor license was revoked about a year ago, on the allegation that he maintained a disorderly resort. After his license had been revoked, a policeman was stationed in front of his place. Last January, soon after the Mayor took office, a lawyer named Spiegel presented to the Mayor a complaint from Mullins against keeping the policeman outside his door. The complaint went through the official channels to Capt. Galvin, then in command in Mulberry Street. It was said last night by many who watched the Mayor when he inspected the Mullins

WOMAN, IN HOTEL, DIES OF CHLOROFORM

Mrs. V. H. Sternburg of Tuxedo Reported as a Suicide at the Aldine.

HANDKERCHIEF OVER FACE

Empty Chloroform Bottle on Bureau, Door Open, Money Untouched—Elevator Boy Discovered Death.

A woman of between 40 and 50 years of age, who registered at the Hotel Aldine, 481 Fourth Avenue, on Sunday afternoon as "Mrs. V. H. Young, Tuxedo Park," was found dead in her apartment on the sixth floor of the Aldine just after 6 o'clock last night by Albert Fisher, an elevator boy. W. H. Grosscup, manager of the Aldine, called in Dr. Williams of 28 East Thirtieth Street immediately after the discovery of the body, and he pronounced the woman dead of chloroform.

At 11:30 o'clock the hotel reported the matter to the police. No further information concerning the woman was obtainable until after midnight.

Meantime detectives had been sent to the hotel and had learned that the woman was Mrs. V. H. Sternburg of Tuxedo Park. They said her husband lived at 100 East Sixty-second Street. He could not be found last night.

Fisher, the elevator man, said he noticed that the door to "Mrs. Young's" apartments was open on one of his trips shortly after 6 o'clock. On subsequent trips he saw it had not been closed. He went in presently and found Mrs. Sternburg lying in bed with a handkerchief over her face soaked in chloroform. He told the police he did not disturb the body but hurried downstairs to Manager Grosscup with the news of his discovery.

Dr. Williams, in company with Manager Grosscup, went up to Mrs. Sternburg's rooms. The doctor said that the woman had died some time before Fisher's discovery. He expressed the opinion that she had committed suicide. An empty chloroform bottle was on the bureau.

The police found $16.50 in a leather handbag lying on the bureau, and two tickets to Tuxedo Park. There were neither letters nor other papers. The only clew to her identity was the name on an umbrella and on the small handbag, which was the one she had brought to the hotel.

The house at 100 East Sixty-second Street is a boarding house where Victor H. Sternberg and his wife had been staying until two or three days ago. He was said to be at Tuxedo last night, but could not be reached there.

BADLY HURT BY AN AUTO.

Shoemaker Knocked Down and Run Over in Seventh Avenue.

Matthew Cullen of 368 Seventh Avenue, a shoemaker, was knocked down and run over by an automobile, the property of Mrs. J. B. Thomas of the Savoy Hotel, at Thirtieth Street and Seventh Avenue, last night. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital suffering from internal injuries.

Cullen started to cross Seventh Avenue, going west. As he stepped from the east curb he saw an automobile approaching north-bound, and ran toward the centre of the avenue to avoid it. The Thomas automobile, driven by Derant Bask of 115 East Seventy-seventh Street, which was running behind the first car, but nearer the surface car tracks, struck him and knocked him down. Before he could get out of the way the wheels of the car passed over his legs.

The accident was seen, according to his own story, by William Jefferson of 218 West Twenty-ninth Street. Jefferson told the police, they say, that when the accident happened Bask was leaning over in his seat conversing with the chauffeur of another car. Bask denied it.

NAVY TO TRY NEW SHELLS.

Hobson Gets House Sanction for Experiments with High Explosives.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—An amendment to the Naval Apropriation bill which requires that the Bureau of Ordnance of the navy shall conduct experiments in the future with highly explosive shells was secured by Representative Hobson of Alabama to-day.

Mr. Hobson's amendment stipulates that no money shall be available for experimental purposes unless both kinds of shells are tried. The Navy Department, he declared, had consistently refused to experiment with any save the penetrating shell, while the new shell was being tested by all foreign nations and was in use by Japan, this fact assisting them in winning the war over Russia. The new shell burst immediately upon striking belt armor. The penetration shell, said Mr. Hobson, would not enter the modern turret or belt armor at regular battle range.

The navy will test shells containing at least 200 pounds of the most explosive nitro-glycerine substances.

RICH MAN KILLED BY TROLLEY.

Suffering a Paralytic Stroke, Landers Fell in Front of a Car.

While on his way home James Landers, a wealthy property owner of Greenburg, N. Y., and a prominent Mason, was killed last night by a car of the Tarrytown, White Plains & Mamaroneck Railway near the entrance to the White Plains Fair Grounds. Landers, who recently returned from the Adirondacks, planned to return to the mountains to-morrow.

Landers left Elmsford on a White Plains trolley car and alighted at the Dobbs Ferry road, not far from his home. What happened is not known, but it is believed that he suffered a stroke of paralysis and fell on the track. Motorman Henry Burt, in charge of a car bound for Elmsford and Tarrytown, said he saw something on the track, but he was unable to stop the car in time. The body was crushed and death was instantaneous. He leaves a wife and twelve children.

KILL TWO, ROB BANK, AND SHOOT UP TOWN

Masked Bandits Gallop Through McKees Rocks, Delivering a Fusillade—Wound Two More.

WOMAN ONLY OPPOSES THEM

Throws Herself on Robber Who Would Have Shot Again at Dead Teller—Their Loot Only $5,000.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—Four masked men robbed the Victor Banking Company at McKees Rocks, a suburb six miles below Pittsburg, at 8:30 o'clock to-night and got away with $5,000, after shooting down and killing the manager and the cashier of the bank and wounding three other people, one a woman. The men stepped from the shadows outside the bank as those inside were about to close it for the night, and while two of the men stopped outside with drawn revolvers and warned away all passing pedestrians, the others entered the building and began to shoot.

The men killed were:

FRIEDMAN, SAMUEL, the manager, hit by three bullets while he was trying to protect $5,000, which lay on the counters of the bank.

SCHWARTZ, IGNATZ, the cashier, died an hour or so later in the McKees Rocks Hospital.

The injured were:

ENCO, MARY, employe of bank; slightly injured trying to save Friedman and Schwartz.

KING, ROBERT, citizen; shot down in street by robbers as they ran with the plunder; at McKees Hospital; will live.

MILKO, ANDREW, mill workman; hit by stray bullet.

To-night every detective that can be spared from Pittsburg and from Allegheny County is scouring the country for the robbers, who jumped on horses which they had left right outside the town, after getting away from the bank.

Shot Up the Town Afterward.

McKees Rocks and Schoenville, an adjoining town, were kept in a state of terror for nearly half an hour during and after the bank robbery, for, once on their horses, the four robbers rode up and down through the town, shooting right and left. It was then that King was shot down and Milko wounded. They each tried to stop the wild ride of the bank robbers.

The Victor Bank is situated in a place lonesome after nightfall. It is on the dividing line between Schoenville and McKees Rocks, and has done a heavy trade with workmen from the plants of each town. It is a bank for foreigners, and also has conducted a steamship agency. Last Saturday was pay day at most of the works, and there was about $25,000 in the bank this evening. Only $5,000 of it appeared on the counters, however, the rest being locked in the big safes. It was customary to keep the bank open until 10 o'clock for several evenings after pay day, but business being slow to-night, it appears that the manager, who also acted as teller, and his cashier, decided to close for the night about 8:30.

The two who entered the bank appear to have walked right up to the cashier's window and shot Schwartz down in his tracks, then grabbed the piles of money, which they stuffed into bags slung over their shoulders. Friedman, who was evidently in the back part of the bank tending to the big safes, was seen to come rushing out of the bank after the four men, and as he paused on the steps of the bank he was shot dead. Three of the attacking party appear to have shot him at once, as he fell dead in his tracks. There evidently had been a struggle with Friedman inside the bank before the robbers got away with the money, for tightly grasped in his hand was a bunch of bills which he appeared to have torn from one of the robbers.

Woman Tried to Save Friedman.

Mary Enco, who had been employed as a domestic about the bank in the day time, was in the neighborhood and she came running and threw herself on one of the robbers as he was about to shoot into the body of Mr. Friedman as he lay on the ground. The robber tossed her to one side and ran on.

The horses of the robbers must have been tethered very near to the bank, for within two minutes, before a crowd had any chance to gather, the four mounted men came galloping down the street, shooting. They took a few shots at the lifeless body of Friedman and swept on.

"Get out or we'll kill you," one of the men shouted to Robert King as he stood in front of Green's Hotel. All other guests had fled indoors when they heard the robbers come, but King stood his ground and in another second he was writhing on the ground with three bullets in his body. A little further along Andrew Milko, who had stopped to gape at the fast-riding men, was shot through the body.

Within one hour after the shooting three automobiles filled with detectives were racing from Pittsburg. The authoritiesof McKees Rocks are of the opinion that the robbery had been planned for some weeks, and that it was to have been carried out last Saturday night at 10 o'clock, when the bank was fairly filled with money. Three strange men entered the bank then about closing time, but the mill employes were there in great numbers and forced the bank to keep open later than usual, after which they stood about the streets near the bank. Friedman, the teller and manager, too, appeared to have had a premonition of coming evil, for he asked Chief of Police Leonard Bean to come to the bank that evening in case there might be trouble. Bean was in the bank when the three strange men entered, and had a good look at them. He thinks they were members of the band that robbed the bank to-night.

During the Pressed Steel Car strike last Fall Cashier Schwartz was waylaid on his way home by some footpads, but managed to escape. He then announced that he would never go unarmed again, and that he would shoot first in case of trouble, either in the bank or on his way home. Schwartz's revolver was found on the floor beside him, mute evidence that he had tried to draw it, but the desperadoes had been too quick for him.

HIS COLLEGES HIS CHILDREN.

Dr. Pearson Has Helped 47—Now, at 90, He Will Rest from Philanthropy.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Dr. D. K. Pearson, who has given away so much money to charity that he has lost all account of it, has decided, on the threshold of his ninetieth birthday, to give his pocketbook a well-earned rest. He will be 90 on April 14, and says that he is a "hale, hearty, happy old man."

Here is his birthday resolution:

"For twenty-one years I've been giving away money, but I've kept no account of it. It was my ambition on my ninetieth birthday to pay off all my debts. But I can't do it. Five of my colleges have not come to the scratch. I shall not cut them off. I'll give them one year more to make good. During that year I shall make no gifts. When I've paid off my debts, what little I've left will be for my colleges—my children. I have forty-seven in twenty-four States, and I must take care of them."

FIGHT IN LYCEUM THEATRE.

Woman Flees as Her Escort Meets a Stalwart Fist.

The regular performance of "Pillars of Society" last night at the Lyceum Theatre was enlivened by a fight in the audience.

Before the curtain went up a well-dressed woman of about 30 was heard to instruct her escort to get the seats as far back and out of sight as possible. They were seated in the last row by the first left-hand door.

At the end of the second act another man appeared. Stepping up, he spoke a few words to the woman's escort and then, without a word of warning, hit him in the face. The man assaulted seemed somewhat dazed. The woman fled and the assailant was removed by an usher. A little later the woman's escort departed, but the attachés of the theatre failed to observe whether he went in the same direction as his antagonist or avoided him.

PUSHED UNDER MOVING TRAIN.

Jersey Physician's Foot Cut Off at Erie's Newark Station.

Dr. Leo Becker of 79 Ward Street, Paterson, N. J., had his right foot cut off last night in an accident at the Fourth Avenue Station of the Erie Railroad in Newark. He was removed to St. Michael's Hospital.

Dr. Becker was standing on the station platform waiting for the train for Paterson. There was a large throng waiting for the same train. As the train approached the crowd started to run down the platform to get aboard, so that they could get seats. Dr. Becker was among the anxious ones and was nearest the tracks. He was jostled along with the crowd, and before the locomotive came to a full stop he was pushed onto the rails. The wheels of the engine passed over his leg.

Dr. Becker is Prisedent of the Paterson Medical Association and is socially prominent there.

MAYOR WON'T AID ROWDIES.

Rejects Pleas of Mothers Who Sought Release of Sabbath Disturbers.

Half a dozen well-dressed middle-aged women, who said that they were the mothers of the young men arrested on the Subway for rowdyism last Sunday and sent to the Workhouse by Police Magistrate Corrigan, called upon Mayor Gaynor yesterday to intervene in the boys' behalf. They told the Mayor that the youngsters had always been well-behaved, and that they could not understand why the arrests had been made.

When asked about the visit the Mayor said he did not care to make public just what he said to the women. It was noted that they were not particularly cheerful when they left his office.

INSECT PEST IN THE PARK.

Bite Like Mosquitos and Look Like Gnats—Clear Park Benches.

An army of small insects, described by some policemen as gnats and by others as mosquitos, but which could at any rate bite like either, invaded the Arsenal Police Station in Central Park last night and forced Lieut. Mason, on desk duty in the station, to order all doors and windows closed.

The insects visited the Park itself in large numbers and cleared most of the benches by 9 o'clock. Many of the policemen, reporting at the station for the 8 o'clock turn-out, said they had been bitten.

NEGROES LYNCH NEGROES.

Mob Shoots Man and Woman Who Had Killed Two Others.

KEO, Ark., April 5.—A mob composed entirely of negroes overpowered Constable Mallory of Keo four miles north of here last night, seized his two prisoners, both negroes, one of whom was a woman, and shot them to death, after which they hanged their bodies.

The victims were charged with having killed the husband of the woman and the wife of the man.

ASQUITH'S CLOSURE VOTED.

Bill to Clip Lords' Veto Power to be Introduced Later.

LONDON, Wednesday, April 6.—The House of Commons this morning, by a majority of 84, carried Premier Asquith's motion authorizing the application of the guillotine method to the committee stage of the resolutions on the veto power of the House of Lords.

The Premier announced that a bill, framed on these resolutions, would be introduced later. when an opportunity would be given for adequate discussion, and he intimated that the discussion of the budget would be concluded by the end of the present month.

Father's Will Cuts Off Bride for Not Marrying Before She Was 25.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 5.—Because she did not want to marry when she was 25 years old, Mrs. Max Basson of New London, formerly Miss Florence Phillips, who was married in this city on March 21, will lose a $50,000 fortune left by her father, Morris Phillips of New London.

When Basson and Miss Phillips came here to take out the license the bride admitted to Registrar Lee that she was 26 years old, and the arrival of a brother a few days later to find out about the marriage brought with it the information that she had lost the property.

Basson is a jeweler. The reason for the peculiar bequest is not known, the father merely providing in his will that his daughter if not married when 25 years old will be cut off without any of the property.

WORSHIPPED IN THE STREET.

Those Unable to Get Into St. Rita's Church Knelt Before It.

Unable to gain entrance into the crowded Church of St. Rita of Cascia, at 145th Street and College Avenue, where the Novena of St. Rita was being held, a great crowd of worshippers knelt in prayer in the streets for several blocks about the church for several hours last night.

The church itself holds 3,000 persons, and was crowded to the doors. Learning of the crowd outside, the pastor, the Rev. Father James P. O'Brian, came out, clothed in his vestments, and as the choir boys on the steps in front of the church chanted, led them in solemn procession among the kneeling parishioners on the sidewalks and streets.

The priest read letters from persons who had had good fortune or been cured in body since the last Novena, and several among the crowd offered testimonials of benefits received by them and attributed to the patron saint.

SOCIALIST MAYOR FOR MILWAUKEE

Seidel Wins by 6,500, with Democrat Second—Majority of Aldermen Also Socialists.

CHICAGO AGAIN DEMOCRATIC

Control of the Council Changes—Hartford Elects a Democratic Mayor.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5.—Milwaukee is the first large city in the United States to elect a Socialist Mayor and Common Council. Emil Seidel, opposed by strong candidates in both the Republican and Democratic Parties, was chosen Mayor by about 6,500 plurality in the municipal election to-day. The Social Democrats also elected the six Aldermen-at-Large and carried fourteen wards out of twenty-three, giving them a large majority in the Council.

The Democratic candidate for Mayor, V. G. Schoenecker, Jr., ran second, and was about 8,000 votes ahead of the Republican nominee, Dr. J. M. Beffel. The Socialist candidate for Circuit Judge made a strong run, being second of three candidates.

The election is the culmination of a long fight of the Socialists for control of the city. They have been aided by the factional fight in the Republican Party. In the years when Mr. La Follette was fighting Senator Spooner the feeling between the La Follette and Spooner Republicans became so bitter that many of the La Follette men, unable to control the party in this city, turned to the Socialists. At other times when the city politics were in control of the La Follette men the anti-La Follette men turned to the Democratic ticket. Some of the anti-La Follette Republicans returned to their old party to-day, but enough of the La Follette men voted the Socialist ticket to assure the election of the Socialist.

"I ascribe our victory to the abuse of the Socialistic red flag," said Victor L. Berger, the real head of the Socialistic Party in the city, who was elected an Alderman at Large. "The old parties made their campaign against us on the charge that we advocated bullets when ballots were of no avail. This falsehood made us votes. Now we shall have a chance to prove that we are not a party of blood and bloody revolutionists. This is the first time in the history of the country that the Social Democrats have carried a large city. All I have to say at this time is that the party will give Milwaukee the best administration it ever had, or that any American city had. A square deal for everybody will be our aim.

"This is not a victory for the Milwaukee Socialists. It is a victory for international Socialism."

The victory to-day is largely ascribable to Mr. Berger, who has figured in many conferences of the Parlor Socialists. Mr. Seidel is merely the figurehead of the party, which named its candidate in a secret referendum.

The platforms on which the three parties fought the campaign were similar. They advocated home rule, the initiative and referendum, and regulation of the liquor traffic.

Mr. Seidel said of the outcome: "The result means that the people have decided to take charge of the affairs of the city themselves after many years of misrule. Our long years of educational work has produced the expected results, and hereafter the intelligent working classes in Milwaukee wil lalways insist on having the controlling voice in the management of city affairs."

Outside of Milwaukee the interest through the State centred in the vote on the question of "wet" or "dry." The "wets" were victorious in a large number of cities and towns, including all the larger cities. The Prohibitionists won over five villages and retained a dozen others.

Mayor-elect Seidel was born in Pennsylvania 45 years ago. With his parents he came West when he was 1 year old, and in recent years has lived in Milwaukee.

He received a common school education, and at the age of 13 learned the trade of furniture carving. His father sent him to Germany for his health in 1886, and he remained there six years. He returned to Milwaukee in 1892 and joined the Social Democratic ranks. He is Secretary Treasurer of the Milwaukee Pattern and Manufacturing Company.

Sherburn M. Becker, known as the "Boy Mayor," who was at the head of the city government in Milwaukee in 1906-8, and the only Republican to hold office in the last twenty years, who is now a stock broker in New York, last night talked of the Socialist victory in Milwaukee, at his home, at 22 East Twenty-first Street.

"This result was made possible," he said, "by the split between the La Follette and Spooner factions of the Republican Party in Wisconsin, which has extended the Stalwart-Half-Breed fight to Milwaukee. The result was no surprise to me. I believe that a great many Republicans voted for Seidel, the Socialist candidate, because they believed that Dr. Beffel, their own candidate, had no chance, and because they did not want to neglect an opportunity to administer a rebuke to the régime of Mayor Rose, who has been in disfavor with the reformers and the better element of the city, and with whom the Democratic candidate, Vincent Schoenecker, was so closely identified.

"I believe that Seidel will make a good Mayor. I served with him four years in the Milwaukee City Council, and he was an Alderman during my administration as Mayor. He has made a study of the science of government, and he is as conservative as it is possible for a Socialist to be. He was a good Alderman. There will be no graft under his administration. His ability to inject Socialist theories into the city government will depend on the number of Aldermen of his party elected with him.

"Seidel is about five feet six inches in height and is of slight build. He has snappy blue eyes and wears glasses. He combs a wealth of light yellow hair back over his head, pompadour fashion. He is a patternmaker by trade, but I believe now has a machine shop of his own.

"Milwaukee has always had Socialist members in its City Council and Board of Aldermen in recent years and has sent Assemblymen and State Senators of the Socialist persuasion to the Legislature at Madison.

"I believe Seidel was opposed by the same elements which worked against my election. I did not have the support of the leading Republican paper of Milwaukee, The Sentinel, when I ran for office. The street car company and the public service corporations generally were against me. The stalwart machine was against me, but I got enough Democratic and Socialist votes to win. I had a plurality of 1,500.

"The election of Seidel has only a local significance as I see it. The people of Milwaukee knew him, and decided he was the best man for the place."

CHICAGO IS DEMOCRATIC.

Majority in the Council Elected—Suffragette Barred from Voting.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Democrats to-day gained a majority of the City Council for the first time in several years. Of the thirty-five Aldermen chosen, one from each ward, the Democrats elected 21, the Republicans 12, and the independents 2. The new Council will be composed of 39 Democrats, 29 Republicans, and 2 independents.

It is probable that the new Council will have to deal with the problem of constructing a passenger subway and with gas and telephone service prices. The term of Mayor Fred A. Busse, Republican, will not expire for two years yet.

Except for the arrests of about forty saloon keepers for keeping open during voting time, the election was quiet. The suffragettes attempted to wedge in a vote when Dr. Sara Janson appeared at the polls and demanded a ballot. Her name appeared on the list of "registered voters," but she was not allowed to vote.

HARTFORD ELECTS DEMOCRAT.

Mayor Hooker Defeated by 200 Votes—Republicans Hold Council.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 5.—For the first time since 1902 this city elected a Democratic Mayor to-day, Edward L. Smith defeating Mayor Edward W. Hooker, Republican, by about 200 votes. The other Republican nominees on the town and city tickets were elected, the Democrats securing only such offices as are allowed under the minority representative plan.

The Democrats had a three-cornered fight for Assessor. Ex-Assessor James T. Farrell and ex-Mayor Ignatius A. Sullivan were the regular Democratic candidates, and Assessor Michael J. Hafey was an independent Democratic candidate for re-election. Mr. Farrell won the Democratic place on the board, beating Mr. Sullivan by about 200 votes and Mr. Hafey by about 1,500. The Republicans retain possession of the Court of Common Council by a slightly reduced majority. Hartford voted in favor of license, 7,418 to 2,489, and on the hour for closing voted 6,472 for 12 o'clock and 2,939 for 11 o'clock.

TOPEKA ELECTS COMMISSION.

Mayor Who Wanted to Make the City Dry Is Defeated.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 5.—Topeka held its first election under the commission form of government to-day, and late returns indicate the election of J. B. Billard for Mayor over William Green, the incumbent, by about 1,000 majority. Partisan tickets are impossible under the commission charter. Green was supported largely by those who favor a strict enforcement of the prohibition law.

Municipal elections were held throughout Kansas to-day. In several cities the commission form of government is in operation and party lines were not drawn.

LIQUOR MEN GAIN IN ILLINOIS.

Several Cities Give Up Prohibition—Riots in One Town.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Early returns from local option electios held in Illinois to-day show gains for the wets. Several small cities changed from dry to wet, while few if any towns changed from wet to dry. Out of fifty-five cities, towns, and townships reported twenty-eight voted dry, twenty-six wet, and one was a tie.

Decatur, which voted dry two years ago by 102, to-day voted wet by 260. Clinton changed a dry majority of 464 two years ago to a wet majority of 70 votes to-day. Rockford also changed to wet. Joliet lost 500 of its wet majority of 2,000 from two years ago.

Galesburg was the only city of any size to vote dry, shutting out saloons by 311 votes. Springfield, Bloomington, Elgin, Danville, and Freeport voted to retain saloons by majorities equal to or greater than those given two years ago.

Danville Township voted wet by a majority of 1,000 in an exciting election. There was no trouble except at Grape Creek, where there were numerous fights. At one time it was thought that it would be necessary to call for troops. During the afternoon County Judge Allen wired Gov. Deneen, asking him to order out the militia, but later the Sheriff swore in a large number of deputies and the order for troops was cancelled.

DRY GAINS IN MICHIGAN.

Gain of Ten Counties Made in the Local Option Elections.

DETROIT, April 5.—Complete returns from the thirty-six counties in Michigan where local option elections were held yesterday show that twenty counties voted "dry" and sixteen "wet." Of the eighty-three counties in Michigan, forty will now be "dry" and forty-three "wet."

There are twenty "dry" counties in which the liquor question was not resubmitted this year. With thirty counties previously "dry," the "drys" yesterday lost two of the ten in which the question was resubmitted, and made twelve new "dry" counties.

Montana Democrats Win.

HELENA, Mont., April 5.—In the city elections in this State yesterday Democratic and independent candidates were generally successful, though party lines were not closely drawn. A majority of the new Aldermen in Butte, Missoula, Anaconda, and Helena are Democratic.

Democrats Carry Hadley's Ward.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 5.—The Democrats elected four out of five Councilmen to-day, with a tie vote for the fifth. They also carried Gov. Hadley's ward, which heretofore has gone Republican.

Jamestown, N. Y., Republican.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 5.—Except for the Aldermen in the First and Second Wards, the entire city went Republican at the city elections to-day. Samuel A. Carlson was re-elected.

FOSS TO FIGHT ALDRIDGE.

Will Speak in Rochester—More Clergymen Out Against Boss.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 5.—The Democratic County Committee to-day announced some of its plans in the campaign to defeat George W. Aldridge for Congress. On Thursday night the first Democratic mass meeting will be held in the National Theatre. James S. Havens, the Democratic candidate, will be the chief speaker. On succeeding nights Mr. Havens will address ward meetings throughout the city and county. A final mass meeting will be held Friday night, April 15, in Convention Hall. Congressman-elect Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts and Charles Sumner Hamlin, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, will speak.

The Republicans have announced no speechmaking campaign, and will not inaugurate one unless forced to, but the ward clubs are meeting nightly and passing resolutions indorsing Mr. Aldridge.

Registration day has been set for Saturday. Voters who registered at the last election are not required to do so again, but those who have become eligible since the Fall election must place their names on the lists.

Secretary Mason of the Democratic State Committee is said to have been in Rochester on Saturday and conferred with Chairman Mosher of the County Committee. The Times says Mason's visit is significant as indicating the source of funds for the Democratic campaign.

More of the clergy of Rochester are out in communications in the press to-day announcing their purpose to vote and work against Mr. Aldridge.

PARTY IN INDIANA OBEYS BEVERIDGE

State Platform Ignores Present Tariff and Demands Further Revision by a Commission.

PLAIN SPEECH BY SENATOR

He Is Warmly Indorsed for Another Term—Taft's Administration Is Praised and Roosevelt Lauded.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 5.—Senator Albert J. Beveridge carried through his plans at the Republican State Convention to-day. Despite the wishes of the Taft element no indorsement was given to the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, and a demand was made for a tariff commission with wide powers, and a revision of duties to make them cover only the difference of cost of production at home and abroad. Mr. Beveridge was indorsed for re-election as Senator.

With the exception of Governor, a full State ticket was nominated. It is as follows:

Secretary of State—ELLIS GULLY of Danville.
Attorney General—FINLEY P. MOUNT of Crawfordsville.
Auditor—JOHN E. REED of Muncie.
Treasurer—JONCE MONYHAN of Orleans.
Superintendent of Public Instruction—S. C. FARRELL of Shelbyville.
Statistician—JOHN L. PEETZ of Kokomo.
Geologist—W. S. BLATCHLEY of Terre Haute.
Judge of Supreme Court, Second District—OSCAR H. MONTGOMERY of Seymour.
Appellate Judges—WARD H. WATSON of Charlestown, and C. C. HADLEY of Danville.
Clerk of Supreme Court—EDWARD V. FITZPATRICK of Portland.

Vigorous Speech by Beveridge.

Senator Beveridge was the temporary Chairman, and in his speech he strongly denounced the tariff law, causing wild applause. "I could not stand for it then, and I cannot stand for it now," he said repeatedly. Some of his remarks were:

"Like President Taft, I wanted on the free list many raw materials that needed no protection. Yet only one was so treated. I could not stand for the duties on these articles, and I cannot stand for them now.

"Like President Taft, I wanted the ancient woolen schedule reduced. It gives to the Woolen Trust unfair control and raises the price and reduces the weight of the people's clothing. I stood against this schedule when the bill was passed, and I stand against it now.

"I could not stand for the obsolete and infamous sugar schedule, which no man in Indiana can read and understand, but which the Sugar Trust can read and understand; yet efforts to change that schedule were opposed by Democratic votes.

"It is said that the law has made reductions on articles entering into the consumption of the people to the value of $5,000,000,000; yet those articles are made up of such things as lumber, agricultural implements, meat and food products, petroleum and its products, of all of which we are the greatest exporters in the world; steel rails and coal, which we export; barbed wire, monopolized by the Steel Trust; nails, manufactured and sold by an international trust as complete as the international tobacco monopoly; yarns and threads; the raw materials for textiles, on which textiles, when finished for the people's use, the tariff was increased; sugar, which was not reduced in fact, but only in pretense.

"I voted against the bill and for plighted honor. I voted against excess and for protection. I voted against the interests and for the people. I voted and fought for the genuine Republicanism of Lincoln, the founder of our faith; of Morrell, the father of our tariff; of Garfield, the interpreter of our principles; of McKinley, the apostle of protection; of Roosevelt, the soldier of righteousness."

George A. Cunningham of Evansville, permanent Chairman of the convention, after lauding Senator Beveridge, said:

"The Republicans of Indian have equal faith in the rugged honesty, great capacity, and ultimate triumph of the Chief Executive of the Nation, William H. Taft. We are in full sympathy with the remedial legislation that he has recommended to Congress. It requires no prophet to foresee that two years hence he will be the unanimous choice of the Republican Party for re-election. I venture to say further that in his campaign he will have no more loyal supporter, no more able generals, no more aggressive and determined fighters than Albert J. Beveridge and Theodore Roosevelt."

Demand for a Lower Tariff.

The platform contains these paragraphs:

We, the Republicans of Indiana, declare our determined support of those great policies for the common good developed under Theodore Roosevelt and bearing his name, and we demand that they be given effect in legislation and administration.

We believe in a protective tariff, measured by the difference between the cost of production here and abroad. Less than this is unjust to American laborers; more is unjust to American consumers. That difference should be ascertained with the utmost speed, and the present law modified accordingly.

We demand the immediate creation of a genuine, permanent, non-partisan tariff commission with ample powers and definite duties fixed in the law itself.

We believe with President McKinley, in his last tariff utterances, that "the period of exclusiveness is past," and we heartily favor the Republican policy of reciprocity first announced by Blaine and later advocated by McKinley.

We recognize that no President in our history ever began his Administration with such universal favor and good will as did William Howard Taft; few men have entered the Presidency with such extraordinary training. We indorse his Administration and pledge to him our support in any efforts to secure the enactment of genuine progressive legislation.

We indorse and applaud the splendid record of our senior Senator, and especially his record in the last session of Congress, which deserves the unqualified approval of all the people of the State. With pride and confidence we make a solemn pledge to the people that a Republican Legislature will return to the Senate of the United States this man, whose name is synonymous with victory—Albert J. Beveridge.

Other planks favor conservation of natural resources, especially Alaska coal; an income tax, limitation of injunctions, laws against child labor, publicity of campaign contributions, popular election of Senators, and speedier and simpler procedure in the courts.

No mention was made of the local option question in accord with Mr. Beveridge's wishes.

When Chairman Cunningham put the question of the adoption of the platform report the motion was carried on a viva voce vote, although there was a chorus of "nays" from different parts of the hall.

LANGUAGE RULE AT HARVARD.

Ability to Read French or German Will Be Required for A. B. Degree.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 5.—Ability to read French or German will, after this year, be a requirement of Harvard students before they can secure the Bachelor of Arts degree. Announcement to this effect was made to-night to the university officials.

All candidates for the degree of A. B. will be obliged to pass an oral examination in the reading of French or German before their admission to the Junior class.

ROOSEVELT MAY MEET ROOT.

Senator Is to Go to The Hague to Argue the Atlantic Fisheries Dispute.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Senator Root will undoubtedly be in Europe before Col. Roosevelt sails for America, and it is not improbable that the ex-President and his Secretary of State will meet. It can be stated, however, on apparently good authority that no engagement has been made for the meeting, while it is certain that Mr. Root's plans for going abroad were all arranged many months ago.

Mr. Root, with a number of lawyers and diplomats, will appear before The Hague Court about June 1 as counsel for the United States in the Atlantic fisheries dispute with Great Britain. At that time Mr. Roosevelt will probably be in England or else just leaving Germany, and it was said to-day by Mr. Root's friends that if the two former associates found it possible they would undoubtedly arrange a meeting.

Senator Root is at home to-day suffering from a bad throat that has been worrying him since the closing hours of his three-day speech last week in defense of the Taft Railroad bill. He stayed at home yesterday and was so hoarse that he could not dictate letters to his stenographer. He denied himself to callers to-day and at his office no statement was given out as to the likelihood of his seeing Col. Roosevelt.

From other sources, however, it is known that Mr. Root resents the idea that his trip should be attributed in any way to a "summons" from Mr. Roosevelt. Several weeks ago it was suggested that Mr. Root would go to meet Mr. Roosevelt to explain the political situation to him as it is viewed by the friends of the Taft Administration, but at that time Mr. Root refused to consider any such proposition. It will be recalled that when Col. Roosevelt reached Khartoum he found a long letter from Mr. Root explaining the acts of the Taft Administration. It is now believed that this letter was written by Mr. Root instead of his going in person to meet the returning ex-President.

Should a conference occur between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Root it is certain that Mr. Root will appear as the advocate of the Administration and in general of Mr. Taft's policies and accomplishments. Mr. Root was in Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet in two capacities, while under Mr. Taft he has been merely the junior Senator from New York, but from the outset of the Taft term he has made it plain that, for better or worse, he has thrown in his fortunes with the Administration.

In the President's legislative programme Mr. Root has been among his closest advisers, while in the Senate he has closely affiliated himself with the Aldrich organization, which stands sponsor for the passage of the programme bills intact. Already on the Railroad bill, and from time to time on other measures, Mr. Root has put himself on record as indorsing the Taft policies and his method of getting them enacted into law, and it is thought that his expressions to Mr. Roosevelt will be of the same tenor.

COMPLAIN OF BEVERIDGE.

Senator Took Committee Report on Statehood on Trip to Indiana.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—It was disclosed in the Senate to-day that Senator Beveridge had carried to Indiana the report of the Committee on Territories recommending the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as separate States.

Senator Borah to-day called for the report, and was informed that Mr. Beveridge had taken it with him to make corrections in the proofs. Mr. Borah and Mr. Clark of Wyoming insisted that the Senate was entitled to the report.

"How can you get it when the Senator who made the report has gone away, taking the document with him?" asked Senator Hale. He defended Mr. Beveridge's action, saying it was his duty to see that the document was printed correctly.

Mr. Clark and Mr. Borah insisted that the proofreading was a piece of mechanical labor that could be performed in the absence of a Chairman of a committee. Nevertheless, the Senators must wait for Mr. Beveridge's return.

GOOD TARIFF LAW, SAYS PAYNE

"Confuting the Liars Who Attack It," He Declares.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—"The present tariff law is every day confuting the many liars who attack it," declared Representative Sereno E. Payne of New York, one of the authors of the law, as he was leaving the White House to-day after a tariff conference with President Taft.

Mr. Payne appeared annoyed to the point of being almost downright angry at the attacks on the law.

"From every standpoint it is the most successful bill this country has ever had," he declared. "It talks for itself every day in the upbuilding of American business at home and abroad. The maximum and minimum provisions of the bill alone have opened the markets of the world to the goods of the United States."

house that the Mayor's third companion was Lawyer Spiegel, who is said to live in Brooklyn.

When the Mayor drove up to the Mullins house the policeman on duty immediately recognized him. On being asked why he was there he replied that he was watching for infractions of the law. The Mayor and his party went inside. On the first floor they found active preparations going on for the resumption of business, it being explained that Mullins had recently had his license renewed. Leaving the place the Mayor entered his automobile and was driven to Brooklyn.

In the course of his tour the Mayor questioned several women whom he met in the street. The entire trip occupied about two hours. During that time Inspector Daly, whose headquarters are at 300 Mulberry Street, in the old Police Headquarters building, was nowhere to be found. Later in the evening he appeared in his office, but had nothing to say. When asked about the Mayor's trip he held up the department's book of rules and remarked that he was not allowed to talk.

Inspector Daly is understood to be a thorough believer in the theory that it is a good thing to keep policemen watching alleged disorderly resorts. The policemen, in plain clothes and in uniform, when on this duty, work in eight-hour shifts and are allowed one hour off for meals. Most of these policemen are in department parlance "hand picked." Their work is considered by the regular patrolmen as a sinecure.

Police Captains in some of the downtown precincts, speaking unofficially and refusing to have their names used, argued last night that the law upheld them in stationing policemen in front of houses suspected of being disorderly. Most of them recalled, however, that Mayor Gaynor, when a Supreme Court Justice, issued an injunction prohibiting the Police Commissioner from stationing a man in front of the Dry Dock Hotel on the Bowery.

These Captains explained that they got their legal authority for this procedure from a decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of Delaney vs. Flood, (Police Inspector Flood,) in which the court held that it was the right, if not the duty of the police to warn persons who were about to enter houses where it was suspected that the law was being violated. The commander of a precinct, this decision held, if he found it necessary or advisable, should station a patrolman, either in uniform or plain clothes, in front of such a house.

Mayor Gaynor as a Justice has held that if evidence could be obtained against these places they should be closed, but if the law was being violated anywhere it was the duty of the police to obtain evidence of such violations.

He regarded the watching of houses by details of policemen as wasteful, and in many cases uncalled for. Petitioning property owners contended in some of these cases that policemen was placed in front of their houses for reasons which they could not comprehend.

The police Captains questioned last night declared that they would continue the policemen on guard unless, of course, orders from Headquarters came to withdraw these men.

SAY LITTLE BOY WAS BEATEN TO DEATH

Body of Five-Year-Old Harold Prott Was Covered with Wounds, Doctors Declare.

GRAND JURY MAY ACT

Grandparents Meantime Fined $10 for Cruelty—Lad So Hungry He Ate Bread Thrown to Birds, Neighbor Says.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Prott, the grandparents of five-year-old Harold Prott, who died in the General Hospital last Thursday from bruises and wounds inflicted in a beating, were fined $10 this afternoon in the City Criminal Court. The hearing, which lasted for four hours, was followed by an announcement that as a result of evidence obtained in the Coroner's autopsy, the nature of which is withheld, the boy's death will be investigated by the Grand Jury.

The charge of cruelty on which the Protts were fined was made by Esther G. Ogden, agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, who acted on information given to her by Mayor Mravlag, a physician, through whose influence the boy was sent to the hospital a few days before he died.

Neighbors of the Protts, who live at 24 Prospect Street, were the principal witnesses at the trial before City Judge Owen P. Mahon. They testified that the little boy was often put out of doors on the coldest Winter days and forced to walk in a circle in the rear of the Prott home.

They also testified that the boy was always thinly clad and undernourished and that he constantly suffered from wounds received in beatings. Some were so large that they seemed to have been inflicted with a club.

Boy Said He Was Beaten at Home.

Dr. Victor Mravlag and Dr. Otto Wagner, who attended the boy upon his arrival at the hospital, testified that he was covered with bruises and bumps that could have been inflicted only with a heavy instrument.

Dr. Wagner, the house physician, testified that the boy said shortly before he expired that he was much happier in the hospital than at home, because if he was home he would be beaten and whipped all the time.

Mrs. Patricia Singerfuss, who lives in the same house with the Protts, said that once when she threw crumbs out for the birds, the little Prott boy gathered them up and ate them, as if he were famished for lack of food.

Mrs. Jennie Appely, a neighbor, testified that she had seen the little boy growing weaker and weaker each day for several months, and that when she last saw him he wore a hopeless look and his features had grown unnaturally pale.

When Mrs. Prott was called to the stand she wept bitterly and denied the charges of cruelty. She said that the child's condition was due to grieving for its mother, who was separated from her husband and was not in the city. She said she was the mother of seventeen children, and had raised all of them with proper care and attention.

Prott, the grandfather, said that he made the boy march in the back yard to give him a soldierly bearing and a strong constitution. He himself had fought through the Franco-Prussian war, and he said he knew that it made him strong and able to endure hardships.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Mahon commented upon the testimony that the Protts had given the boy no medical attention, although they admitted that he had been ill for three weeks prior to the time Mayor Mravlag had him taken to the hospital.

Prosecutor Smith is collecting data which he will bring to the attention of the Grand Jury.

Mono-Rail Company Gets Charter.

DOVER, Del., April 5.—A charter was issued here to-day to the International Elevated Railroad Company of Washington, a mono-rail concern, with a capital of $50,000,000. At the same time the Universal Motor Company of Washington, D. C., was also incorporated with a capital of $5,000,000. The International, it is stated, will build its first line in Brooklyn, N. Y.

WOOD GETS TAFT MESSAGE.

General Prepares to Sail as Special Envoy to Argentina.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood, who has been named by President Taft as a special envoy to convey the congratulations of the United States to the Argentine Republic upon the occasion of the centenary of its movement for independence on May 25, called upon the President to-day and received the greetings he is to present to President Alcorta at Buenos Ayres.

Gen. Wood will accompany Rear Admiral Staunton, commander of the special squadron, on board the armored cruiser Montana, sailing from Hampton Roads next Friday. The Montana will touch at Havana about four days later, where she will be joined by the scout cruiser Chester. The vessels will stop at St. Thomas, D. W. I., and Trinidad.

At Maldonado, Uruguay, the warships will be joined by the armored cruisers North Carolina, South Dakota, and Tennessee. From Maldonado the squadron will proceed to Buenos Ayres.

DROP THOMASTON, L. I.

Postal Department Merges It with the Great Neck Office.

After a fight lasting more than ten years, Thomaston, L. I., has finally been eliminated as a Post Office station by the Postal Department at Washington. Henceforth the village of Great Neck, with all its connecting hamlets, which are really a part of the village, will now come under the postal directions of Great Neck only.

It is related that ex-Mayor Grace of New York named the place in honor of his wife's birthplace, in Thomaston, Me. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and other wealthy men gradually purchased homes there, and every now and then an agitation to wipe Thomaston off the map was started, but was promptly squelched by Mr. Grace, who was then living.

Vatican to be used by them to make capital as against the Catholics.

All Rome is agog over this latest development, and general approval is being manifested because of the straight course Mr. Roosevelt is pursuing.

The King called at the Beau Site Hotel this morning, dressed in a General's uniform. Col. Roosevelt greeted him in the lobby of the hotel. They entered an automobile and proceeded to the Cavalry School, where the troop astonished Mr. Roosevelt by its display of splendid horsemanship.

"Admirable in every way," was the comment that Col. Roosevelt subsequently made.

The King left Mr. Roosevelt at the hotel after a two hours' drive and inspection of various points about the city. Mr. Roosevelt lunched with his family, and this afternoon they toured the city, manifesting great interest in the splendid public works of the ancient Romans. When asked to comment on what he had seen, he said that no civilized man can come to Rome and not fail to deeply appreciate the centre from which his civilization sprang.

To-night the Roosevelt family dined with Sir J. Rennell Rodd, the British Ambassador.

Not to Repudiate Taft.

Mr. Roosevelt denounces as a baseless fabrication the report that he intended to repudiate President Taft for what he has done or has not done. He has listened to the views of a number of Americans, but has expressed no opinions himself. He will see Mr. Pinchot at Genoa, and would have been glad to see Secretary Root if Mr. Root could have come to Europe as he desired, but Mr. Root could not leave.

Closely as I have been associated with Mr. Roosevelt, I can state that I have never heard him say one word with reference to his attitude toward President Taft or any of the great questions in America.

IF KAISER DICTATED

Roosevelt Would Cancel Audience as He Did in Case of Pope.

ROME, April 5.—When the Vatican statement, likening the situation created by Col. Roosevelt's refusal to accept the conditions imposed on his projected audience with the Pope, to what might occur in Germany if he visited the Polish Separatists after seeing the Emperor, was called to Mr. Roosevelt's attention to-day, he said:

"If the German Emperor should place as a condition to an audience that I should not see the Poles I should make a similar reply: 'Upon that condition I shall be compelled to forego the pleasure of an audience.'"

Merry del Val's father, formerly the Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican, who is now in Rome, and who often complained of the haughty and boastful attitude of the United States in the days of Spain's defeat, said to a friend to-day:

"It seems providential that my son should be the man to humble a Yankee President."

Signor Ferra, Sovereign Grand Commander of the Supreme Council, Ancient Scottish Rite, accompanied by a deputation, called at Col. Roosevelt's apartments to-day and conferred upon him a high Masonic title. Mr. Roosevelt made a brief speech in which he expressed his gratification, and insisted upon the principles of brotherhood, liberty, and tolerance, which, he said, form the basis of Free Masonry throughout the world.

Col. Roosevelt stopped to-day at an antique jewelry store, which he visited forty-three years ago as a boy. The proprietor searched the old register and found Mr. Roosevelt's name.

ANGERED BY MANIFESTO.

Roosevelt Refuses to Meet Methodists Implicated in Its Preparation.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 5.—The Roosevelt-Vatican controversy continues to occupy much attention here, most of the papers printing special dispatches from Rome. Perhaps the most interesting of those to be published to-morrow is that from The Daily Express correspondent, reading:

ROME, April 5.—Ex-President Roosevelt desires to be saved from his friends. The American Methodist College here, which Roman Catholics declare conducts the most aggressive campaign against the Roman Catholic Church, has succeeded in stirring up a new and acute religious strife, intensifying the resentment of the Vatican against Mr. Roosevelt and making his position more difficult than ever.

In consequence of a manifesto issued by Dr. Tipple, pastor of the Methodist Church here, Mr. Roosevelt has canceled the reception at the American Embassy, at which he had arranged to give his fellow-countrymen a chance to greet him. It is almost incredible that such a document, prepared by the Methodists here, should have been issued under such circumstances. It declares that Italians by thousands have discarded the faith of their fathers. The manifesto continues:

"Nearly half a century ago Methodism entered Italy with an open Bible, a personal Christ, and education for the masses. To be anathematized by the Roman hierarchy is to be named a friend. It is to be noted that Mr. Roosevelt does not indorse the accusations made by the Vatican against the Methodists of Rome."

Mr. Roosevelt was furious when he read this amazing statement this morning, and declared he did not want to meet persons who were implicated in perpetrating such a document, adding that if the Vatican was bad then the Methodists were worse. He decided, after a consultation with friends, not to hold an American reception here and asked the American Ambassador to cancel the arrangements made for to-morrow.

The Vatican considers that Mr. Roosevelt is indirectly the cause of the amazing blunder made by the Methodists in the issue of the manifesto, and the Papal Court will be relieved when he departs to-morrow night.

FUN POKED AT ROOSEVELT.

European Papers See Clever Self-Advertisement in Rome Incident.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 5.—The Roosevelt-Vatican affair is the topic of the hour in Germany, where it is considered fresh confirmation of the impression that Col. Roosevelt is destined to play the rôle of a destroying angel during his dash across Europe. To-night's Tageblatt, commenting on the Vatican incident, says:

"Theodore Roosevelt apparently does not consider himself ex-President of the United States, but President 'at disposition.' He has placed himself at the disposition of the American people and is paving his way for his return to political life in that magnificent style of which only the smart Yankee is capable.

"Mr. Roosevelt himself is his best manager. First he hunts adventures in darkest Africa, then zigzags through Europe with speeches in the English, German, French, and Dutch languages, together with receptions by Kings, Emperors, and Presidents, and as a glorious climax will come his coronation with the Nobel Prize. If that is not the most effective preparation for a third term in the White House, there is certainly nothing more to be done. It is a lucky coincidence that the Republican Party finds itself in difficulties and in greater need of a popular man than ever.

"Whatever else may be said of the Vatican incident, it is Roosevelt who from the outset has conducted himself with dignity and tact, which is more than can be said of Merry del Val's diplomacy."

Germania, the organ of the Catholic Party in Berlin, bitterly attacks Mr. Roosevelt and assails his correspondence with the Vatican as "arrogant, insolent, tactless, and disrespectful to the head of the great Catholic Church."

FRANKFORT-ON-THE-MAIN, April 5.—The Frankfurter Zeitung's Rome correspondent, concluding a telegram regarding the Vatican-Roosevelt incident, says:

"According to the judgment of all the Clericals with whom I have spoken to-day and who are unprejudiced Mr. Roosevelt's dignified declination was the severest defeat which the Spanish Cardinal and Papal Secretary has suffered during the long course of his mistakes. This is the coronation of the whole. Another year of Merry del Val and the bankruptcy of the Curia will be complete."

VIENNA, April 5.—The Vienna newspapers are publishing lengthy details of the Vatican incident, but they make few comments. The official Catholic papers maintain complete silence, while the Liberal journals deplore the attitude of the Vatican officials.

The Neue Freie Presse says: "The Papal Secretary of State is a Spaniard, and the whole world is not wrong in believing that the old Spanish atmosphere dominates the Vatican."

PARIS, April 5.—Paris, always cheerful, appears to have found a humorous side to the Vatican-Roosevelt episode. Under the headline "Roosevelt Again, Always Roosevelt," Gil Blas, after stoutly upholding Mr. Roosevelt's attitude, continues in a satirical vein to hail the former President as one of the greatest self-advertisers in the world. It says:

"No one more than he knows how to compel the attention of the masses and by noisy manifestations to punctuate his travels with sensational incidents. The Vatican certainly lacked tact, but the affair entered upon the ridiculous when Mr. Roosevelt, wishing personally to profit, convoked the journalists and dictated a long cablegram destined for his fellow-citizens in America.

"Now the press of the whole world will talk of Teddy, and from Tokio to New York, Peking included, everybody will discuss violently the controversy between Pope Pius X. and Col. Roosevelt. Verily, these Americans understand the art of publicity to a wonderful degree."

ROME, April 5.—Under the heading, "The Bankruptcy of the Vatican," the Messagero points out that the Pope recently received Emperor William, King Edward, and Prince Bülow, as well as Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, all Protestants, without attempting to impose restrictions which "would certainly have been rejected by them with as much indignation as Mr. Roosevelt displayed."

The paper expects that the incident will create great resentment in America, "where National pride is so strong," and result in a diminution of Peter's pence from that country.

The Correspondencia Romano quotes the Vatican as its authority for saying that had Mr. Roosevelt visited the Pope to-day and later spoken before the Methodists the case would be exactly as though while in Germany he should go from an audience with the Emperor to a meeting of Polish Separatists, who are accustomed to attack both the empire and the Emperor.

TIPPLE IS FROM BROOKLYN.

Head of Methodist Church in Rome Formerly Preached There.

The Rev. Dr. Bertrand Martin Tipple, now in charge of the work of the Methodist Church in Rome, formerly preached in New York. He was pastor of the Embury Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, at Lewis Avenue and Decatur Street, Brooklyn, for many years, after which he was called to the Methodist Church of Stamford, Conn. He was serving there when he was called to Rome last Fall.

Before sailing for Rome Dr. Tipple was the guest at a banquet given by the congregation of the Embury Church. In his address on that occasion he expressed his gratification at having an opportunity for doing what he had always desired—missionary work. He stated that on its membership list the Methodist Church of Rome had not more than nine or ten members.

The Methodist Church in Rome now carries on its work from a building which was recently erected at a cost of $225,000. The building contains a large audience room for Italian services, an American church, Sunday School room, Epworth League parlors, offices, a book store, a printing plant, and rooms for a theological school and a boys' school.

Dr. Tipple is pastor of the American Church, which is housed in this building. The upper floors of the building are used as classrooms and dormitories for a boys' school, and the Methodist College, of which the Rev. E. B. T. Spencer is Principal. On these floors also is the Reeder Theological School, at which boys are prepared for the Methodist ministry in Italy.

Through an error the Rev. John J. Wynn, S. J., in commenting on the Roosevelt incident, was made to say in yesterday's paper: "The Pope's agents bungled the affair." What he said was: "The ex-President's agents bungled the affair."

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., April 5.—The New York East Methodist Conference to-day indorsed the Rev. B. M. Tipple, pastor of the American Methodist Church in Rome, whose recently public statement is regarded by ex-President Roosevelt as an extremely offensive one. The resolution read:

> Whereas, The Rev. Dr. B. M. Tipple, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Rome, was until recently a member of this body; be it, therefore, resolved, that we, the members of the New York East Conference heartily congratulate Brother Tipple on his appointment, expressing our entire confidence in his ability as a wise, judicial, and broad-minded administrator, a fervent and fearless preacher of the Gospel, and we rejoice in the past and present successes of the work now under his care and assure him of our earnest desire and constant prayer for continued success.

ROOSEVELT GREETERS MEET.

Vanderbilt to Name Men to Arrange Reception Plans.

The committee appointed by Mayor Gaynor to represent the city at the reception to Theodore Roosevelt upon his return to this country, met yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, appointed Chairman of the committee by the Mayor, presided, and when he brought his gavel down for order just after 4 o'clock, he faced one of the most notable gatherings of representative citizens seen in one room in the city for a long time. Among those present were Jacob H. Schiff, James Speyer, Postmaster Morgan, Collector of the Port Loeb, Lewis Nixon, and ex-Controller Metz.

Mr. Vanderbilt was affirmed as Chairman, and Capt. Arthur F. Cosby, formerly of the Rough Riders, was elected Secretary, and J. Edward Swanstrom, ex-Borough President of Brooklyn, Treasurer of the committee.

On motion of Louis Stern of Stern Brothers, who is the Chairman of the Republican Club's committee on the celebration, the Chairman was authorized to appoint an Executive Committee of Twenty-five, and it was voted to refer the making of all arrangements to this committee. Louis Windmüller moved that a cable message be sent to the ex-President informing him of the organization of the committee, and this was also referred to the Executive Committee on motion of ex-Senator Nathaniel A. Elsberg.

On motion of E. W. Bloomingdale of Bloomingdale Brothers, it was voted to authorize the Chairman to appoint all necessary committees, and the meeting adjourned on the motion of ex-Corporation Counsel Pendleton.

LOCKET CLUE TRAPS SPRINGFIELD SLAYER

Spencer, Identified as Murderer of Miss Blackstone, Dropped Trinket at Another Burglary.

THIEF WAS A CLERK BY DAY

Masks and a Pistol in His Room—Quantities of Jewelry—Other Victims Recognize Him.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 5.—Bertram G. Spencer, charged with the murder last Thursday night of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a Smith College graduate, is alleged by the police to have led a double life in Springfield for nearly a year. According to the police, Spencer, who has worked as a brakeman and clerk by day, has been by night the most terrifying burglar Springfield has ever known.

The burglar's victims have been selected from Springfield's most prominent citizens, and but for the standing of the families which reported the cases the police in several instances would have been inclined to dismiss the reported burglaries as pure fiction.

Traced by a locket, which has been in the possession of Charles L. Simons of 66 School Street, father-in-law of A. E. Blair, whose house was entered several months ago, since the morning after that robbery, but which was not turned over to the police until last Saturday, Spencer was arrested at 7 o'clock at the H. L. Handy Company's plant, where he was receiving clerk. His arrest caused a sensation throughout the city.

Find Pistol, Masks, and Gems.

Immediately after arresting Spencer, the police went to his home in Porter Avenue, West Springfield, and there found black masks, slouch hats, and a quantity of jewelry of various descriptions, which has not been identified yet. Some of it came from Battleboro, Vt., and Fitchburg. Under the pillow of Spencer's bed was found a big revolver, fully loaded, and an additional supply of cartridges. The jewelry was found in a trunk and in bureau drawers.

The arrest of Spencer was the result of clever detective work. The home of Mr. Blair was burglarized in October, entrance being gained through a second-story window by means of a ladder. Mrs. Blair was going to her daughter's room when she heard a noise outside, and on looking from the window saw a man standing on a ladder and peering into the room. As soon as the man saw that he was observed he slid down the ladder and disappeared. A small gold locket was found at the foot of the ladder. It contained the photographs of two women, and bore on the outside the initials "B. G. S." Apparently the Blair family did not realize the importance of turning over the locket to the police, and it was not until Saturday when Pinkerton detectives were put on the case that the locket was mentioned. The Pinkertons then began a search for any man whose initials were "B. G. S."

All the "S's" in the City Directory were gone through. When the Pinkerton men found that there was a man whose initials were "B. G. S." they visited his home. Several such men were visited and finally the directory led them to the home of Mrs. Edgar C. Pierce, at 50 Greenwich Street, where they found that Spencer, when he had been a brakeman on the Boston & Maine Road, had lived. Mrs. Pierce told them tha he had moved to Porter Avenue, West Springfield.

The detectives had had enlargements made of the photographs that were in the locket, and Mrs. Pierce identified them as pictures of Spencer's mother and sisters. His mother is Mrs. Wilbur L. L. Spencer of Lebanon, Conn., and his sister is Mrs. Norman Pultz of this city.

Last night the detectives went to Spencer's home and watched the house all night. Just before 6:30 o'clock this morning Spencer started for this city, and the detectives followed him until he got to his place of employment, H. L. Handy & Co's meat packing house, in Hampden Street, and arrested him.

Spencer stood the third degree well, and at the end of three hours seemed in a fair way to acquit himself—the only weak spot in his story being his explanation of how the locket came to be found near the Blair home. He followed the police to the scene, he said, and must have dropped the locket on the premises.

Identified by Mrs. and Miss Dow.

This afternoon property found in Spencer's home was identified as having been stolen from the home of former Alderman Rogers. On this occasion the burglar bound Mr. Rogers's daughter hand and foot. A charge of burglary and assault had been preferred on the strength of this information when Miss Lucy Dow and her mother arrived at Police Headquarters and positively identified Spencer as the man who killed Miss Blackstone, and wounded Miss Harriet Dow in the Dow home on Round Hill last week Thursday night. Miss Dow also identified a belt which was taken from her home on the night of the murder. A formal charge of murder then was preferred against Spencer.

Two servants in the home of former Mayor L. J. Powers later identified Spencer as the man who visited the Powers home last Summer and, finding Mr. Powers out, calmly sat down to wait for him after admonishing the servants as to the necessity of silence. Mr. Powers had only loose change with him and the burglar grumbled not a little. The burglar had trouble in getting out of the house and compelled Mr. Powers to come down stairs and open the front door for him.

Spencer is well known among the railroad men, having been employed for several years as a brakeman on the Boston & Maine Railroad. His associates say that under ordinary conditions he was a mild-mannered man, with a low, soft voice. One of the Boston & Maine employes who knew him very well says that Spencer has an uncontrollable temper when occasion arises and that this was shown occasionally in his work and finally resulted in his losing his position with the railroad.

During his work for the railroad he became engaged to Miss Minnie Amberg, whom he married two years ago. According to acquaintances of the young man, the marriage of Miss Amberg to Spencer was not at all pleasing to the father of the young woman.

MUST NOT CRITICISE WOLTER.

Whitman Arraigns Tombs Physician for Expressing Opinions.

District Attorney Whitman was angry yesterday when he learned that Dr. Frank A. McGuire, the Tombs physician, and Probation Officer Graveur of Special Sessions had been expressing their opinions of the sanity of Albert W. Wolter, who is awaiting trial for the murder of Ruth Wheeler. Both were summoned before Judge Malone in the Court of General Sessions, where Mr. Whitman expressed his opinion of the propriety of their action.

Graveur had told of the daily conduct of the prisoner, while Dr. McGuire had declared his belief that Wolter is a "moral imbecile," with "symptoms of degeneracy."

"You had no right to investigate Wolter's sanity without a court order, much less to announce your conclusions," said Mr. Whitman, adding that he would lay the matter before the Grand Jury after the trial is finished.

Judge Foster, before whom Wolter is to be tried, ordered a special panel drawn yesterday, to report in General Sessions on April 18, when the trial will begin.

Ordered to Improve Eighth Ave. Line.

Judge Lacombe, in the United States Circuit Court, handed down an order yesterday directing receivers Joline and Robinson of the Metropolitan Street Railway to spend $510,000 on the Eighth Avenue Railway for the purpose of restoring that property to good operating condition. The Eighth Avenue's stockholders asked recently to have improvements made and the unpaid franchise taxes paid, or else have the road turned back to their own management through the termination of the lease to the Metropolitan.

BAKER IS MUM.

And Mayor Will Let His Police Officials Adjust Their Own Little Fuss.

Police Commissioner Baker, who on Monday in an interview referred to First Deputy Police Commissioner Bugher as a man who was both mentally and physically small, and to Fourth Deputy Commissioner Reynolds of Brooklyn as a man who did not have the necessary intelligence to make troube if he wanted to, did not talk, at least to reporters, yesterday. He would not even admit them to his office, as has been his custom.

Mr. Baker, according to rumors current in the vicinity of Police Headquarters, was still a bit peevish as a result of his Monday's outburst against his Deputies becoming public, despite the fact that what he said came out in his regular morning talk with the reporters.

Yesterday morning the reporters went, as usual, to the office of the Police Commissioner, and seated themselves in the big room adjoining that from which Deputy Commissioner Bugher was ousted on Monday.

The reporters sent in their names and settled down to await results. Five minutes passed, and then Lieut. Mallon of the Commissioner's office appeared in the doorway.

"Boys," he announced in doleful tones, "the Commissioner says there is nothing he cares to say to the gentlemen of the press."

Then he retreated, and the reporters departed.

Mayor Gaynor did not make any statement, however, and the general impression seemed to be that he considered the controversy a little family quarrel which he would let the Commissioner and his Deputies settle among themselves.

Three more police affidavits were received by District Attorney Whitman yesterday as a result of the excise law enforcement on the lines laid down by Mayor Gaynor. This makes a total of thirty affidavits submitted from Manhattan and the Bronx since Monday morning. A few more are expected to come in to-day.

THAW'S LAWYER PLAYED FARO

Was "Necessary" for the Defense of White's Slayer, Says Hartridge.

Clifford W. Hartridge, who is suing Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw in the United States Circuit Court for nearly $100,000 expense, incurred, he says, in connection with the defense of her son, Harry K. Thaw, on his trials for the murder of Stanford L. White, was under cross-examination all day yesterday by L. Laflin Kellogg, counsel for Mrs. Thaw. Mr. Hartridge was forced to admit that during his search of the Tenderloin for evidence for Thaw's defense he had visited gambling houses and had played in them.

It already had been testified that Hartridge spent much time in resorts of an unsavory character, interviewing women who made these places their headquarters, and that he had considered it necessary to keep such women "in good humor."

"Do you think it professional to visit places of questionable character and to put such people in good humor for a lawyer; spending 180 nights in such places?" asked Mr. Kellogg.

"I do in a case of this kind," Hartridge replied.

"Did you ever gamble in any of the places you went in the interest of this case?"

"Possibly I played faro or roulette once or twice. I don't remember."

Mr. Kellogg asked whether Hartridge had made any payments to newspaper reporters. Hartridge declared that he had not.

Mr. Kellogg took up the item of 350 visits to Thaw in the Tombs. The Tombs blotter showed only 127 visits, and Mrs. Thaw's lawyer wanted to know how the discrepancy could be harmonized. Hartridge said that until near the end he always went in to see Thaw without registering.

"Then you violated the prison rules 200 times?" commented Mr. Kellogg.

Hartridge explained that he did not know what the rules provided. This concluded the cross-examination.

JAPANESE RAILWAY MAN HERE.

Director of Manchurian Road to Study How We Handle Freight.

S. Sakuragi, a Japanese Director of the South Manchuria Railroad, whose headquarters are in Dalny, Manchuria, arrived at the Hotel Astor yesterday for an indefinite sojourn in this country. Mr. Sakuragi's mission here is to study the system of handling wharfing and housing cargo at this port.

"We all look upon New York as the greatest port in the world," said Mr. Sakuragi when seen yesterday. "The quick and efficient handling of the immense cargoes which arrive here from all parts of the globe is probably the best system known. I have been sent here by the South Manchuria Railroad to study the system, which will be adopted at Dalny and Port Arthur, at present two of the most important ports in Manchuria.

"The Manchuria Railroad is 700 miles long and runs between Dalny and Shang Chun. Ninety per cent. of the material used on this railroad came from the United States, and it is only natural that the railroad officials should now look to this country for ideas in the development of the ports which they tap. The door is open in Manchuria for all nations, and the flags of many countries fly from freight steamers at Dalny.

"I was amazed to-day at the amount of shipping at this port. To learn everything in detail I have made arrangements to identify myself for a time with a large shipping terminal in Brooklyn. I may remain here a year, if necessary."

Mr. Sakuragi speaks English fluently. He is only 26 years old. He was born in Nagoya, Japan, and has lived in Dalny for the last five years. He declared that the Japanese looked to America as their best friend, and reiterated the assertion frequently that Manchuria, under the Japanese, stood for the open door.

TRAINS JUST MISS A CRASH.

Engineer's Foresight Barely Prevents Wreck of Stamford Special.

The Stamford Express that reaches the Harlem River station of the New Haven Railroad a few minutes before 10 o'clock, carrying bankers and others doing business in the financial district, had a narrow escape from being wrecked at 9:45 yesterday morning as it approached that station.

If its engineer, Edward Ballon, had not put on his brakes quickly the train would have been ditched, as it grazed a train of freight cars pulling out from behind the roundhouse at 133d Street.

The engineer of the freight train, named Trafford, was about to cross the track as the express rounded the curve a couple of hundred feet north. The track on which the freight train ran crosses the passenger track.

Engineer Trafford, who was going slowly, stopped his train a few inches from the crossing. Engineer Ballon of the Bankers' Special, which was going at a high rate of speed, but on all the brakes and brought his train almost to a stop. As it was, the passenger train skidded along on the slippery tracks, and its engine caught the cowcatcher of the freight train, the cylinder being snapped.

There was a delay of about fifteen minutes. All the passengers had to walk to the station, a distance of a quarter of a mile, picking their way among the third rails. No one was injured beyond receiving a little shaking up.

SHOOTS WOMAN, KILLS SELF.

No Reason Known for Pittsburg Insurance Man's Act—Victim May Die.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—Edward Walsh, Assistant Superintendent of an insurance company, to-day shot and probably mortally wounded Mrs. Margaret Ryan, a widow, employed as a stenographer, shortly after the couple had eaten luncheon in their Wilkinsburg boarding house. After firing all but one bulelt at Mrs. Ryan, Walsh turned the weapon upon himself, sending a bullet through his heart.

Walsh is said to have a family in Peabody, MaMss., while Mrs. Ryan has relatives in Chicago. The police are unable to find a motive for the deed.

BEVERLY, Mass., April 5.—Edward Walsh formerly lived in this city, where he leaves a widow and six children. For several years he was Assistant Superintendent of a life insurance company at Salem while living here.

A few months ago he was transferred to Pittsburg. Nothing is known here of Mrs. Ryan.

THE UNION BANK OF BROOKLYN CLOSES

Succeeded Mechanics and Traders' and Found Its Inherited Burdens Too Heavy.

ITS RESERVES HAD FALLEN

Deposits Dropped $2,000,000 in Ten Months—Assets Sound and Every Depositor Is Likely to be Paid in Full.

Unable to realize on its assets in time to meet the demands upon it, the Union Bank of Brooklyn, after a hard struggle under the burdens which it inherited from the old Mechanics and Traders' Bank, was forced yesterday to close its doors. The suspension followed an examination of its affairs made recently by State Banking Supt. O. H. Cheney.

The officers of the bank, of which ex-Controller Edward M. Grout is the President, found it impossible to maintain the reserve of 20 per cent. of the deposits required by law, so at a meeting of the Directors held in the offices of the State Banking Department, in Broadway, Manhattan, it was decided to suspend business. In the last ten months the total deposits had fallen from $6,000,000 to $4,000,000, while the reserve had dropped in the last month to as low as 16 per cent.

While nothing definite could be said last night as to the prospects for a reopening, President Grout talked hopefully of the outcome, and gave reasonable assurance that every depositor would eventually be paid in full. The bank has large real estate holdings, which it has been unable to convert into cash because of the condition of the realty market. It was asserted yesterday that no other financial institution had been at all affected by the closing.

The suspension of the Union Bank and its seven branches in Brooklyn did not cause much surprise to bankers in that borough. It came as a shock, however, to the depositors of the institution, although there was little or no excitement at any of the offices. While many of the depositors were greatly inconvenienced by the tieing up of their funds, they seemed satisfied with the assurance that the assets were more than enough to pay all in full and that complete payment would be made as soon as these could be realized on.

The bank's trouble is traceable to the old Mechanics and Traders' Bank, which went to the wall in the panic of 1907. A reorganization was effected, the name being changed to Union, and Edward M. Grout was elected President. The management of the Mechanics and Traders' had bequeathed to the officers of the reorganized bank the problem of running the institution with 75 per cent. of its assets "slow," as it is put in the vernacular of the financial world. Money could not be raised with any rapidity on such assets without a sacrifice. With a more active realty market the real estate holdings might have been disposed of readily and to advantage, but the "slow" assets were found to be too great a burden. The State Banking Department has shown no disposition to place any blame on the new management, which seems to have underrated the difficulty of rehabilitating the institution.

The experience of the Union Bank was that of the Lafayette Trust Company, another Brooklyn institution. The Lafayette was a reorganization of the Jenkins Trust Company, which also failed in the Fall of 1907. This bank, like the Union, found its inherited burdens too heavy to bear. Its stockholders were recently called upon by the State Banking Superintendent to meet an assessment of 100 per cent. on the par value of their stock for the obligations of the closed bank.

The condition of the Union Bank was thoroughly discussed by the Directors at the meeting in the Banking Superintendent's office in Manhattan on Monday night, when it was decided that the bank should suspend. When the depositors reached the bank and its branches yesterday morning they found a notice posted stating that the institution had been closed by order of the Superintendent of Banks.

President Grout said that the Union Bank had taken over the liabilities of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank and had paid the depositors in five quarterly installments. On the opening of the Union Bank it had deposits totaling $8,000,000.

"The present embarrassment," continued Mr. Grout, "was caused by the condition of the real estate market in Brooklyn, which, dead for the last two years, is now beginning to show some signs of life. If we could have continued two months longer we would have been able to go on.

"Some of the assets of the old bank were questionable, that is, too slow for realization. For instance, the old bank's claims against the Thomases were slow in being paid. The agreement was that they should pay $100,000 a year out of their income, for five years. Consequently the money was slow in coming in. The bank's real estate in Jamaica and Brooklyn is valuable. In our loans we also were fortunate, having lost only $6,000, and this through the operations of a gang of swindlers who raised money on supposed grocery stores. Fifteen other banks were swindled in the same way."

Mr. Grout denied emphatically a rumor that within the last few days $500,000 had suddenly been withdrawn from the bank. As late as Monday, he said, the deposits had exceeded the withdrawals by $113,000. Everything connected with the bank would stand minute examination. Unless the Superintendent of Banks should decide that some of the assets be sacrificed to raise money, Mr. Grout added, the capital would not be impaired. The situation, he concluded, was one of a shortage of cash, not of assets, and he had no doubt of the full payment of every deposit.

The Union Bank had a paid-up capital of $1,000,000 and a surplus of $800,000. Its main offices were in Temple Bar, and it had the following branches: No. 2,491 Atlantic Avenue, 1,572 Fulton Street, 79 Hamilton Avenue, Flushing and Washington Avenues, Greenpoint and Manhattan Avenues, 804 Broadway, and 1,246 Broadway. Edward J. Stalker is the Vice President and James T. Ashley the Cashier. The Directors are Henry Albers, William F. Corwith, Barth S. Cronin, C. E. Donnellon, William H. English, E. A. Fitter, Eugene J. Grant, Jacob L. Greatsinger, Edward M. Grout, Paul Grout, S. J. Harding, Samuel M. Jarvis, William H. Lynn, P. J. Menahan, Edwin J. Stalker, James W. Stevenson, Arthur G. Stone, and Charles Strauss.

Supt. Cheney, in a statement yesterday, said that the Directors having decided that the bank should close, he was accordingly requested to take possession. Pursuant to this request and the provisions of law he had taken possession of the business and property of the corporation. Mr. Cheney said he would issue no further statement until the inventories had been taken. Under the new banking law the affairs of the bank will be liquidated directly by the State Banking Department and not through an expensive receivership.

The last statement of the affairs of the Union Bank showed resources of $7,165,201.82. This was dated March 25 last.

Controller Prendergast said yesterday that he had some $40,000 on deposit in the Union Bank, made up of surety deposits filed with him by city contractors. The Controller said he believed that the money would be returned in full. He is personally liable.

Ex-Controller Metz faced a similar situation in the panic of 1907 with several Brooklyn banks, and made up the amounts to the city while the deferred payment plans were in operation.

Ask Reopening of Laffargue Case.

Surrogate Thomas reserved decision yesterday upon an application to reopen the inquiry into the death of George Laffargue, who was killed with his wife and another woman in an automobile accident in 1907, at Allaire, N. J. The report of William Harmon Black, the referee, found that Laffargue had died before his wife, and this gave the property to the wife's heirs. The application to reopen the inquiry is based on alleged alterations of testimony.

CONTROLLER CLERKS REVOLT.

They Will Fight an Order Extending Their Office Hours.

The employes of the Department of Finance, who had their office hours extended by Controller Prendergast to 6 P. M. day before yesterday, declare that they are going to make serious trouble for the Controller. This anonymous statement was issued by the men in the office yesterday:

> A meeting of the employes will be held in the very near future to have some one on the outside of the department to represent them and to whom they can present their grievances without fear of losing their positions and one who can place their side before the public.
>
> They claim their duties in the department would not necessitate any longer hours if the present Controller would fill the vacancies that exist owing to resignations.
>
> Most any one knows what would occur also in any business house if two men in some cases are required to do ten men's work. It certainly will take longer to do so.
>
> The present order was issued owing to certain clerks in the Auditing Bureau being compelled to work overtime and were unable to go to their homes for their dinner, as result of which a claim was put in for supper money, which he objected to, as he claimed in the papers the "clock watchers" went home at 5 o'clock and they should do some of the work. Incidentally it may be mentioned that some of these auditors receive $4,000 per annum.
>
> The work of the bureau was performed as well when it closed at 4 o'clock under Grout, and the employes claim it seems a pity that a man like Prendergast cannot find other means to promote his ambition without continually abusing his employes in the papers, and they feel they are as good a body of men as in any business house, and in most cases better, and in most cases have always been willing to perform extra service without extra pay.
>
> The outside public will also be advised of the trials of the city employe. First, there is the severe examination and then the little chance for promotion, and in the exempt class, no matter how faithful a man may serve the city, he is requested to get out in the change of the administration. Also some of the public offices will be shown in which clerks are required to perform duty, especially in the Department of Finance, which a public business house would not permit.
>
> The public will also be advised how matters are sent to the newspapers by the present Controller, through his secretary, Tirrell, who was formerly a reporter for The Eagle, and who writes all articles for the papers ready to be printed, carbon copies being made, and who gives removals and appointments to the press before the proper officials receive them.
>
> One of the Controller's recent orders issued to the employes was that no information regarding the department was to be given to the outside public unless authorized through his secretary, which will show that the newspaper men may get news to their advantage and which will make good reading if they apply to some of the employes, which the Controller would like to prevent.
>
> The Department of Finance has been in existence many years and will be hereafter, and was run as well as possible, all employes, with perhaps a few, as may occur in all lines of business, ready to earn their money at all times, but with a man at the head of it as at present the department will become one in which every employe will shirk work as much as possible, and no one can blame them.

When the Controller was told of the uprising, he declared he had issued the order for the extension of the office hours of his clerks in all good faith. If the men wished to push the matter it would give him all the better basis for purging the department of all the undesirables, he said.

MEAT RIOT IN HARLEM.

Increase of Prices Causes Women to Attack Shops in Second Avenue.

Angry because the price of meat was raised, more than 500 women yesterday attacked several butcher shops in Second Avenue, near 101st Street. During the riot two men were beaten, and Policeman O'Rourke of the East 104th Street Station was roughly handled.

When chuck steak, 12 and 14 cents a pound on Saturday, was raised Monday to 16 and 18 cents, women gathered on the sidewalk berating the butchers. Several ordered meat sent home, and when it was delivered threw it into the street.

Outside the shop owned by Isaac Freeman, at 101st Street and Second Avenue, a crowd of women threatened to throw all his meat in to the street. He called Policeman O'Rourke, who was pushing his way through the crowd when the women attacked him.

Michael Powers of 162 East 100th Street and Edward Koenig of 696 Melrose Avenue, the Bronx, went to his assistance, but Powers was dragged to the sidewalk, and O'Rourke received many scratches in the face.

Capt. Corcoran and the reserves of the East 104th Street Station quickly dispersed the women and found Powers on the sidewalk. Samuel Dudek, a baker, of 328 East 100th Street, was arrested, charged with kicking Powers, who was attended by Dr. McDonald of the Harlem Hospital before he went to the Harlem Court to testify against Dudek. The latter was held for trial. Extra policemen were stationed in the block to prevent any further trouble.

Benjamin Zamenovitch, business agent of the Kosher Butchers' Union, reported yesterday evening that the members of the union had decided to join hands with the employers against high prices on the east side, beginning on Saturday, and that other east side unions would vote to do the same.

The decision of the employers to close their shops beginning on Saturday until the east side beef trust came down in its prices, he said, had the indorsement of the Kosher Butchers' Union, and would have the support of all the unions of the east side.

WANT WATERFRONT IMPROVED

Merchants Ask Mayor to Set Aside Funds for This Purpose.

A committee representing the Merchants' Association, consisting of E. H. Outerbridge, who was Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Committee of One Hundred in the campaign last Fall; ex-Controller Metz, Irving T. Bush, and F. B. De Barard visited the Mayor yesterday and urged him to set aside a large part of the sum which will be added to the borrowing capacity of the city by the passage of the enabling act, under the constitutional amendment approved by the voters, for the improvement of the water front of the city.

The Mayor assured the committee that he would take the matter up as soon as he had time for it, and that he had already instructed Dock Commissioner Tomkins to draw up a comprehensive plan for the improvement of the present water-front facilities for presentation to the Board of Estimate.

ANOTHER INSURANCE SEARCH.

Assemblyman Levy Offers Bill to Investigate State Underwriters.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5.—With an investigation of fire insurance companies in progress in New York and the Assembly's assent given to two additional investigations, Assemblyman A. J. Levy of New York thinks there is need of still another, and he introduced a bill to-day creating a commission to investigate the State Board of Fire Underwriters, particularly with reference to illegal combinations or pools.

The commission is to be composed of three Senators, three Assemblymen, and one person appointed by the Governor, and is charged with ascertaining if the fire underwriters divide territory among themselves and apportion insurance rates for each company; what the qualifications of membership are, and if rebating is practiced.

The commission is also required to get the names of all officers and agents of companies organized under the laws of the State and to report to the Legislature next March. No salary is to be paid the Commissioners, but $50,000 is appropriated for expenses.

Another Bucket Shop Defendant Held.

Another of the men named in the Federal indictments relating to the bucket-shop raid of last Saturday surrendered yesterday to the United States authorities. He is Robert A. Guy, the fifth defendant in the firm of Boggs & Co. He appeared before United States Commissioner Shields, and gave $5,000 bail. He was represented by Terence F. McManus, who is counsel for Edward S. Boggs of the same firm.

Poets' Descendants at Banquet.

LONDON, April 5.—A unique banquet was held in London to-night at which Lord Coleridge presided, the gathering being composed of 200 descendants of British poets. The occasion was the anniversary of the birth of Algernon Charles Swinburne and the diners included the Duke of Norfolk, Lord Lytton, Lady Lindsay, Lady Shelley, and Helen Mathers, (Mrs. Henry Reeves.)

BIG PRICES PAID FOR YERKES PICTURES

The Alma-Tadema, "Spring," Sold for $22,600; Israel's "Frugal Meal," $19,500.

43 PICTURES FOR $162,225

Depreciation in Value of Meissonier—"The Reconnaissance," for Which Yerkes Paid $13,500, Sold for $5,300.

There was a big and interested crowd out at the first evening of the sale of the Charles T. Yerkes collection of pictures at Mendelssohn Hall, and if conclusions can be drawn from prices brought last evening, the sale will be an unusual one. The first lot of a collection will usually bring out the smallest crowd and the least enthusiasm; and the least interesting pictures ars shown. Last night the forty-three pictures disposed of brought $162,225. The Alma-Tadema, "Spring," which has attracted a great deal of attention since it has been on exhibition at the American Art Galleries, brought the highest price, $22,600. It went to a Western dealer, Henry Reinhardt. It started at $5,000, the bills jumped at times by thousands, then would go up $500 at a time, and again settle down to steady $100 bids. There was applause when the price reached $15,000, and murmurs of excited interest ran through the audience when it got up to $18,000, and again to $20,000.

About as much interest was shown in the sale of the big Inness "Landscape at Sunset" as in of any of the pictures. It brought $8,400, the highest price of the first half of the lot. It was the twenty-seventh picture sold, starting at $500, running up briskly by hundreds and five hundreds, and there was a burst of pleased applause when it finally went to Knoedler & Co. for more than $8,000.

"And they tell us that we have not American artists," said Mr. Kirby.

Jozef Israel's "The Frugal Meal," brought the second highest price of the evening, going to Knoedler & Co. for $19,500, and almost selling itself. The bids ran along evenly, going up one, two, and three thousand at a time without being called. It started at $2,500. There were many bidders for Prof. Ludwig Knaus's "A Country Festival," which started at $3,000, and went to Eugene Fischhof for $10,600. Bouguereau's big, clean-looking canvas, showing the fair, black-haired, blue-eyed maiden, who has invaded Cupid's realms, went to William Barbour for $10,000.

There were some of the pictures which brought less than had been paid for them. Meissoniers have depreciated in value in the estimation of the public, and "The Reconnaissance," for which Mr. Yerkes paid $13,500, in 1891, went to Scott & Fowles last night for $5,300. The Burne-Jones, "The Princess Led by the Dragon," which went to Capt. J. R. Delamar for $2,050, was bought by Mr. Yerkes in London in 1901 for $12,500. The companion Burne-Jones went to "Mrs. George" last night for $2,000.

Picture No. 13 in the sale proved that that number is unlucky. "This was "The Guardsman," by Decamps, and it was sold, or supposed to be sold, for $1,900, but was called back, put up a second time, and brought only $1,500, going to S. Henry. The first picture sold brought a good price last evening, rather an unusual thing. It was a very high price, estimated by the amount of canvas covered. It was Jan van Beers's "Return, Sweet Bird," 4½ inches by 12, and it brought $1,025.

TAFT WILL NOT TAKE SIDES.

Refuses to Make Appointments for Either West Virginia Faction.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Republican factional fights are not to be influenced by political appointments made from the White House if President Taft can prevent it. He showed this to-day when he refused to decide a controversy which will have some influence on the coming elections in West Virginia. The following statement was issued at the White House in regard to the matter:

> The President has concluded not to decide the issue between the Senators from West Virginia and Congressman Hubbard in respect to the Postmasters at Fairmont and Clarksburg until after the Senatorial controversy has been settled, in order to avoid seeming to take part in the controversy.

Mr. Hubbard is a candidate for the seat of Senator Scott.

ASK MORE PAY FOR JUDGES.

Leaders of the Bar Say Present Salaries Are Grotesque.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Urging a favorable report of the Moon bill to increase the salaries of the Judges of the Supreme Court and the Federal Circuit and District Courts, representatives of the American Bar Association and other such organizations appeared before the House Judiciary Committee to-day. The present salaries paid Federal Judges were described by such terms as "shocking," "grotesque," and "intolerable."

The Moon bill proposes to increase the salaries of the Justices of the Supreme Court to $18,000 for the Chief Justice and $17,500 each for his associates. Circuit Court Judges will receive $10,000 and District Judges $9,000 if the bill becomes a law.

W. B. Hornblower, representing various New York bar associations, was especially earnest in condemning the present remuneration for Federal Judges. Instances had been known to him where it was necessary for bar associations to help the families of Judges who had died practically penniless. The high class of men required for such places, he said, demanded better salaries. Mr. Hornblower had letters from many Federal Judges saying they were compelled to borrow money to live on.

Ex-District Judge Eugene Saunders of New Orleans informed the committee that he had been compelled to resign because of the insufficient salary paid him.

The tenor of the questions asked by committee members indicated that they were in favor of the bill.

SUBSIDY CHAMPION ARRESTED

Editor of American Flag Had Just Appeared Before House Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Following his appearance as a witness before the House committee investigating the ship subsidy lobby charges, John A. Penton of Cleveland, an officer of the Merchant Marine League, was arrested as he left the Capitol to-day by detectives from the District Attorney's office, an indictment for criminal libel having been returned against him. Mr. Penton is editor of The American Flag, in which alleged libelous articles are said to have appeared attacking Representative Steenerson of Minnesota, who started the prosecution. The indictment was returned in secret March 30 by a District Grand Jury, but action was withheld until the accused came to the District.

While Mr. Penton was testifying to-day a statement was obtained from him that the league was responsible for letters sent out to members of Congress over its signature. Two detectives were in waiting and as soon as the committee adjourned the arrest took place. Mr. Penton, accompanied by ex-Representative James T. McCleary of Minnesota, who was also a witness, went to the District Attorney's office immediately following his arrest and was released on $500 bond.

Representative Steenerson said this afternoon that he knew of no other arrest to be made. He had been careful, he said, to have Mr Penton identify the letters written by him and to assume responsibility for authorship before having the warrant served.

Bonds for Saratoga Springs Purchase.

SARATOGA, N. Y., April 5.—The taxpayers of this village, at a special election to-day, authorized a $250,000 bond issue to be expended under the direction of the State Mineral Spring Reservation Commission in connection with the proposed purchase by the State of the mineral springs at Saratoga, for which the Legislature last year made an appropriation of $600,000.

Divorce for Mrs. W. T. Spaulding.

Supreme Court Justice Giegerich granted yesterday to Mrs. Jean Spaulding Romaine an interlocutory decree of divorce from Washington Tyson Romaine, giving her leave to resume her maiden name and to have the custody of her son. Romaine is a member of several prominent clubs.

Mayor Writes to Board, Though, That, Like All Good Things, It Will Come Slowly.

ADVOCATED FOR SCHOOLS

Miss Richman Says Her Experience Shows Pupils Naturally Spell by the Simple Method.

One hundred members of the Simplified Spelling Board attended the organization's fourth annual meeting at the Waldorf last night. They were somewhat chagrined at not having heard from Andrew Carnegie. But they were comforted by a letter from Mayor Gaynor which gave them to understand that, although not a militant simple speller, the Mayor was at least an evolutionary simple speller.

The Mayor's letter was addressed to Charles P. G. Scott, the Simplified Spelling Board's venerable Secretary. Here it is:

> Office of the Mayor.
> Feb. 25, 1910.
>
> My Dear Mr. Scott:
>
> I thank you very much for your letter of Feb. 17. I should not have delayed so long in answering. I assure you that you do not have to argue one moment with me to get me in sympathy with your ideas of simplified spelling. Our spelling has been changing for centuries and will continue to change. It will not change suddenly, however. It seems to be contrary to the rules of Providence that even good things should be done suddenly. How long He sat patiently brooding over this earth before it was fit! How slowly our bodies mature, and everything about us in the material world! The same holds good in the intellectual world. All good growth is slow growth, and even the simplification of spelling must have its slow growth.
>
> Sincerely yours,
> W. J. GAYNOR.
>
> Charles P. G. Scott, Esq.,
> Simplified Spelling Board.

This letter of Mayor Gaynor's is part of a correspondence which has been exchanged between the Friend of Epictetus and the Simplified Spellers in the last month or so, according to Secretary Scott last evening. When Mayor Gaynor first came into office the simplified spellers at once saw a likelihood of furthering their cause by enlisting the sympathy of so erudite an official.

"When Mayor Gaynor wrote this letter in reply," said Mr. Scott last night, "I immediately wrote to him pointing out that he was right in saying that all good growth is slow growth, yet the best growth is almost always attained by cultivation. We cultivate good apples. We cultivate good bodies. Why not cultivate simple spelling? I asked him to attend this dinner and listen to the programme by which we hope to make simple spelling universal. He answered that he had another engagement and couldn't be with us, but that he sympathized with the simple spelling cause."

The way the Simplified Spellers hope to promulgate their cause, according to their speeches last night, is by persuading Supt. Maxwell and the Board of Education to have it introduced in the city's public schools.

"We must get at the Board of Education," said Miss Julia Richman, of the city's public school system, amid the applause of the Simplified Spellers. "We tried to make them do it three years ago. They wouldn't. But Boards of Education change. Broader-minded people may be on it now. I feel that we should appeal to the board again."

Miss Richman's chief argument for simplified spelling is that it will save the small, struggling minds of the little public school children such a tremendous amount of unnecessary work.

"We grown ups, perhaps, can manage with the old spelling," said Miss Richman. "But how cruel it is to let the small growing children be burdened with unnecessary obstacles. The educational burdens imposed on the school children are already hard enough. In my experience as a public school teacher I find that foreign children especially, although they can't spell correctly in the old, unnatural way, instincitvely spell a word as we simplified spellers spell it, although they have never been taught our way out of any book. In a class of thirty-seven foreigners, for example, I found that all thirty-seven spelled the word 'preferred' as 'preferd,' just as we simplified spellers do They spell 'biscuit' 'bisket,' and 'guard' 'garc.' Children have enough to contend with without putting unnecessary complications in their way."

Brander Matthews, who presided, spoke of the loss to the board in the deaths of its strong adherents, Richard Watson Gilder, Justice Brewer, and Dr. Harris.

"We have received less adverse criticism than we expected," said Prof. Matthews. "In Germany the Kaiser is becoming interested in simplified spelling. In France the Academy is thinking of taking it up. We Anglo-Saxons adopt the different plan. Whenever we think of something that should be done we band together and do it. Whenever we argue with any one about simplified spelling we always win.

"A friend," he continued, "recently told me that no self-respecting hen would ever lay an egg with one 'g' and that no self-respecting cat would ever begin to purr with one 'r.' I answered that, on the other hand, no self-respecting hen would ever stand on a leg with two 'g's' and that no self-respecting cat would allow any one to stroke its fur with two 'r's.' And my argument squelched him."

Dr. David Felmly of Illinois and Dr. Alexander H. Mackay of Nova Scotia described the progress that simplified spelling was making in their parts of the world. Other speakers were Charles E. Sprague of this city, Nathan Haskell Dole of Boston, and Hudson Maxim of Brooklyn. Papers will be read at this morning's session at the Waldorf. There will be a general discussion of the plans of the board this afternoon and an informal conference to-night. Secretary Scott was asked if no communication from Mr. Carnegie had come.

"We haven't received a single word from Mr. Carnegie," Secretary Scott answered.

TO BAR DEALS IN FUTURES.

Bill for Reform in Cotton Exchanges Ready for Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Striking at the futures operations in the Cotton Exchanges, and not molesting in any way the transactions on the Grain Exchanges, an Anti-Option bill has been framed in the Committee on Agriculture and will soon be reported to the House, possibly to-morrow. This bill, prohibiting option dealings in cotton, with rigorous penalties, is a redraft of a measure which Chairman Scott prepared to introduce to-day.

The bill as agreed on by the sub-committee makes it unlawful for any person to send a message over telegraph or telephone lines, by wireless or cable, or through the mails, offering to make or enter into a contract for the purchase or sale of cotton for future delivery without intending that such cotton shall be actually delivered or received. The penalty prescribed is a fine of from $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment from one to six months. Each message constitutes a separate offense.

Bona fide owners or growers of cotton may use telephone or telegraph lines for transmitting information relating to contracts for future delivery by making proper affidavits. In the view of the subcommittee this makes legitimate trading safe and free. Provision also is made for blanket affidavits covering messages to be sent during a period of six months. The purpose of this is to avoid undue multiplicity of affidavits. But any person making a false statement in such affidavits is subject to a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000 and imprisonment of from one to two years.

Failure to deliver or receive cotton contracted for would be held, under the new law, to be prima facie evidence that there was no intent to deliver or receive.

The bill also makes it unlawful for telegraph, telephone, or wireless companies to transmit knowingly prohibited messages.

WANMAKER FOR SURVEYOR.

President Likely to Promote the Appraiser—Place for Wainwright.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—It was said at the Treasury Department this evening that Secretary MacVeagh has about concluded to recommend to President Taft that George Wanmaker, now Appraiser of the Port of New York, be appointed Surveyor of the Port to succeed Gen. James S. Clarkson, whose term will expire in a few days. Secretary MacVeagh himself could not be reached to confirm the report, but the information came from a source close to him and is believed to be reliable.

President Taft has let it be known that the matter is in the hands of the Secretary, and that he would probably follow the recommendation of Mr. MacVeagh.

The information this afternoon was that Senator J. Mayhew Wainwright of Westchester County would be appointed Appraiser to succeed Mr. Wanmaker. It had been reported here earlier in the day that Henry M. Clapp, now Deputy Appraiser, would be promoted to Wanmaker's place.

CHINESE PRINCE COMING.

Brother of the Regent Sails for This Country After Japanese Trip.

TOKIO, April 5.—Prince Tsai-Tao, brother of the Prince Regent of China, has sailed for America on the Chuyo Maru after a week's visit to Japan. His reception was most cordial. Prince Tsai Tao is accompanied by a large suite, which includes Lord Li, son of the great Li Hung Chang. There is reason to believe that the visit of the Prince will result in decidedly closer relations between Japan and China.

Kokichi Midsuno, the Japanese Consul General at New York, also was a passenger on the Chuyo, together with a large party of Japanese who are making a trip around the world under the auspices of the newspaper Ashai, headed by Editor Tsuchiya.

TRANS-ANDINE TUNNEL OPEN.

Affords Direct Communication Between Valparaiso and Buenos Ayres.

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 5.—The Trans-Andine Railway tunnel was formally opened to-day with the passage of a train bearing the Chilean and Argentine Commissioners and other representatives of the two countries.

The tunnel is 12,000 feet above sea level and links Chile and Argentina commercially. Its construction constituted a great engineering feat, in which American methods and machinery were used. It is five miles long, and affords direct communication between Valparaiso and Buenos Ayres.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

LONDON, April 5.—Rear Admiral George le Clerc Egerton, Commander-in-Chief of Cape of Good Hope, will start soon for Buenos Ayres with a squadron consisting of the cruisers Hermes, Argyll, and Amethyst, to represent Great Britain at the celebration next May of the centenary of the independence of the Argentine Republic.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 5.—During the debate on the naval estimates in the Duma today the clause providing for a credit of $5,500,000 as a first installment for the construction of new ships was stricken out.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, April 5.—At the most orderly elections in the history of the country Ricardo Jiminez, Republican, was elected President of the republic for the term of 1910-1914, which begins on May 8. The new President is a lawyer and succeeds Clete Gonzales Viquez.

PARIS, April 5.—The Senate to-day voted $32,000,000 for the immediate construction of two 23,500-ton battleships. One of these ships is to be fitted with turbines.

BERLIN, April 5.—The most extensive strike in the building trades that has ever occurred in Germany is threatened by the action of the delegates representing the Socialist Federation of Trades Unions, comprising 300,000 bricklayers, carpenters, masons, builders, and laborers, at a meeting this evening at which they unanimously rejected the proposed wages tariff which the Master Builders' Union had drawn up. Such a strike would affect at least 350,000 men.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 5.—The Duma committee for the defense of the empire tonight adopted a bill providing for the recruiting of 456,535 soldiers in 1910.

PERU READY FOR WAR AGAINST ECUADOR

Entire Military and Naval Forces Mobilized for Advance at Moment's Notice.

MAY HAVE TO FIGHT THREE

Colombia and Chile Expected to Join Ecuador—Peruvian Consul at Guayaquil Takes Refuge with Our's.

LIMA, Peru, April 5.—The forces of Peru are under arms awaiting eventualities with Ecuador. The full fighting strength is prepared to advance at a moment's notice.

The Government has formed a naval division consisting of the cruisers Almirante Grau, Lima, and Coronel Bolognesi. Admiral Villavicencio has been placed in command of the fleet and Col. Alvarez has been put at the head of all the land forces in the Department of Lambayeque.

The excitement and indignation caused here by the attacks upon the Peruvian Legation at Quito and the Consulate at Guayaquil when Peruvians were assaulted, their property destroyed, and the colors of their republic dragged in the dust, continues. Peru is aflame with patriotism and ready for war.

The Central University has called a great popular mass meeting. All are awaiting events.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, April 5.—Following a night of anti-Peruvian rioting, Señor Palacios, the Peruvian Consul, sought asylum at the American Consulate to-day.

President Alfaro has received a telegram from Gen. Bustamente of the Colombian Army, offfering 5,000 troops from Colombia to assist Ecuador in the event of hostilities with Peru. The relations of Colombia and Peru are strained and war between them at an early date is believed probable.

During Monday groups carrying Colombian and Chilean flags paraded the streets here crying "Long live Colombia and Chile!" In the afternoon a mob of 1,000 persons seized four ferryboats on the River Guayas, with the intention of using them in the capture of the new Peruvian steamer Huallaga. Approaching the steamer, those on the ferryboats began to discharge their revolvers, whereupon the Huallaga pulled in her anchor and sailed out to sea.

Throughout last night crowds paraded the streets firing small arms. Calm was re-established this morning.

In the face of the popular excitement and rioting it is officially announced today that Ecuador and Peru propose to settle their boundary dispute directly at Washington. Ecuador's special envoy is Clemente Ponce, and he will proceed to the American capital.

The trouble between Peru and Ecuador began with a boundary dispute which is still before King Alfonso of Spain, the mutually selected arbitrator. Ill-feeling has continued, and there have been demonstrations in each country against the representatives of the other. Colombia has expressed a popular sympathy with Ecuador, and as Chile also has a dispute with Peru over the Provinces of Tacna and Arica, Peru faces the hostility of three sister republics.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Notwithstanding the warlike demonstrations which are taking place daily in the Ecuadorean cities of Guayaquil and Quito, as well as in Lima, Peru, which are admittedly of the gravest character, there is still hope of an amicable adjustment of the difficulties between the two countries.

From inquiries at the State Department and elsewhere there is reason to believe that the Government of Ecuador has expressed an inclination to attempt an adjustment by direct negotiations with Peru at Washington, but Peru's attitude is not yet known. Ecuador, it is understood, has already designated Clemente Ponce, a prominent citizen by the name of Lopez, and Mr. Carbo, the Ecuadorean Minister here, to act in her behalf in case an agreement is reached to institute negotiations. It was pointed out at the State Department that any such mode of procedure must necessarily be conditional upon mutual agreement by Perú and Ecuador.

From recent reports it is learned that the Peruvian Army comprises about four thousand officers and men. The army is provided with twenty thousand Mauser rifles, twenty-four Maxim and Gatling guns, and twenty-four light guns. The Peruvian Navy consists of the Lima, a cruiser of seventeen hundred tons; the Almirante Grau, and the Colonel Bolognesi, each of thirty-two hundred tons and twenty-four knots speed.

The Ecuadorean Army numbers approximately the same as that of Peru, but the National Guard is said to consist of 90,000 men. What proportion of this number would be available in case of war, however, is problematical. The Ecuadorean Navy consists of a torpedo launch and a transport.

THREW ACID IN HIS FACE.

Quarrel in Park Ends in Man Being Severely Burned.

After an angry discussion in St. Mary's Park, the Bronx, last night, a woman who said she was Mrs. Margaret Rutledge, 20 years old, of 202 East Ninety-seventh Street, threw a bottle of vitrol into the face of John Peppler, 22 years old, a driver of 534 East 148th Street.

Peppler threw up his hands in time to save his eyes, but though his right cheek, neck, and hands were burned by the acid he refused to make a complaint against the woman. Both were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct by Policeman Stephens of the Alexander Avenue Station.

Stephens heard Peppler's scream of pain, ran up, and found the couple surrounded by a crowd which had heard them quarreling and seen the acid throwing. Peppler refused to go with Dr. Mooney to Lincoln Hospital, and Stephens took both to the station.

In the station the woman said she had known Peppler before her marriage, and that her husband is a street cleaner. Peppler is married and has two children, but does not live with his wife.

In the Night Court Magistrate Corrigan discharged both the man and the woman, each declining to make a complaint against the other.

THIS "LITTLE MOTHER" QUIT.

Ran Away Rather Than Care for Brothers and Sisters.

Saying that she had rebelled at being kept at home "to mind the four brats," one of whom is blind and a second crippled, sixteen-year-old Nora Koeppe, who, with her sister, Mary, 18 years old, had been missing from home since Saturday, was brought by friends to the Bronx Detective Bureau last night and returned to her father. The elder Koeppe, who is a carpenter, called for the girl later and took her home. He said the other daughter had returned yesterday afternoon to take care of the children, who since their mother was dead would be without any one to take care of them.

The two girls disappeared while taking a younger brother to St. Luke's Hospital for treatment, telling him to go home alone. Thereafter, according to Nora's story, they separated, she sleeping Saturday and Sunday nights in hallways and on Sunday hunting up friends at Third Avenue and 143d Street. The friends, reading of her disappearance in the papers, took her to the Detective Bureau until the father could get her.

Rubber Reaches $2.96 a Pound.

LONDON, April 5.—The unprecedented price of 12s. 4d. (about $2.96) a pound was paid for plantation raw rubber at the fortnightly sale in Mincing Lane to-day. The bidding throughout was brisk.

Activity of Etna Renewed.

CATANIA, April 5.—Mount Etna exhibited new activity to-day. A stream of lava has turned toward Cisterna Regina and has almost reached that village. The crops in the vicinity of Borrillo and Nicolosi have been ruined.

GOOD DOCTRINE

"The case where the father has died, where the mother would like to keep her child, but simply lacks the earning capacity, surely in such case we should strive to help the mother, so that she can keep her own home and keep the child in it; that is the best thing possible for that child."—THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

UNBOSSED VOTERS ELECT POSTMASTER

Fishkill Landing Citizens Settle Intense Rivalry, Which Republican Leaders Had Dodged.

JOHN SEWELL, JR., CHOSEN

Dark Suspicions That Democrats Did It—Anyway It Was Like a Real Election, and Exciting, Too.

Special to The New York Times.

FISHKILL LANDING, April 5.—This village—that is to say, this city, for it was recently incorporated with Matteawan as such—was to-day the scene of a unique election. It was not a strictly legal election, but it was a mighty serious matter. In short, the public had to take a hand in the matter of choosing a new Postmaster, all because there had been a split in the local Republican Party, leaving many "leaders" but no "boss" to save the people the trouble of picking their office holders.

In olden days Gen. Ketcham of Poughkeepsie was a benign dictator over Dutchess County, then stanch Republican. Richard Hunter, now Postmaster of Poughkeepsie, took up his task after his death. Hunter figured in the affairs of the Phenix Life Insurance Company, and one thing and another happened, and Dutchess County turned largely Democratic, so that there was bred among Republicans a peculiar modesty about the Republican leadership—and responsibility. Some said Hunter was still leader—he denied it both ways. Ex-Assemblyman John T. Smith also disclaimed the honor, although as President of two banks, one street railway, and one gas company he was something of a factor. County Judge Phillips almost resented the charge, while Congressman Hamilton Fish simply "ducked."

This was the situation when certain persons ambitious to hold office went looking for the "boss" to name a new Postmaster for the village of Fishkill Landing. Postmaster Tompkins had held his place eight years, and that seemed long enough for the patriots. Besides, Mr. Tompkins had got the place only because eight years ago there were six candidates, and carnage was averted only by his introduction as a dark horse. So the rotation in office advocates sought the "boss." Again there were six candidates for the job—and each "leader," when he saw he could only make one friend and five enemies, passed them along. Congressman Fish, cornered and declared "boss" by the process of elimination, quickly climbed on a high fence.

"Settle it yourselves in your own way," he said. "I'll name the man you agree upon."

Idea of Election Is Opposed.

Just who hit upon the idea of holding an election is a political mystery. The announcement appeared as news in The Fishkill Standard. It was deemed of such importance that it took the place of the paramount question, "Shall Fishkill Landing and Matteawan be one city?" and even superseded the weekly denial that Fishkill Landing is "a dying village." The Standard, let it be known, did not approve. It spake thus editorially:

> The most foolish, the most unsatisfactory manner of settling the fight now being waged for the Postmastership in this village, has been decided upon by some one, nobody knows who.
>
> The Standard says it is all wrong: The Standard says that the Republican leaders should never have allowed this election; The Standard maintains still further, with a large majority of the people of the village, that this election business is all foolishness!

Nevertheless the plan was carried out. Two of the candidates so far agreed with the Standard that they withdrew from the running. Still there remained four, and they were capable of making plenty of excitement. One of the local newspapers raised a quiet little voice amid the row and asked:

"Why not let Mr. Tompkins continue as Postmaster? He saved a row once. Why not once again? Besides, Mr. Tompkins is a very good Postmaster."

Nobody listened.

The election was called for to-day. Congressman Fish sat on his high fence and whittled a stick, while the four remaining candidates borrowed the Lewis Tompkins Hose Company's house for a polling station, hired all the rigs in the village, and bought raspberry ice cream for the kids when they weren't waving the glad hand to fellows they hadn't seen since last New Year's. The reporter hadn't been in Main Street, Fishkill Landing, for ten years, but at least four people remembered him on sight.

Three polling booths were set up in the hose house. Also there was a long bench for friends of the candidates. These sat in a solemn row, fiercely, inquiringly, suggestingly eyeing. There was a little desk for the challenger, who faced the door with a stern, eagle eye, and two tables, one for the polling clerks, George Straney and James Members, the other for the election inspectors, W. A. Jaynes, a local hatter; E. P. Johnson, grocer, and W. R. Schofield, engineer.

Four Candidates in the Field.

The candidates for the office were John Sewell, Jr., who does a livery and truck business; Winfield S. Colwell, who works with engines; James S. Darragh, in the ice and coal business, and Dr. James M. De Garmo, who used to be principal of the local school.

"It's between Sewell and Colwell," said the man in Main Street. "It's between the young folks and the old folks. This is a Demmycratic town and them two's going to get the Demmycratic vote. The young bloods is for Sewell and the old folks is for Colwell. On the tother hand the po-lice vote will go to Colwell most like. That's seven votes for Colwell at one clip—the Capt'n and six patrolmen. But maybe some of the vote will go to De Garmo. He's old and some respected. Besides"—this whispered—"he's a Past Master Mason. But t'ain't any use talking."

The voting was pretty lively when the poll opened at 1 o'clock. Democrats as well as Republicans were permitted to take part. Within half an hour 100 votes had been cast, and the fight seemed to be between Colwell and Sewell, with odds in favor of the latter. As the afternoon wore on it got mighty warm in Main Street, and the police vote had not turned up.

"That's all right," said Colwell. "They'll come when it gets cooler."

Drowsiness reigned for hours in the hose house. The election Inspectors dozed, or told stories, only letting up when a voter arrived, heralded by the simultaneous hail of four voices outside:

"Hello, Dan! How's the garden? Hear ye're planting potatoes. How about Jimmy's leg? Sorry to hear he was laid up to home. Ain't he able to be down today? By the way, Dan—"

The rest was a whisper. The voter would enter solemnly, and, as though heavily burdened, take his ballot and step into the booth. Then the eyes of all outside would study with minute attention the half-length of legs and heels visible below the little swing door, until he came out and handed over his folded paper with a sigh and the look of a man who had done his duty.

Repeating was not to be expected where everybody knows everybody, but late in the afternoon an aged villager, who had voted under his own name, turned up and proposed, with solemn face, to vote under another name. He was challenged, and there was talk of having him arrested, but it was figured out that this was not a legal election, anyway, and he had a right to vote as often as he could get away with it.

Village Reprobate Faithless.

The village reprobate refused to tell his choice until late in the evening. He finally gave the name. He was assisted to the polling booth. Then it was discovered that he had been obtaining drinks under false pretenses; he had voted ten minutes after the polling booth opened, and for the "wrong" man at that.

It was between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening when the excitement really began. One of the candidates' deputies glided into the hose house and whispered his "choice," so that everybody heard:

"Scoot down to Dugan's. He's got four votes and's holdin' them till you come!"

The "choice" sent a delegate on the rush. At the same time a number of men appeared as from a factory. They all voted for Sewell. They were the employes of the street railway, of which ex-Assemblyman Smith is President.

Sewell's forces were elated. Colwell's crowd looked pale, but chirped up considerably when the entire police force marched in and voted "all right." Furthermore, Dugan's "four" were for Colwell.

"Hullo, Mulcahy, did you do your duty?" asked Darragh of a man who had just left the booth.

"I'm a Dimmycrat!" was the response.

All four candidates were Republicans. For whom did Mulcahy vote? For whom was the Democratic vote being cast? Mr. Beskin, the Democratic leader, had discreetly gone out of town, and the Democratic vote, as Mr. Colwell's son remarked, "was awful silent."

By 9 o'clock in the evening the poll was closed and all of the village was out on the corner of Main and Cross Streets waiting for the result. Three of the candidates were there, pulling hard at their cigars. Dr. De Garmo had gone home to bed. Far from the fray Congressman Fish was still sitting on a high fence.

Before 10 o'clock the result was made known. Almost the entire vote of the village had been recorded. Sewell had swept the board with nearly half of it. He topped the poll with 371 votes, Colwell coming second with 183. Darragh and De Garmo had 149 and 127, respectively.

It was over. The Postmaster was elected by the Boss People. But Fishkill Landing is asking to-night how much of the voice of the people came from John T. Smith and Mr. Beskin, Democratic leader.

NIECES INDICTED FOR THEFT.

Accused of Robbing Aunt of $8,000 and Putting Her in Insane Asylum.

Charges were preferred against two sisters in Yonkers Special Sessions yesterday of having defrauded their aged aunt of $8,000 or more, and then of having "railroaded" her to the Poughkeepsie Insane Asylum. One of the sisters, Ida Reinhardt, 55 years old, of 223 Chrystie Street, Manhattan, was held by City Judge Joseph H. Beall in $5,000 bail for examination in the Court of Special Sessions to-day. The other sister, Lena C. Reinhardt, is known to be in Canada.

The complainant is Fred F. Steinbach of 127 Engert Avenue Brooklyn, as representative of Mrs. Louise Klener, who lives at his home. Mrs. Klener is 78 years old and almost totally blind. She was a former resident of Yonkers, and while there the Reinhardt women, her nieces, lived with her. According to the specific charge, on July 22, 1908, they asked their aunt to sign what they said was a rent receipt, but what in reality was on order on the Dry Dock Savings Bank of the Bowery and Third Street, New York, for $1,272.66. There is evidence to indicate Mrs. Klener was a depositor in other New York banking institutions, and that at least two other bank orders were drawn of which she had no knowledge.

After obtaining the money, the sisters had the aged woman adjudged insane in the County Court at White Plains, and committed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Poughkeepsie. The court proceedings were subsequently reviewed by Judge Morschauser and Judge Mills on a writ of habeas corpus, some months after the commitment, and Mrs. Klener was declared sane and freed. The court then appointed Mr. Steinbach, who is a relative of Mrs. Klener, as a committee of her estate.

TEXAS MOB LYNCHES SLAYER.

Bates's Son, Who Shared Attempt to Escape, Rescued from Crowd.

HOUSTON, Texas, April 5.—Following an attempt to escape from jail, Frank Bates was lynched by hanging in the jail at Centerville last night. Dolly Bates, his son, was also strung up, but was cut down before life was extinct.

The two Bateses, who were awaiting trial on a murder charge, probably mortally wounded Jailer Jeff St. John in the attempt to escape.

A mob gathered, and, enraged at reports of St. John's precarious condition, got the jail keys and took the two prisoners out and strung them up.

SURE OF A QUIET "FOURTH."

No Fireworks of Any Kind May Be Sold This Year, Waldo Orders.

Fire Commissioner Waldo issued an order yesterday prohibiting the sale of explosives in the city between June 10 and July 10, which means that all firecrackers and other devices for celebrating the "Glorious Fourth" will have to be bought in Jersey City or elsewhere.

Some time ago the Mayor directed the Commissioner to enforce the order issued by ex-Commissioner Hayes on the day he went out of office that no permits for the sale of fireworks at retail would be issued by the department between June 10 and July 10. Commissioner Waldo's order reads:

> Notice is hereby given to all concerned that the Fire Commissioner hereafter will not issue any permits for the retailing of fireworks, Chinese crackers, rockets, blue lights, candles, colored pots, lance-wheels, and other works of brilliant-colored fires.

Section 764 of the city charter allows the issuance of these permits only between the dates of June 10 and July 10. Prohibiting their sale between these dates means, therefore, that no fireworks will be sold at retail in the city this year.

BRIBE-GIVING BANKER ADMITS PAYING $500

Stewart, Who Got Money, Coaches Charles W. Friend Through Confession.

EINSTEIN FOOLED GRAFTERS

Admits He Didn't Distribute All That He Collected—No Decision Yet on Indictments Validity.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—The uncovering of the "men higher up" in Pittsburg graft cases began to-day, when Charles W. Friend, the wealthy President of the Clinton Iron and Steel Company of Pittsburg and a banker of prominence, staggered rather than walked into court and confessed that he was one of those who had bribed Pittsburg Councilmen. President Friend, who is the eldest son of the late James W. Friend, the wealthy steel car manufacturer, is a Director in the Pressed Steel Car Company and of the Workingmen's Savings and Trust Company, as well as a close business associate of Frank N. Hoffstot of New York, almost swooned twice while giving his testimony, and was resuscitated by the use of water.

The testimony before the special Grand Jury to-day was so pointed that Mr. Friend was sent for, with instructions to appear at once before the court and before the Grand Jury and confess his entire connection with the bribing of Pittsburg Councilmen or be placed under arrest and have the door of confession closed against him.

Mr. Friend, after he had been supported to the front of the bar, said that he had given Councilman Charles Stewart $500 in the office of his father, J. W. Friend, about two years ago. In admitting the payment of this money to Stewart Friend explained that a bridge ordinance favorable to his company had been brought up in Councils and killed. He and his father were still anxious to see the bill passed and "in order to stop any newspaper talk" about the resurrection of the bill he had, at Stewart's suggestion, he said, paid $500. The purpose of the money was not, according to Friend, a bribe to Councilmen, but to newspaper men. Instead the money was given to Councilmen.

Stewart's version of the affair was wholly contrary. He asserted that the money was paid by Friend to influence the passage of ordinances, naming the Second National and Farmers' Deposit National Banks as city depositories. Friend was recently a Director of each of these banks.

Councilman Stewart stood by Friend as he made his confession and protested bitterly against some of his statements. Once or twice Stewart appealed to Judge Fraser for the right to correct Friend, and in each case Friend finally admitted that Stewart was right.

He was dismissed finally for the day by Judge Fraser, who intimated the confession was not ended yet by any means. Friend probably will appear again to-morrow. He had to be supported from the courtroom to his auto by friends.

The appearance of Friend followed closely on the confession of Councilman Morris Einstein of the North Side, who has been admittedly the head of the Councilmen on that side of the river. Einstein confessed openly that he had received $20,000 from the Workingmen's Savings and Trust Company for pushing the bank ordinance through. He was to have distributed it among other Councilmen, but he admitted that he had distributed only $10,000 and kept the other $10,000 himself. Before Einstein had finished his confession he had to be supported by two men, and he was compelled to sign his resignation from Councils in the open courtroom. He was too nervous to write the resignation himself and the Assistant District Attorney assisted him.

The Grand Jury, it is said, will indict at least three others bankers. There is much uncertainty yet over the stand which has been taken by Attorney William J. Brennan, asking that indictments be quashed because Foreman Nesbit of the Grand Jury is not qualified to sit on the jury. Judge R. S. Fraser, in charge of the graft cases, intended to give an opinion on the point this morning, but he announced that he would not give it until later; that he desired to give the question more thought. This hesitancy caused consternation in the office of the District Attorney, since it is practically an admission that there must be something in the stand taken by the Councilmen's attorney. Should the point be decided in favor of Brennan's Councilmanic clients, then all the graft cases to date will be rendered void. Judge Fraser probably will make his decision to-morrow.

So worked up has Pittsburg become over the graft cases that Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead of the Pittsburg Diocese tonight issued a circular to all his churches setting apart next Sunday as a time of prayer for the city's deliverance from grafting, and also as a day of contributions for the different organizations which are fighting crime.

The Bishop orders that sermons be preached on "Civic Righteousness," "Corporate Repentance and Confession," "Political Chicanery," on graft, and on fraud. He outlines prayers which may succeed in conenction with grafting in all in all the churches.

PRAISE FOR ONE POLICEMAN.

Mayor Hears of His Sending Home Two Lost Boys at His Own Expense.

Mayor Gaynor told yesterday of the kindness of a policeman who found two little boys who had lost their way after leaving the Hippodrome with their teacher and a party, and lent them a dollar and directed them how to get to their home, in Westfield, N. J.

The boys were the sons of George B. Dickerson and the policeman was Thomas Sheahan of the Twenty-ninth Precinct. The Mayor sent him this letter yesterday:

> Dear Mr. Sheahan:
>
> I am very glad indeed to receive your letter of April 4 explaining how you sent the two little boys home. It was very kind of you indeed, and I am certain they will send back the dollar which you gave them. I have long known from personal observation that the patrolmen do many kind things, and I am in a position now to hear of many of the good things which they do, and I grow more proud of them every day. I shall always be glad to hear from you, and also to do anything for you which I can legally and properly do.
>
> Sincerely yours,
>
> W. J. GAYNOR.

The occurrence was called to the Mayor's attention by Mr. Dickerson, who told him of the safe arrival of the boys at home and the assistance given them by the policeman, and asked him to find out who the policeman was. The Mayor learned that it was Sheahan, and wrote to him, asking for an explanation. He was much pleased with the reply he received.

Luncheons on Hoffman Hotel Roof.

Arrangements were completed yesterday at the Hoffman House for serving luncheons on the roof. A kitchen, pantry, and bar have been installed. Huge awnings and a series of pipes, through which cold air will be pumped, will be used to mitigate the heat of midday. James Grey, who was associated with the old Fifth Avenue Hotel for twenty years, has succeeded James Maloney as head of the Hoffman House bar.

BROKER FIGHTS EXTRADITION.

Meeker Says He Was Not in Texas When Fraud Was Committed.

ALBANY, April 5.—Gov. Hughes gave a hearing to-day on the application for the extradition of Charles M. Meeker, a broker, of 120 Liberty Street, New York, to Dallas County, Texas, where he is wanted on charges of having been implicated in an alleged fraudulent scheme. Meeker's attorneys contended that he was not in Texas at the time of the alleged crime. They will have until April 21 to file additional affidavits.

It is alleged that Meeker and others last January secured $2,400 from George N. Mattingly by the sale to him of fraudulent drafts and checks drawn on the London Commercial Banking Company.

TO INCREASE BROADWAY TAXES

Mayor Confers with Commissioners on Putting Up Assessments.

Mayor Gaynor summoned Tax Commissioners White, McElroy, and Kaufman before him yesterday and had a long talk with them about increasing the property valuations on both sides of Broadway from Thirtieth Street north to Times Square.

These three members of the board have formed a committee to investigate this question, since the Mayor announced some time ago that he would do everything in his power to have the real estate assessments in the city brought up to the real value of the property.

The Mayor seems convinced that the assessments along Broadway just south of Times Square have not been increased anything like in proportion to the increase in values. A recapitulation of the figures for 1910 shows that the assessments on the more important theatre, hotel, and business properties in this district were increased this year from $250,000 to $500,000. Much larger increases may be expected next year in view of the Mayor's attitude.

Insurance Inquiry Put Over.

There was no session of the fire insurance investigation yesterday. Supt. Hotchkiss of the State Insurance Department was engaged instead with important departmental matters which demanded attention. It is expected that another hearing will be held this morning if the Superintendent gets these matters cleared up.

GOULD STAYED OUT OF PACIFIC DEAL

Tells Government Lawyer Loyalty to Harriman Prevented His Bidding for Huntington Stock.

ASKED HARRIMAN FOR HALF

This Request Was Denied and Gould Refused Harriman's Request for Half the Rio Grande Purchase.

Evidence offered yesterday at the hearing of the Government's suit to dissolve the Union Pacific merger indicated that the personal loyalty of George J. Gould to Edward H. Harriman prevented Mr. Gould from acquiring control of the Southern Pacific Railroad, several years ago. This was just before Mr. Harriman succeeded in effecting the merger by purchasing the block of Southern Pacific stock owned by the estate of Collis P. Huntington.

Mr. Gould was closely associated with Mr. Harriman, both at the time they were members of the Executive Committee of the Union Pacific and afterward, when Mr. Gould obtained control of the Denver & Rio Grande. He told the story of his relations with Mr. Harriman yesterday while testifying as a witness for the Government before Special Examiner Sylvester G. Williams on the top floor of the Custom House.

Mr. Gould denied that he had ever tried to buy the Huntington stock.

The lawyers for the Harriman lines had made much of the testimony tending to show that control of the Southern Pacific was in danger of falling into hostile hands just before Mr. Harriman, acting for the Union Pacific, stepped in and took over the stock holdings of the Huntington estate, so that access to the Pacific Coast could not be cut off from the Union Pacific. The calling of Mr. Gould by the Government lawyers was to offset this line of argument.

The appearance of Mr. Gould on the witness stand yesterday began the Government's testimony in rebuttal. In reply to questions by C. A. Severance of counsel for the Government, Mr. Gould said that he was connected with the Missouri Pacific, the Texas Pacific, and the International & Great Northern, all roads West of the Missouri River.

Relations With Harriman Friendly.

"What about the Denver & Rio Grande?" suggested Mr. Severance.

"And the Wabash, west of the river, and the Denver & Rio Grande, and the Western Pacific," said Mr. Gould, nodding an affirmative. He added that he was Chairman of the Denver & Rio Grande board and that he acquired control of that line in the Fall of 1900 or the Winter of 1901. Just before Mr. Gould acquired control of the Denver & Rio Grande that road had been negotiating for the Rio Grande Western. He explained that prior to his going into the directorate of the Denver & Rio Grande he had been a Director in the Union Pacific.

"What were your relations with Mr. Harriman, as to being intimate or otherwise?" asked Mr. Severance.

"Rather intimate," replied Mr. Gould. "We were friendly. I was on the Executive Committee of the Union Pacific."

Q.—Do you remember the time that negotiations were pending on the part of Mr. Harriman, for the Union Pacific, for the acquisition of stock of the Southern Pacific? A.—Yes.

Q.—During the time that those negotiations were pending between Mr. Harriman and the Huntington people did you have any talk with him about the possibility of taking or endeavoring to buy that stock if he did not want it, or anything of that sort? A.—Yes. Mr. Harriman seemed at one time to get a little lukewarm about taking the stock, about making the purchase, and I told him if he did not want it and had no objection I would take it for our interests.

Q.—How long was that before Mr. Harriman closed the deal for the Huntington stock? A.—Somewhere around September or October, 1900.

Q.—After the acquisition of the stock or the contract for its purchase did you have any talk with Mr. Harriman with reference to sharing the purchase? A.—Yes. I suggested to Mr. Harriman that he might let the railroads with which I was connected have a one-half interest in the purchase—the Missouri Pacific and the Texas & Pacific. But he turned the suggestion down.

Q.—He declined? A.—Yes.

Gould Declines Harriman Request.

Mr. Severance wanted to know if Mr. Harriman made any suggestion to Mr. Gould subsequent to that time with reference to permitting him to have an interest in the Denver & Rio Grande.

"Yes, when I told him that I had acquired the control of the Denver & Rio Grande, he asked me for a one-half interest," said Mr. Gould. "He said first, 'You bought that, I suppose, for both interests—the Union Pacific and your own?'

"I told him no, and he said: 'Well, I would like to have a one-half interest in it.' I told him I could not allow it."

"During the time these negotiations were pending, or at any time, did you know of any effort being made to buy the Central Pacific line?"

"No; I don't remember it."

Mr. Severance wanted to know more about the purchase of control in the Denver & Rio Grande. Mr. Gould said that he bought the stock largely in the London market.

Peter F. Dunne, of counsel for the Union Pacific, cross-examined Mr. Gould. He asked if the Texas & Pacific in 1900 had any outlet into California, except over the Southern Pacific rails from El Paso. Mr. Gould said there was none other except by way of the Atchison. It could send business by the Atchison to Albuquerque, but there was no direct outlet except over the Southern Pacific line.

Q.—Is it not a fact that before the Union Pacific purchased the Southern Pacific stock you notified Mr. Harriman that in the event he did not proceed with those negotiations you would take that stock for your properties? A.—No, not in the way you put it, no. I suggested to Mr. Harriman—I did not notify him in the sense that you use the word, of laying the law down—I suggested to Mr. Harriman during the negotiations that if he did not want the properties (the Southern Pacific) I would take them for my interests.

Q.—When was that, Mr. Gould? A.—I could not state the date with any absolute accuracy. But I should think it was some time in September or October, 1900. It was while he was proceeding with his negotiations with the Huntington estate.

Q.—Did you make any statement along those lines at the time to any member of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.? A.—I think I mentioned it to Mr. Schiff.

Northwestern Feared As a Rival.

Q.—Do you know whether, during the pendency of Mr. Harriman's negotiations for the purchase of the stock, and before the consummation of the sale, he was apprehensive that other interests, over and above your own interests, were desirous of getting that stock? A.—Yes, he talked it over with me several times, and he was afraid the Northwestern would build from the Black Hills. They had a line up to the Black Hills, and he was afraid the Northwestern would build from the terminus of their line through Ogden, going through the Ogden Canon. Then he also used to be afraid of the Burlington building through to Ogden.

Mr. Gould said that after Mr. Huntington's death it was generally supposed among railroad men that the stock would come on the market. Then Mr. Severance clinched his point.

"But neither in the Fall of 1900, nor at any time, did you personally attempt to buy it," suggested the Government lawyer.

"No, I would have considered that disloyal to my associates," said Mr. Gould.

"Mr. Harriman?" asked Mr. Severance.

"Yes," said Mr. Gould.

That ended his testimony. Mr. Gould started from the room, when some one suggested that he wait and get the $1.50 witness fee which was due him. But Mr. Gould said he was in a hurry and could not wait for the fee. He hastened out, leaving the lawyers laughing.

George E. Miles, who was private secretary to Collis P. Huntington up to the time of Mr. Huntington's death, was another witness yesterday. He said he could not recall ever having seen Mr. Harriman hold a long conversation with Mr. Huntington. Mr. Severance called the attention of Mr. Miles to the testimony of Otto H. Kahn, to the effect that because it was considered prejudicial to the Union Pacific to have hostile interests come into the Southern Pacific, Mr. Harriman made every endeavor during the last year or two of Mr. Huntington's life to arrange definite relations so as to assure for all time the permanence of relations between the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific, so far as the use of the Central Pacific line was concerned, even offering to Mr. Huntington to buy the Central Pacific provided it could be separated from the Southern Pacific.

"Did any such negotiations come to your attention?" asked Mr. Severance.

"No," replied Mr. Miles, "I never heard of them."

Mr. Miles said that his desk was next to that of Mr. Huntington, and that Mr. Harriman frequently went to the office. He said, so far as he knew, Mr. Harriman never discussed matters privately with Mr. Huntington.

The hearing will go on to-day.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE EXPANDS.

Opens a Larger Lunch Room to Accommodate Its Many Patrons.

The bequest of $10,000 to the New York Exchange for Woman's Work, 334 Madison Avenue, by Mrs. Jane Townsend has enabled the managers to open a new lunchroom. The old room had been too small to accommodate its patrons. By the purchase of an adjoining building belonging to the Farmington School Alumnae the necessary room has been obtained.

The Exchange is under the direction of a board of women, Mrs. William B. Lawrence, the President, taking the place of Mrs. William G. Choate, founder and honorary President. Mrs. Russell Sage long has been a member of the board. The lunchroom is under the direction of Mrs. John T. Terry.

Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, before her marriage, frequently visited the lunchroom to partake of corned beef hash, which she said no chef could make. Mrs. John Jacob Astor and Col. Astor also visited the lunchroom, while Chauncey M. Depew had a standing order for sponge cake, of which he was very fond. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont also is a patroness.

Women consignors have different specialties. One woman has made all the corned beef hash for years. She brought up and educated a family of children on the proceeds. Chicken jelly and chicken pies have supported two little old women.

The new lunchroom is finished in yellow and green, the linen is yellow, the china green and yellow, with a conventionalized sunflower design, and ferns are in the centre of each table.

GIVING THE CITY A FOUNTAIN.

Ceremonial Presentation Arranged by Woman's Health Association.

Arrangements for presentation to the city of a $5,000 pink Tennessee marble fountain was made by the Woman's Health Protective Association yesterday afternoon at its meeting in the Academy of Medicine. The fountain is to be placed at 116th Street and Riverside Drive, and will be presented on May 7, Mrs. Ralph Trautman, President of the association, making the presentation speech, and Park Commissioner Stover receiving the fountain in the name of the city.

All the city officials will be invited, and there will be a chorus of school children, led by a fife and drum corps of school boys, to sing "America" and other patriotic airs.

The fountain is a sanitary one, with three spouts of water, no drinking cups being required. There is a place for dogs to drink below. The design is in bas-relief, two female figures passing a cup of water. The sculptor is Louis Bruno Zimm. The presentation will be further celebrated by a banquet in the evening in the Boldt apartments of the Waldorf-Astoria, with many guests of honor, among them prominent physicians of the city. There will be a few speakers, and it is promised that the banquet will be long and the speeches short. The presentation of the fountain will celebrate the completion of twenty-five years of work for improved sanitary conditions by the association.

WAR ON DUMMY MUSICIANS.

Controller Would Oust Make-Believe Players from Park Bands.

Controller Prendergast has started a crusade against the employment of dummies in the bands which supply music in the public parks during the Summer months. Ex-Controller Metz and ex-Park Commissioner Smith discovered this practice last year.

The usual price "per head" for musicians is $5 for an afternoon, and it was learned that about a third of the men for whom the city was paying were not real musicians at all, but simply dummies, pretending to play their instruments.

The Controller has written to the President of the Musical Mutual Protective Union, asking him to co-operate with the Finance Department in eradicating the practice.

WILD THIEF CHASE THRILLS THE BRONX

Youth with Drawn Revolver Stands Off Pursuers Until Cornered on a Roof.

SEIZED A WOMAN'S PURSE

Pressed a Revolver to Woman's Chest and Demanded Her Money—Caught by Policeman's Quick Wit.

As Mrs. Minnie Michels of 925 Whitlock Avenue, the Bronx, was walking east in 163d Street toward Simpson Avenue at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with a considerable number of persons on either side of the street near her, a lanky youth who was passing her suddenly drew a revolver, pressed it against her chest, and announced:

"I want your money. If you scream, I'll shoot."

Then he grabbed a handbag that hung on her left arm, and, despite both her struggles and her screams, wrested it, with torn handle, from her and fled east in 163d Street.

Immediately several men who had heard the woman's screams and seen the struggle gave chase. Close at the fugitive's heels was J. C. Robinson of 850 Longwood Avenue, but just as he tried to grab him the youth wheeled and leveled his weapon at him. Robinson fell back. A little further on C. E. Dalarme, a driver for a dry goods store, jumped from his wagon and tried to catch the highwayman. The thief threatened him with his revolver, and Dalarme also fell back.

The two men joined a crowd of some hundred persons that had now taken up the pursuit, Mrs. Michels among them. For three blocks the thief ran fast. Then he seemed to grow winded and turned north on Southern Boulevard.

At 1,043 Southern Boulevard is the new four-story Areco apartment house. Into the front door ran the fugitive, flourishing his weapon to drive back the crowd which was only a few yards away. Then he ran up to the second floor, tried to brush by Mrs. David C. Reid into her flat, but was pushed out by her, despite his pleading that he had done no wrong, and that a mob was hunting him down. He turned again and fled, two steps at a time, to the roof.

Meanwhile Robinson, one of the pursuers, had called Policeman McLaughlin of the Morrisania Station, who was telephoning to the station from his post at Hoe and Westchester Avenues. McLaughlin sent in a call for the reserves, and then ran on with the crowd. He saw the fugitive run into 1,043 Southern Boulevard, but instead of following him, ran into 1,045, next door. The crowd jeered at him, shouting that he was afraid to follow the thief.

McLaughlin knew what he was about. He jumped into the elevator and ordered the elevator boy to carry him at full speed to the top floor. There he ran out, sprang through the scuttle, and out upon the roof. A moment later he saw the head of the fugitive bob through the scuttle of 1,043. In a moment he had grappled with the highwayman, knocked the revolver from his hand with his night stick, and got a tight hold of his arms, just as the thief reached into his hip pocket and drew a second revolver, fully loaded. Dalarme and Robinson, foremost of the pursuers, now reached the roof from the house at 1,043 and helped the policeman hold the prisoner until he could be handcuffed.

As the three made their way down to the street with their prisoner the crowd swelled by several hundred more from nearby apartment houses, and the reserves, who had just come up, broke into loud cheers. Many of them accompanied the policeman and his prisoner to the Morrisania station house, where he was locked up on a charge of highway robbery.

Mrs. Michels identified him as the man who had robbed her, and in his pockets was found $5.50 in the form of small change that she said she had carried in her handbag. The bag was found on the top floor of the apartment house from which the man jumped to the roof. The prisoner said he was William Smith, 19 years old, of 2,107 Arthur Avenue, the Bronx.

"I was hungry. I had not eaten for several days; and the woman looked so rich and prosperous that I thought she must have at least $300 in her purse," he said. He admitted that he had been arrested once before for carrying a blackjack.

At the address mentioned by the boy was found his mother, Mrs. Ellen Smith, a widow, who works as a janitress there. She said he had worked until a week ago in a tinfoil factory in East Twenty-second Street, but had lost his job. Before that he had worked as a messenger boy. He is her only child and her chief support. She said he had complained of feeling ill yesterday morning and said he was going to Crotona Park to rest. He had never been in any trouble before, she said. She thought the boy had eaten his meals as usual on the day before, but she sent him a basketful of supper to the station to make assurance doubly sure.

ALDERMEN NEAR FISTICUFFS.

Downing Resents Strictures by Tammany Members.

The weekly meeting of the Aldermen yesterday afternoon was enlivened by a discussion between Alderman Downing, (Rep.,) Brooklyn, and Aldermen Dowling and Walsh, (Tam.,) Manhattan, which looke dfor a while as if it might develop into fisticuffs. The trouble started over the presentation of a request from Commissioner of Charities Drummond for $340,000 to meet deficiencies.

"Why is it that the Commissioner is not here to explain this request?" asked Alderman Downing. "Are they afraid to come here nowadays and explain to what purposes they want to put the money they ask for?"

Alderman Dowling arose at once in defense of the request, and was followed by Alderman Walsh. Both were more or less personal in their remarks, and Downing replied:

"I'll not allow any dog to bark at me without kicking him, and I'll kick him good and hard, too. If any man thinks he can intimidate me he is mistaken. If there's any man here who thinks I haven't the manhood to stand by my opinions, let him step outside this room with me, and he'll find out."

President Mitchel hurriedly ordered the clerk to call the roll. Downing subsided and the money was voted. Seventy-four thousand six hundred dollars was appropriated to Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards to provide additional facilities for his department in the Bronx. The board approved the request of the Coroner of Richmond for $1,800 to pay for an automobile for his office.

Alderman Johnson, the minority leader, presented a request for $10,000 to enable the County Clerk to bring his marriage records up to date, reading a communication from Commissioner Porter of the State Department of Health which said that this matter should be attended to at once, but the Democrats voted it down.

Borough President McAneny received $16,000 for the purchase of seven automobiles for the various bureaus of his office, which was voted down last week.

FOR BETTER TRAIN SERVICE.

Final Schedules for Subway and Elevated Are Adopted.

The Public Service Commission issued its final order yesterday on the subject of the new Subway service. It provides in substance that the maximum service, which means express trains under 1 minute and 48 seconds headway, shall run during the entire rush hour period, and that in non-rush hours in the middle of the day there shall be an express service with a two-and-a-half-minute interval between trains. From 6:41 P. M. until midnight it is provided that the expresses shall run with not more than a three-minute interval.

The commission also adopted yesterday an order requiring increases in the service on elevated lines, adopting practically the schedule which General Manager Hedley of the Interborough offered to put in effect when the commission some time ago began an investigation of elevated service in general.

The new elevated schedule, according to Mr. Hedley, will give the maximum number of trains in rush hours and a seat for every passenger in non-rush hours.

BOYS GAG AND ROB WIDOW.

Overpower Her in Her House and Steal $1,000 in Money and Jewelry.

In Jersey City yesterday morning Mrs. Mary Walsh, a widow, was attacked by two boys, each about 18 years old, in her home, 16 Canal Street. She was bound and gagged and then robbed of $1,000 in cash and jewelry. She has a knife scar on her forehead over the left eye and on her right cheek, inflicted by one of the young bandits in her struggle with him.

To the police she said she identified one of the robbers as Felix Rutkowski, who lived in her house on the top floor. The other boy she does not know. She said the two boys knocked at her door, and when she opened it they overpowered her.

"They bound my legs and arms," she said, "and tore up a towel and forced pieces of it into my mouth. Then they tied a bandage around my face and carried me into a bedroom, where I lay while they stole my valuables. They remained in the house about two hours. When they left I managed to get free and crawled to a front window, where I called for help."

John McGarren of 22 Bright Street, who heard Mrs. Walsh's cries, went to her assistance and notified the police of the robbery.

The boys obtained $300 in bills, $50 in gold, several gold and silver watches, gold watch chains, pins and rings, and a diamond ring.

Mrs. Walsh, who is 40 years old, is the widow of John Walsh, once gate tender at the Pennsylvania Ferry entrance in Jersey City. He owned a half dozen houses, which she inherited. The police have found Rutkowski's picture in the Rogue's Gallery and expect to catch him soon.

GYPSY QUEEN ONCE A BALTIMORE GIRL

A. W. Habersham, "Queen Jessie's" Father, Admits She Ran Off to Join Band.

GONE NOW FOUR YEARS

Wrote Father She Yearned for Wild Gypsy Life and as Queen Was Happy and Contented.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, April 5.—A. W. Habersham, broker, of 111 McMechen Street, admitted to-day that a dispatch from St. Louis telling of his daughter Jessie's nomadic career as the wife of "King" Mitchell of the gypsy band encamped outside St. Louis, was true. He said that the girl, his eldest daughter, made her début in Baltimore society six years ago and disappeared two years later.

For nearly two years she left him in ignorance of her whereabouts, and although he searched everywhere, not a single trace of her could be found. At last a letter came from her saying that she had joined a gypsy tribe and, marrying the chief of the tribe, had become its queen, and was happy and contented in the life of the wandering fortune tellers, who knew no home but the wagon of the trail and no "shams of society." Letters have been exchanged ever since, and one from St. Louis, inclosing a piece of poetry, was received by the father several days ago.

Mr. Habersham said that years ago, when his daughter, then a child, was going to school at Saratoga Springs, she met the gypsies, became fascinated with their life, and from that time had no other desire than to lead their life and share their experiences.

It was while walking one day with two other school companions that Miss Habersham saw a gypsy caravan camped beside the road. The gypsy women were kind to the school girls and told them weird and interesting stories of their life and adventures. The girls went frequently after that to visit the camp. When the gypsies left Miss Habersham wanted to follow them, but the school teachers had heard of the gypsies and the girls were "kept in."

The girl was only 14 years old when she came home to her father and told him of the gypsies. She began at once the study of gypsy literature and language. She was sent to Mount St. Agnes College, where she sought the opportunity of learning of the Romany ways and manners. Having inherited a poet's appreciation of the beautiful from her father, who has written much verse, the girl told her friends that she sighed continually for the fields, the road, and the wandering of the gypsy life. Society, with its conventions and shallowness, stifled her, she said. Once, Mr. Habersham says, she ran away and was gone several days, but when she returned she would never tell where she had been. He believes now she had been to see the gypsies, with whom in some mysterious way she seemed to be in touch.

Again she left home suddenly and her father found that she had gone to Europe with a family who desired a companion for their children. On the boat coming home she met a Hindu who taught her to tell fortunes and interested her in the occult.

When she made her début six years ago her father says she told him that she cared little for society, and thought it much of a sham. She wanted to be free to roam.

Mr. Habersham has not seen his daughter since she left home. He was surprised to learn that she had told her history in St. Louis last night, for, he said that in all her wanderings all over the United States his daughter had never divulged her real identity. From her lost letter, however, he understood that there was some trouble in the tribe to which she belonged, and perhaps the secret came out in that way. Mr. Habersham often receives magazines containing stories of gypsy life written by his daughter.

Other relatives of the "Gypsy Queen" practically have cast her off from them. They feel that she has disgraced the family name, one of the oldest in the South, Habersham County, Ga., being called for relatives of Mr. Habersham in that State. She is a great-granddaughter of Francis Scott Key. Her father feels, however, that since his daughter has found happiness he should not grieve. He mourns her absence, but he rejoices in her contentment.

Several years ago one of Miss Habersham's former men friends met a camp of gypsies who were stopping near Blue Ridge Summit. The Gypsy Queen told the young man's fortune, and when he saw her he felt that he had solved the secret of her mysterious disappearance which had been puzzling her friends for so long. She denied that she was his former friend at first, but finally confessed and told him that she was delighted with her life, and that she would never return to the confining existence of the cities.

The former Miss Habersham was a beautiful girl with fair hair and a clear complexion. She was very clever and keen of perception, but her philosophies and theories were deeper than her friends could understand. Her mother died when she was a child.

CARNEGIE ON WAY HERE.

Leaves Pittsburg Looking Worn and Tired—Ill with Lumbago.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—Looking tired and worn, Andrew Carnegie, with his wife and daughter and several servants, left Pittsburg to-day for New York. Mr. Carnegie's associates said the ironmaster was slightly ill with an attack of lumbago and had nothing to add to his statements of last night. The Carnegies will sail for Scotland in the near future.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Andrew Carnegie has much sympathy for the cause of woman's suffrage.

"Pick for your wife the girl who takes care of her mother—the girl who is useful in the household and does not make the most show in the ballroom," counseled Mr. Carnegie to the young men at his technical schools yesterday.

"The highest work for woman is to help and encourage man. The Margaret Morrison Schools do more good than all the fight for women's rights," said Mrs. Carnegie in addressing the girls' department of the schools.

The steel master also gave the boys this epigrammatic counsel:

"Woman raises man to the highest standard. My mother and wife made me all I am. All depends upon the proper mating of man and woman.

"The ambition to become a millionaire is low. To be of service to your fellowman is the greatest ideal. Honest parentage is the most-valued heritage. Don't let money be your god.

"I don't expect to fly until natural wings sprout from my shoulders.

"It is good to develop the body as well as the mind."

CHARGED WITH GIVING TIPS.

Lawyer Said to Have Paid for Inside Hospital Information.

Jacob Klein, a lawyer of 56 East 120th Street, was arrested yesterday by detectives of the District Attorney's office, charged with a violation of the anti-tipping law.

Dr. Winfred H. Smith, Medical Superintendent of Bellevue Hospital, complained that lawyers were paying $10 tips to employes for information as to amputations and deaths of patients taken to the hospital after street accidents.

Frank C. Groves, one of the clerks in the hospital, gave the testimony that led to the arrest of Klein, who was held for examination by Magistrate Butts, in the Tombs Court.

CUSTOMS RUMMAGE SALE.

No Bids for Picture Sent Here for Mrs. Vanderbilt's Approval.

The annual Spring sale of unclaimed and seized customs goods was held yesterday by order of Collector Loeb in the United States Appraiser's warehouse, at Christopher and Washington Streets, and comprised articles from all parts of the world, from religious tracts printed in Siamese to goat bells. The prices ranged from 35 cents to $100.

Some of the buyers obtained apparent bargains, while others paid higher than the foreign cost with the duty added.

Three pieces of earthenware and tile, said to be more than 100 years old, were valued at $154, and purchased for $50. One woman bought 98 cans of tomatoes for $5 and a gold wedding ring for $3. A painting addressed to Mrs. Alice G. Vanderbilt, widow of Cornelius Vanderbilt, which was said to have been painted by an American artist in Paris and sent over for her approval, was valued by the appraiser at $33. The painting represents a child playing with a dog and cat on a couch. It was not sold.

LARGE CORPORATIONS PAYING MORE WAGES

Railroads and Other Concerns Make Voluntary Concessions in View of Prosperity.

MARCH GOOD FOR WORKERS

Pay Began Going Up the First of February and Many Companies Have Since Followed the Leaders.

Records of the last few weeks show a large increase, mostly voluntary, in the payrolls of the railroad companies and other corporations which employ a goodly percentage of the labor in this country. While some advances in pay are the result of the demands of employes, the greater part has been unsolicited, the officials explaining that the raise was due to "the return of prosperity and the increased high cost of living."

Here is a partial list of the companies who have increased their wage scales, and of the number of men affected by the raise:

Jan. 30.—Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, 2,000 shopmen, an increase in pay of 5 and 10 cents an hour.

Feb. 11.—Iron League Erectors' Association, 5,000 housesmiths increase, 30 cents a day and promise of another 20 cents a day increase on July 1.

March 1.—Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, 1,500 telegraphers, increase of 8 per cent. in wages.

March 12.—United Power and Transportation Company, controlling the electric lines in Reading, Penn.; Trenton, N. J.; Wilmington, Del., and Norristown, Lebanon, and Chester, Penn., 2,000 motormen and conductors, increase from 18 cents an hour to 23 cents an hour.

March 28.—New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, practically all the employes affected by raise, increase involving $500,000 a year in wages.

March 28.—Western Maryland Railroad Company, 200 locomotive engineers, increase of 8 per cent. in wages.

March 28.—Big Four Railway Company, large number of telegraphers, increase involved an additional expenditure of $3,400 a month for wages.

March 29.—Pennsylvania Railroad Company, 195,000 men, increase of 6 per cent. in wages, involving an additional expenditure on wages annually of $10,000,000.

March 30.—Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company, 37,000 men, including all its employes receiving less than $300 a month, increase of 6 per cent. in wages.

April 1.—Consolidation Coal Company and others, 37,000 coal miners in Indiana, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania, 5 per cent. raise, meaning an increase of $20,000 a week in salaries.

April 1.—New York Central Railroad Company, 58,000 men receiving $200 a month or less, an increase of 7 per cent.

April 1.—Boston & Albany Railroad Company, all employes receiving $200 or less a month, increase of 7 per cent.

April 1.—Parlin & Orendorff Company, Canton, Ill., 2,000 employes receive a 10 per cent. increase in their wages.

April 5.—American Sugar Refining Company, all employes receive an increase in wages amounting to from 5 to 10 per cent.

The railroad companies were the first to recognize the expediency of a general increase of pay, and other concerns seem to have been impressed with the same idea.

BUILDING STRIKE SPREADS.

Reports Indicate Its Extension to New Jersey and Long Island Towns.

Reports received last night from several New Jersey and Long Island towns indicated that the strike in the building trades is spreading beyond this city. In Elizabeth, N. J., a general building trades strike was called yesterday as the opening gun of a warfare against the open shop. Two hundred men responded, all of them employed on jobs where non-union men were working. The employers have been served with an ultimatum that they must discharge all non-union men, and they have replied that they will fight the unions to the last and continue to employ whom they wish.

In Glen Cove 300 carpenters quit work. When twenty non-union men were brought in to take their places on one important job the union men offered them each a day's pay and train fare back to New York. All but five accepted. The union includes carpenters of Oyster Bay, Roslyn, Sea Cliff, and Glen Cove, and it demands a raise from $21 to $22 for a six-day week, with half-holidays on Saturdays.

The Emergency Value of the Telephone

By permission we reprint the following from a letter recently received from one of our telephone subscribers:

"We are unfortunate enough at present to have our little boy down with scarlet fever, and, as a result, my wife is completely shut off from all communication with her friends and shopkeepers, etc., except for her telephone.

"Without the telephone my wife would certainly be at her wit's end in maintaining the absolutely necessary communication with the outside world.

"With a telephone not only is she able to receive sympathy and encouragement from our friends, but she is able to obtain service from all the shopkeepers.

"This may sound commonplace, yet it is a fact that it is the telephone which has made bearable the trying conditions which come with scarlet fever.

"Without a telephone, conditions would have resembled largely General Sherman's description of war."

By the way, have you a Residence Telephone?

NOTABLES OPEN THE FRENCH FAIR

Vice President Sherman, Ambassador Jusserand, and Mayor Gaynor Praise the Work.

OPERA HOUSE TRANSFORMED

All Sorts of Devices to Tempt the Charitable Erected in the Metropolitan —Taft Unable to Come.

The French Hospital Fair, which 800 women and 300 men have been working on for days, opened for a week's run last night at the Metropolitan Opera House. All those 1,100, and, seemingly, some 5,000 more, were in the house at 9 o'clock, when the fair was formally opened. Not all those who are looking after it are French, practically every nationality being represented, but there is such a preponderance of Frenchwomen in French clothes that it is hard for the outsider to think much about charity and impossible for him to keep his money.

What is the fair for? The French Benevolent Society, which is celebrating its centenary, is obtaining a fund of some $250,000 to build an asylum for the aged poor and a home for the trained nurses who care for the sick and infirm at the French Hospital in Thirty-fourth Street. This fund was started by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tuck of Paris and New York, who gave $20,000 at first, and who added $5,000 more last night.

M. Jules Weber, Treasurer of the society, collected $10,000 for the programme advertising, and other donations were made bringing the total amount raised up to date to $60,000. It is expected to net an equal amount from the fair, and with that work can be begun on the home for the aged poor. Thomas F. Ryan gave $1,000, Robert Lebaudy $10,000, and Otto Kahn $500.

Vice President Sherman, the French Ambassador to Washington, Jules Jusserand, and Mayor Gaynor opened the fair last night. Ambassador Jusserand said that it was a solemn occasion, in spite of the beautiful dresses, and he explained at length and satisfactorily how that could be. He complimented the growth of the French colony in New York in the last 100 years. It now has a French steamship line, a French Chamber of Commerce, a French diplomatic corps, and a society of French professors. He was proud of New York's French colony, he said.

Ambassador Jusserand read this letter of regret which President Taft had written to President Jouvaud of the French Benevolent Society:

> My Dear Mr. Jouvaud:
>
> I greatly regret that my engagements will prevent my being in New York on the days when you have your charity bazaar for the purpose of aiding your hospital. I understand that this is to be the centennial celebration of the foundation of the society, and I am glad to congratulate you and your associate members on the great good which you have done in the past, on the enterprise which you have shown in the erection of your beautiful building, and on the good which is certainly foreshadowed as your work in the future. Strangers coming from France to this country must find the accommodations and assistance which you offer them of the utmost value, and the number of your countrymen whom you have received at your hospital and dispensary shows the great extent of the happiness and relief which you furnish.
>
> I am very sure that you enter upon the second hundred years of your life with the certainty of a great field of usefulness which you can fill, and which will earn for you the gratitude of thousands of your countrymen.
>
> With the warmest expressions of my appreciation and good will, believe me, Sir,
>
> Most sincerely yours,
>
> WILLIAM H. TAFT.
>
> Mr. Jouvaud, President French Benevolent Society, 450 West Thirty-fourth Street, New York.

Vice President Sherman, after telling how glad he was to be there, prophesied that in another one hundred years the society's centenary celebration would have to be held in Central Park, if enough room was to be had. He referred gratefully to the French for the assistance it gave this country something over a hundred years ago, when help was hard to get an[illegible] valuable.

At that moment he noticed out in front of the stage from which he was talking a race-horse machine, such as is used at Monte Carlo, the wheel-turner being Mme. J. A. Frabasilis, a niece of Napoleon III.

"I am told," went on Vice President Sherman, "that his Honor the Governor will be here to-morrow night, and I would advise the lady to take the horses off early to-morrow night."

Mayor Gaynor, looking out over the audience at the multitude of red French caps, said that he had no idea there were so many French folk in the city.

"Where do you all stay?" he asked. "I never notice that you get in trouble. We have Italians and we hear from them; they give us trouble. The English give us trouble. The Jews give us a little trouble, too, but no one ever hears of the French in trouble. Who ever heard of a Frenchman being arrested here?

"They say that Paris is a great, wicked city. I have been over there two or three times, but I did not notice any wickedness. I don't know about Paris, but here you are the quietest people on our piece of earth."

With that the Mayor declared the fair to be formally opened and ready for business, whereupon he and his two fellow-guests came down the steps and among the chance sellers, passing the race horse table. Mme. Frabasilis made no promises about to-morrow night.

It costs only 50 cents to get into the French Fair. What is spent after that depends only upon two things—chance and the size of the bank roll. And one of these two may be eliminated in most cases, to wit—chance. Still everybody seemed happy last night.

Some of the dangers to be met with may be noted, though a blind, simple trust in Providence will be most helpful once a person loving charity gets inside the doors of the Metropolitan Opera House. There are twenty-six booths. The attendants at eleven of these will be in the costumes of their countries—Russia, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, England, Canada, Mexico, Belgium, Holland, Japan, and Alsace-Lorraine. The other nineteen booths are not less effective for lack of special costumes; their attendants have on the costumes of Paris.

Nearly all who serve the French Fair offer chances on something or other. One of the most startling raffles is the offer of the famous French artist, François Flameng, to paint the portrait of the lucky winner. Such is his reputation that Knoedler & Co. have offered to pay $4,000 for the portrait when it is completed if the sitter doesn't want it.

Another raffle is that of the largest collection of Sevres ware that ever left France and came into America. There are eighteen pieces in all, given to the fair by the French Government from it's own works. President Fallières of France also presented to the fair the well-known statue "Maternity," by Dalou. A landscape in oils by Cullen Yates, A. N. A., will also be disposed of, besides a number of other works of art of all kinds, including silverware, china, cut glass, bronzes, and brasses.

Furthermore, there is a $2,000 thirty horse power automobile, and it will also be raffled in the week.

There are places for more or less solid refreshment, a soda fountain, tea and coffee booths, a table where you can take a chance on a ticket to and from Europe, a millinery booth where many Chantecler hats are being shown, along with a live rooster to attest their truth to nature, and tents where one can have his fortune told and be altogether happy, no matter what the fates say about his future; and on the way from booth to booth the free lances in the field make the passage hazardous and delightful.

Pavlowa and Mordkin, the Russian dancers, were present last night and danced; Miss Mary Desmond of the Manhattan Opera Company and Miss Juliette Lippe sang, and the Old Guard Band did its part in the gallery. There will be different special attractions of this sort all week, and at the end all the things that haven't been sold or raffled in the regular way will be auctioned off.

Will Take $50,000 for Lost Husband.

Mrs. Agnes Hendrick, the former wife of Dr. C. C. Hendrick, who obtained a verdict for $75,000 in a suit against Laura Biggar, the actress, for alienating the affections of her husband, agreed yesterday to accept $50,000 as a settlement instead of the amount named in the verdict. She sued for $100,000.

TIMES SQUARE STEEPLE JACK.

Interested Crowd Sees Knickerbocker Flagpoles Get a Spring Cleaning.

Almost every one who passed through Times Square yesterday afternoon paused for a minute or two to watch a steeple jack who had been swung out of one of the upper stories of the Knickerbocker Hotel. When the crowd first saw him the steeple jack was being helped carefully over the Knickerbocker's tenth-story coping, more than 100 feet above the sidewalk. A fall would have landed him on the stone and metal canopy over the Knickerbocker's Forty-second Street entrance.

Suspended from the small boatswain's chair on which the steeple jack sat was a bespattered paint pot, and every one in the square knew that he must be going to paint something.

The steeple jack let himself be lowered very slowly until he was on a level with the fifth floor of the Knickerbocker. He had sat very still all the time he was being lowered. But no sooner did he reach the fifth-floor level than he became suddenly active. He grasped one of the Knickerbocker's two Winter-grimed flagpoles and began energetically to push his little swing out alongside the pole toward the golden ball at the end, some thirty feet out over the street. Of course, the further away from the hotel's wall the steeple jack worked himself the more powerfully the force of gravity tended to swing him and his little perch back against the wall again. When he reached the golden ball he fastened his swing to the pole with a double slipknot. Then he was able to give his attention freely to painting, and he did this so vigorously that the white drops flew this way and that down on the heads of the crowd. As soon as he had painted the end of the pole he loosened the slipknot, and, after letting himself slide back three or four feet toward the base of the flagpole resumed his painting. By repeating the trick several times he had painted the entire pole in less than half an hour.

DOWLING NOW REGRETS.

Alderman Says He's Sorry for Cook Laudation, but Wants Printer Paid.

Alderman Dowling presented a resolution to the board yesterday for the payment of the bill for $275 for the engraving and embossing of the document given Dr. Frederick A. Cook when the board gave its reception to him.

"I, with Alderman Walsh and President McGowan, led in honoring Dr. Cook, and I make public confession of it," said he. "Cook has the key to the city, wherever he is, but the man who engrossed our well-worded laudation of the Doctor, where does he come in? I would like to see him paid. We owe him the money and what is the use of compelling him to go to law to collect it?"

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

BURNHAM LEASES WALLACK'S.

Manager of Theatre Will Continue Present Policy of the House.

It was announced last night that Charles Burnham had obtained the lease of Wallack's Theatre, where he has been so long house manager, and that contracts between him and Royal E. Moss, administrator of the estate, were signed yesterday afternoon. The future policy of the house will be the same as heretofore, booking the best attractions available.

Mr. Burnham has been connected with Wallack's Theatre and affiliated interests for twenty-five years, and during that time has practically been the manager. He first became connected with Theodore Moss at the old Star Theatre in 1886. In 1895 he went to Wallack's Theatre when the name of the house was changed from Palmer's to Wallack's. Besides being President of the Theatre Managers' Association, he is general manager of the Actors' Fund Fair.

He stated last night that the opening attraction at the theatre next season—the first booked at the house upon its coming under his complete control—would be "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the current attraction there.

PAULINE CHASE COMING HERE.

Will Stay a Few Hours and Auction Photographs at Actors' Fair.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 5.—Pauline Chase sails for New York on May 4 on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, staying a few hours for the purpose of attending the Actors' Fund Fair, and returning by the Mauretania on May 11. She will take along photographs and autographs of leading English actors and authors, which she intends auctioning for the benefit of the fund.

Miss Chase is compelled to return immediately to fulfill an engagement here.

ERLANGER SAILS FOR LONDON.

With Joseph Brooks and William Harris to See Several Plays.

A. L. Erlanger of the firm of Klaw & Erlanger, Joseph Brooks, and William Harris sailed for London yesterday on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. They will be abroad seventeen days, visiting Paris, Vienna, and Berlin, and witnessing the performances of several plays.

They expect to close several theatrical deals before returning to America.

George Riddle to Stage "Antigone."

The arrangements for the revival of Sophocles's tragedy "Antigone," which Margaret Anglin will play at the Greek Theatre, Berkeley, Cal., next Summer, have been placed in the hands of George Riddle of Cambridge, Mass. He is known as an authority on the Greek classical drama and was responsible for the production of "Agamemnon" given by the students at Harvard, and for the production of "Medea" at Bryn Mawr College. He acted in the first revival of "Oedipus the King" thta was given in America about twenty-five years ago.

Stage Hands Rehearse "The Lottery Man."

The first rehearsal of the stage hands who are to give a performance of "The Lottery Man" for the benefit of the Actors' Fund was held on the stage of the Bijou Theatre yesterday. The cast will be composed chiefly of the stage hands at the Bijou, but "grips" from other theatres will be invited to participate by giving specialties between the acts. Harry Hatfield, stage manager of "The Lottery Man" company, will have charge of the rehearsals.

Elect 2 Metropolitan Opera Directors.

At a recent meeting of the Directors of the Metropolitan Opera House and Real Estate Company George Henry Warren was elected a Director to succeed the late D. O. Mills, and George G. Haven, Jr., was elected to succeed the late H. McK. Twombly. Mr. Haven's father was President of the opera house company from the date of its organization to the time of his death.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Edith Wynne Matthison, Annie Russell, Harriet Otis Delenbaugh, Charles Rann Kennedy, William C. De Mille and Franklin Sargent are among the patrons of the entertainment for children to be given at the Belasco Theatre next Friday afternoon. Miss Grace Fisher is directing rehearsals of the fairy plays to be given.

Mrs. Mary A. Tayleure, one of the oldest guests at the Actors' Fund Home on Staten Island, has presented the officers of the Actors' Fund Fair with a pearl girdle that once belonged to Helen Fawcett, the tragedienne. It will be auctioned off at the fair.

A special professional matinee of "The Whirlwind" will be given at Daly's Theatre Friday afternoon for the benefit of the Actors' Fund.

In the cast that will present "Elektra" at the Berkeley Theatre next Monday night will be Fenelope Duncan, Eleni Sikeliance, who is said to be one of the best known actresses of Greece, and Dionvsos Devaris of the New Theatre, Athens.

C. B. Clarence, who was recently seen here with Maxine Elliott in "The Inferior Sex," has been engaged by Olga Nethersole for her New York engagement at the Academy of Music, which will begin on April 18. She will devote the entire first week to a revival of "Sapho."

CALLS THE CHURCHES COLD STORAGE PLANTS

The Rev. Charles A. Eaton Says They Fail to Teach the Truths That People Need Most.

WOULD EMULATE TRUSTS

They Are the Finest Force That Ever Came Into the World, He Tells Congregation.

The Rev. Charles A. Eaton told an audience in his study at the Madison Avenue Baptist Church last night that the modern house of worship was nothing less than a cold storage plant with a steeple at one end. The present church, he said, was out of joint with the times, and was a failure, because it was messageless and was failing to teach the people the truths of which they stood in the greatest need.

"Let us redeem the church," he said, "by teaching it to do as the trusts have done—to do big things on a broad basis; it has failed because it has not done as the trusts have. They are the finest force that ever came into the life of the world, and far be it from me to say that they should go. They should not. But more and more our modern social and religious life should get on the same 'big unit' basis that they are. Then and only then will the trusts become a blessing and begin to render to all men the service of economy and profit they now render to their stockholders and their officers."

The Rev. Mr. Eaton called his talk "The Coming Crisis in America." He said that this crisis was approaching through the fact that the common man in this country was conscious that he was being robbed and abused and mistreated by the Government and certain forms of business, and that this man had as many votes in his back alley as the gentleman he is beginning to hate had upon the avenue. The problem, as he saw it, was not whether there was going to be speedy evolution in the Government and reform in the tariff, but whether this would come by evolution fast enough to stave off revolution and expensive bloodshed through revolt.

President Taft, he said, was being used as a football by certain interests who could do much to force the inevitable progress into bloody channels, while Roosevelt, he said, was the greatest man who had lived since Lincoln, and Mayor Gaynor was another of the same calibre.

What Taft lacked, he said, was the great Rooseveltian gift of prophetic insight into what the people were thinking and what their needs were, and the power to voice these needs in concrete messages to the world. In spite of all his recognized powers of conciliation, and his desire to calm troubled waters he did not think Taft was enjoying riding the elephant up and down Pennsylvania Avenue however much he might felicitate himself upon skimming over the prairies in his private car and eating 'possum with the folks down South. For Taft, however, he bespoke forbearance for yet a little while and support instead of a frenzied arraignment steeped in personal abuse.

He recalled the days a year ago when the people were wild with joy because they had at last a safe, sane, balanced judicial President, instead of a broncho riding, spectacled, war-whooping rough rider, or a loose tongued, wild-eyed Silverite, and said it ill became these people now as calm judges to be turning a fierce invective toward the judicial man who was only one-fourth through his term.

"I still hope," he said, "that Taft will be roused to the core over some of the issues confronting him, and will show us what in his militant mood he is capable of doing."

He told the young folks who responded to his first call for a Tuesday evening talk that he had long considered leaving the Church entirely, because of the serious plight into which it had fallen, but after long consideration he had decided that the modern minister must be revitalized and must become a deep student of our social and economic and industrial life, and that from now on he proposed to talk politics, to talk tariff, and to discuss political leaders. In talking thus to young men he said he thought he could help them to an understanding of problems that would equip them to grapple with the tasks of the modern citizen.

"For the citizen's tasks, like the preacher's, are changing," he said, "with the world of transportation and trusts and lobbies and machines with which we are beset."

"The poor are asking questions. They are spurred to it by this higher cost of living. Why, up in New England where I was a boy the life of that country depended on raw material, and her granite plains did not produce it. I foresaw the day when we would need Canadian coal and Canadian products. I preached that there before my day, and they did not listen.

"New England is going to get access to Canada's coal, no matter what the South and West have to say, and it is time for Congress to be getting informed of that fact before the expensive, rather than the cheaper, way of gaining that access, is adopted. There's going to be some enormous changes in the tariff very soon. Of course they'll unsettle business and make hard times, and there will be enormous mistakes made, but they will be made nevertheless, and in the end the tariff will serve the people, and will cease to exploit them.

"And there's where the new religion will come in. To the problem of the trusts and the problem of the tariff there's a moral side. Religious men must learn that side and teach it to the people. This is the Church's new duty. I'm not a Socialist because I believe they work contrary to the law of nature. But I do say that with a church that is properly alive the power of the social chill can be made such that the trusts will every one of them turn their great machinery to the common good. The court of last resort in this country is the moral consciousness of the people, and over that the power of the Church can dominate if only the Church will wake up and lead the people's thought instead of hiding away from life and creeping along in the rear."

The decoration of the tablet and arrangement of the inscription will be under the direction of Homer Lee, Vice President of the Ohio Company of Associates of New York.

Mr. Lee has made arrangements to have a similar inscription hung beneath the commemorative tablet at Marietta which was unveiled by Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth amid elaborate ceremonies on Oct. 18, 1906, and inscriptions of similar import hung at the State Houses on other public buildings at Boston, Hartford, Providence, Rutland, and Danvers, the home towns of the original Associates, and to have the event further commemorated in those towns by the flying of flags and other appropriate ceremonies.

HIS MISSION TO KILL BOYS.

Insane Man Says So in Court—Did He Kill Shibley Boy?

Magistrate Corrigan, who sat in Night Court last night, declared that Joseph Armstrong, an insane prisoner, arraigned before him for assaulting a boy at First Avenue and Fourteenth Street, bore a greater resemblance to the description of the murderer of the Shibley and Lomas boys at Washington Heights than Herbert Dennison, and that he would order an investigation. He committed Armstrong, who gave his address as 311 East Ninth Street, to Bellevue Hospital.

Armstrong created a disturbance in the court, where he was brought by Officer Byrnes of the East Twenty-second Street Police Station. Magistrate Corrigan asked him:

"Why did you attack this boy?"

"I wanted to kill him," Armstrong replied.

"Why did you want to kill him?" the Magistrate asked.

"Because I wanted to do justice to mankind. Mankind has suffered thousands of years, and I have been sent to relieve their sufferings. My mission is to kill all boys."

When Magistrate Corrigan ordered his commitment to Bellevue Hospital, Armstrong raved. He tore loose from the court attendants and tried to escape from the courtroom. He was subdued with difficulty.

PUP AROUSES HOTEL PATRONS

Fox-Terrier Rescued by Engineer from St. Regis Airshaft.

Patrons of the St. Regis were awakened early yesterday morning by the yelps of a fox terrier, which had fallen into an airshaft back of the hotel. This shaft is fifteen feet deep from the lowest window.

The dog was rescued by Chief Engineer Harkness, who descended into the well on a ladder, while the patrons gathered at their windows. All petted the dog when it was taken to the lobby, trembling with fright and hunger.

It is believed that boys threw the dog into the enclosure during the night. The dog is marked with black spots, and wears a brass collar. Engineer Harkness is caring for it until its owner appears.

Hotel Proprietors in New Places.

Leland Sterry arrived at the Plaza yesterday from Palm Beach to complete arrangements for taking over the Hotel Buckingham, which passes into his hands on May 1. He will begin alterations as soon as he takes formal possession. Charles L. Wetherbee, who, in partnership with William R. Wood, has been in charge of the Buckingham for twenty years, will go to the Gotham, which is now run under the old partnership of Wetherbee & Wood. Manager McGoldrick, who has been associated with the Buckingham for nearly a quarter of a century, will go to the Gotham.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS DISCUSSED AT ALBANY

Hearing Brings Out Big Crowd of Advocates and Opponents of Gov. Hughes's Plan.

INQUIRY CALLED PREJUDICED

Committee That Drew Meade-Phillips Bill Said to Have Barred Testimony Favorable to the Direct System.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 5.—For several hours this afternoon advocates and opponents of direct primaries voiced their divergent views before the Judiciary Committees of the Senate and Assembly. All the principal primary reform bills were up for discussion. They included the Hinman-Green bill, embodying the Governor's views; the Meade-Phillips bill, which has the indorsement of the Republican bosses, and the Grady-Frisbie bill, which was introduced at the behest of the Democratic League.

As the joint committee was called to order in the Senate chamber the growth of the direct primaries idea throughout the State was apparent from the large delegations that had come to advocate the passage of the Governor's bill. In addition to delegations from New York City there were representatives of the Direct Primaries Association of the State, from more than a score of the rural counties, where the Republican machine is strong. Genesee and Livingston, the home of Speaker Wadsworth, the most conspicuous opponent of direct nominations, were represented, and so was Jefferson County, where Majority Leader Cobb of the Senate lives. Mr. Cobb has made it plain to his friends that he is going to vote against the Governor's bill.

The principal speakers were ex-Judge William H. Wadhams, President of the Direct Primaries Association; ex-Justice D Cady Herrick, who advocated the passage of the Grady-Frisbie bill; Senator Frederick M. Davenport of Oneida, and Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York City.

Senator Davenport caused a mild sensation by reading letters from the Middle West which indicated that the legislative committee that investigated the subject of direct primaries during the Summer months and took testimony in several States where the system has been installed, had sought the views chiefly of persons opposed to the system.

Wadhams for Hinman-Green Bill.

The first speaker was ex-Judge Wadhams. He used the recent bribery investigation in the Senate to emphasize the demand for the passage of the Hinman-Green Direct Nominations bill.

"I believe that in acting as it did the Senate showed a determination to punish wrongdoing," Mr. Wadhams said. "But more than that is expected of this body. It is not enough to let in the light and to clean house. You must see that the house is kept clean. Conditions found here are due to 'the system.' This is no time for temporizing or for half-way measures."

Mr. Wadhams said the Meade-Phillips bill was a mere mask and pretense.

"It is along the lines of a bill vetoed by Gov. Hughes three years ago, and to put it forward now does not meet the situation," Mr. Wadhams said. "Then there is another bill, the Grady-Frisbie measure, which is more of a campaign document than a legislative bill. It is unworkable and ridiculous."

Darwin R. James, President of the Brooklyn Young Republican Club, informed the committee that a delegation of twenty-five of the Brooklyn club was present to urge favorable action on the Hinman-Green bill.

The sentiment of the east side was expressed by Dr. Henry Moskowitz, representing the Citizens' Union of New York.

"During the last few years," he said, "the bosses of both parties have thrust upon the citizenship of the lower east side men for high judicial honors whose records were notoriously bad, and who were unfit for their positions. Immigrants come before Justices, who administer justice through the back door—the hirelings of bosses, who send their cards and ask that the Judges favor their friends. These friends are favored by the Judges because they themselves are the creatures of the bosses. This is the effect of the present organization of political parties."

The enactment of the Hinman-Green bill, he said, would bring about a fundamental change in the machinery of the parties which would attract clean and independent young men to public life.

Charges Committee Was Prejudiced.

Senator Frederick M. Davenport, who, with Gov. Hughes, took the stump in last Fall's campaign in favor of direct nominations, read letters to show that the special legislative commitee which investigated the primary question last Summer was prejudiced. He quoted Prof. Ernest C. Myer of Wisconsin University as follows:

> I want to say that I do not know one individual, whether exponent or opponent of direct nominations, who believes that the committee was unbiased and impartial in its investigation in this State.

James A. Fear, Secretary of State of Wisconsin, wrote as follows to Mr. Davenport:

> You can put me down as saying that Mr. Beck, the Labor Commissioner of Wisconsin, prepared data on the subject of the primary at the request of the advance agent of the committee, and that Judge Knapp, the committee's counsel, after examination, said that it was of no value to the committee. Their evident prejudice was so marked that no man would ever have been willing to submit the primary cause to such a jury.

Commissioner Beck, speaking of the same committee in another letter, said:

> It assumes the attitude of a district attorney who is bent on making a name for himself by sending a man over the road regardless of his innocence.

Argument of Rabbi Wise.

One of the most eloquent advocates of the Hinman-Green bill was Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, who as he spoke held in his hand a copy of the Meade-Phillips report. He said:

"When I read this report I was forcibly reminded of a remark of Sir Leslie Stephens. He said that if two and two persist in making four, why just stop putting them together. In other words, if an inference is disagreeable, don't draw it.

"I have heard several arguments against the Hinman-Green bill this afternoon. One was that the bill did not give direct nominations. Another was that it did give direct nominations. Another man said—I think it was Judge Herrick—'while I favor direct nominations I want the fewest possible number of them.'

"The real objection to this Hinman-Green bill, gentlemen, is that it abolishes the representative convention system. But how can it abolish that? It can't. That was abolished long ago. We are not children. Who smashes the slates that we have heard so much about this afternoon? Do 1,000 delegates to the State Convention? Oh, no. They merely hear it smashed. Tim or Pat or Charley sit amid their cohorts and decide. Sometimes they pay a little attention to the voice of the people, if it is loud enough an dinsistent enough, but not often.

"We are seriously told here, gentlemen, what a crime it is that 31 per cent. of the electorate nominated a United States Senator. Why, I have known a Governor of this State to be nominated by one man¼ Far from abolishing the representative system, the Hinman-Green bill will restore it. We want to compel the men who control our political parties to give us clean, decent tickets from top to bottom. A decent Governor at the head of the ticket is not enough."

Herrick Favors Conventions.

Ex-Justice D Cady Herrick was the sole advocate before the commitee of the Democratic League's direct primary plan, which is incorporated in the Grady-Frisbie bill. It exempts New York City and applies only to political divisions not larger than a county. Mr. Herrick said:

"The Governor's plan is not a convention plan or a direct nominations plan. It is a cross between the two. It is true that the convention is often controlled by a boss, but it is also true that the word does not come from the boss until he has sounded the sentiment of the people represented by the delegates to the convention. I know of my own knowledge that a slate which was good on the first day of a convention has been entirely wiped out after the feeling of the party had been expressed by the delegates.

"All bosses and machines have a certain amount of intelligence and they listen to the delegates, although the latter are willing to do the bidding of the bosses."

Mr. Herrick advocated the retention of the convention method of nominating candidates for all large political divisions.

One of the most ardent advocates of the retention of the principle of the present primary law, with legislation to make it more effective and expressive of party sentiment, was Joseph Levenson, a Republican district leader in New York. He said he represented no one's views but his own.

"If the Hinman-Green bill were enacted," he said, "Democrats would enroll as Republicans in strong Democratic districts and thus control the party committees and the Republican nominations in those districts. The Tammany organization is strong in from twenty-five to twenty-seven districts in New York, and this scheme would work to Tammany's advantage in those districts.

"You may abuse the bosses and leaders, say what you will, but I, as a poor, common, despised political boss, in love with my party, protest as vehemently as I can against a primary plan that will wipe out my party in New York.

"If you permit a State Committee of 150 members to name a ticket, and if that ticket has opposition, a poor man's position on that ticket is impossible. The man with the money to spend at the primary will win. I favor a continuance of the convention and of common sense. I want an official ballot and I want the primary as honest as it can be made."

Pittsburg a Horrible Example.

Ex-Judge Walter H. Knapp of Canandaigua, who was counsel for the special committee which prepared the Meade-Phillips bill, explained the weakness of various direct primary systems which the committee examined.

"We visited Pittsburg, where they have direct primaries for offices below the State ticket," Mr. Knapp said. "Every Alderman indicted or accused in the boodle cases in that city was nominated under the direct nominations system. Gov. Stubbs of Kansas told me that not one man who had opposed him at the primary had been appointed to office. Senator Stevenson of Wisconsin was returned to the Senate by 31 per cent. of the Republican vote, and it cost him and the others in that campaign a third of a million of dollars.

"The trouble in this State is not in the nomination of candidates. We need a deeper consciousness and appreciation of right and wrong."

Senator Davis said to-night that the measures might be considered by the Senate Judiciary Committee at its executive meeting to-morrow. Jesse S. Phillips, Chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee, said the primary question would probably be taken up at next week's meting of that committee.

FOR EXEMPTING CITY BONDS.

Bill Presented at Albany to Carry Out Constitutional Provision.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 5.—Provision to carry out the plan of excluding self-sustaining bonds from New York City's indebtedness, under the constitutional amendment adopted last Fall, is made in bills introduced to-day by Senator Brough and Assemblyman Shortt.

The bill authorizes the Board of Estimate to determine the self-sustaining quality of the securities upon a certificate of the Controller. After the determination the Board of Estimate and Apportionment is to apply to the Appellate Division for an ex-parte order determining the amount of bonds to be excluded from the debt limit. Upon application of the same board, the court may modify or vacate the order at any later time.

Those who have undertaken the task of legislating on the subject of the debt limit realize that there must be ample safeguards, in order that the legislation may withstand attacks in the courts.

LIMITS FRANCHISE TAX LAW.

Court of Appeals Reverses Decision in New York City Cases.

ALBANY, April 5.—The Court of Appeals, in a decision to-day, holds that the franchise tax law does not authorize a tax of three-quarters of a mill upon the par value of capital stock employed in this State, as against corporations which pay no dividends or whose assets do not exceed their liabilities, exclusive of capital stock, or whose stock has not been sold within a year at an average price equal to or exceeding its par value.

The court reverses the orders of the Appellate Division in the actions of the people ex rel. Fifth Avenue Realty Company vs. the State Controller and People ex rel. New York Mail and Newspaper Transportation Company vs. the State Controller. The proceedings are remitted to the Controller for reassessment of the tax.

FERRY PILOTS DECIDE NOT TO GO ON STRIKE

Tugboat Men Say They Will Win Their Fight Without Outside Assistance.

LONGSHOREMEN MAY GO OUT

Whole Waterfront May Be Involved in Struggle—Pilot Corrects the Union's Assertions.

There will be no strike of the ferry pilots, it was stated at the headquarters of the Masters' and Pilots' Association yesterday. Further information was denied, and it was stated that the officers were too busy to be seen. A typewritten statement given out by Capt. Luther B. Dow, it was said, contained all the information that would be given out, and that all future information would be given that way, but he added:

"You can say that they will not strike. There is no reason why they should strike now, as we are going to win anyway."

The typewritten statement said that the four railroads involved had obtained only a few men, and that as they were not competent there had been many accidents. The fact that some employers had made a satisfactory agreement, it said, proved that the four roads were wrong. A representative of the four roads said last evening:

"Our ferryboat pilots say that they have no grievance and have no desire to strike. Most of the Lackawanna pilots are not in the Pilots' Association; the Baltimore & Ohio uses the ferry service of the Jersey Central, and the Lehigh Valley uses the Pennsylvania Ferry. Large numbers of licensed men have been applying during the last two days."

Harry L. Joyce, manager of the Marine Department of the Central Railroad, said that the Baltimore & Ohio had its entire fleet of tugboats in operation, and the company had applications from three more licensed masters.

It was reported by the Harbor Boatmen's Union yesterday that it intended to ask the longshoremen to go on strike, which, if it would take place, would tie up the entire waterfront. The longshoremen quit yesterday on the Fall River Line, Piers 18 and 19 North River. Capt. Nickerson of this line said the men returned after a few hours, and that their action had nothing to do with the Harbor Boatmen's strike.

A member of the Master Pilots' Association who is not on strike sent word to THE TIMES yesterday that he wanted to correct some figures which had been credited to strike headquarters.

"It has been said that the men are working twelve hours a day, seven days a week, fifty-two weeks in the year, but the fact is," he said, "that all tugboat men, Captains, and crews get every second Sunday off and every second holiday. There are about eleven holidays in New York, making five holidays a year, giving them a total of thirty-one days off annually. In addition, Captains and engineers get one week's vacation with pay. Men who work for railroads are given free transportation and many take advantage of this to live in the suburbs."

QUIETER AT PAPER MILLS.

President Burbank Says Strikers Are Returning—Military Guard Reduced.

A. N. Burbank, President of the International Paper Company, gave out a letter last night which he had forwarded to State Commissioner of Labor, John Williams, in regard to the latter's inquiry about the strike now going on at the mills of the paper company.

Mr. Burbank says that there is nothing to arbitrate as far as the company is concerned, inasmuch as the places of many of the strikers have already been filled. The men who are now out will be reappointed to their positions, however, if they apply to the Superintendent at once.

SARATOGA, N. Y., April 5.—Sheriff Washburn to-day issued orders directing a reduction of the military force at Corinth aud South Glens Falls, where the mills of the International Paper Company have been under guard for nearly a month.

The Sheriff expressed the belief that the situation at Corinth is such that one company can maintain order.

TOBACCO STRIKERS BATTLE.

Shots Fired at Louisville, but No One Hurt Mortally.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 5.—The stemmery of the American Tobacco Company at Thirty-first and Walnut Streets was attacked to-day by striking stemmers and sympathizers. Charles Jenkins, engineer of the plant, was struck by stones and badly hurt, but nobody was injured mortally.

A number of shots were fired, and several windows were broken. A few men reported at this place for work to-day.

The strikers held a meeting this forenoon at a ball park, refusing admittance to everybody except those concerned in the strike.

CONSTABULARY STOP RIOTS.

Arrival of Armed Men Quells Coal Miners at Kittanning.

KITTANNING, Penn., April 5.—The rioting of the last twenty-four hours at the mines of the Hicks Coal Company was stopped early to-day by the arrival on the scene of Deputy Sheriffs and constabulary who, with drawn revolvers and riot sticks, dispersed a disorderly gathering of foreign laborers near the mine entrance and allowed imported strikebreakers to go to work unmolested.

For two days riots, more or less serious, have marked the suspension of work in and about the Hicks property. No further trouble is anticipated.

The strikers are unorganized.

Reduced Wages Cause Railroad Strike.

TONOPAH, Nev., April 5.—A strike of all men employed in the operating department of the Tonopah & Golfield Railroad was declared yesterday. All conductors, brakemen, firemen, and engineers walked out. A recent order reducing wages and a refusal of the company to arbitrate brought about the walkout. The road is the only means of access to the Goldfield district from the North.

Explosion Wrecks Bridge Plant.

NEWCASTLE, Ind., April 5.—The plant of the Pan-American Bridge Company was wrecked by an explosion inside the plant to-day. The police are investigating. There has been labor trouble at the plant for some months.

Erie Settles with Its Engineers.

It was announced yesterday that the Erie Railroad and its locomotive engineers had reached an agreement on the wage question. A basis satisfactory to both sides was readily decided upon and the details and percentages will be worked out later.

RACE TRACK BILLS UP.

Perkins Measure Prohibiting Oral Bookmaking Attacked in Assembly.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5.—By a party vote, the Assembly to-day advanced to the order of final passage the Perkins bills designed to prohibit oral bookmaking and pool selling.

Assemblymen Clark of Brooklyn and Hoey of New York attacked them on the floor. They held that the bills would encourage lawbreaking, and that they were unnecessary.

Mr. Perkins explained that the principle and intent of the Agnew-Hart laws were not disturbed by his measures. They had been introduced, he said, to make the anti-betting legislation more effective, as loopholes had been found in a test case in court. One bill makes the Director or Trustee of a racing association guilty of gambling if professional betting is allowed on the race track.

"I believe that the Governor of the State is an honest man," said Assemblyman Hoey, "but his vision is limited, and certainly he is not infallible. I don't believe that the majority party has reached the point of absolute and slavish subserviency to the Governor's dictum."

WADHAMS SEES HUGHES.

Present His Report on Superintendent of Elections O'Leary's Office.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5.—Ex-Judge William H. Wadhams, whom Gov. Hughes appointed a Commissioner to investigate State Superintendent of Elections William O'Leary's office, brought his report to the Capitol to-day, and this evening presented it to the Governor.

Mr. Wadhams spent an hour in conference with Gov. Hughes. Neither would discuss the contents of the report, and it was said at the Executive Chamber that it would not be made public for the present.

CORPORATION TAX RETURNS.

No Trouble Over New Law, Commissioner Cabell Says.

When Commissioner of Internal Revenue Cabell came to town yesterday and dropped in at the quarterly meeting of the Internal Revenue Collectors and Federal District Attorneys' Association of the New York district the members were so pleased to see him that they elected him Honorary President. The meeting was held in the office of the President of the association, J. W. Sinsel, Chief Revenue Agent, in the Custom House.

United States District Attorney Wise was on hand, also Federal District Attorney Young of Brooklyn, Federal District Attorney Vreeland of New Jersey, and Collectors from the First, Second, Third, and Fourteenth Districts of New York and the Fifth of New Jersey.

After the meeting Commissioner Cabell said that the details concerning the enforcement of the corporation tax were being worked out nicely. No definite course of action has been decided on as to prosecutions, nor is it likely that a decision will be made until the United States Supreme Court determines the constitutionality of the law.

Reports which are still arriving, he said, include those from corporations which were granted extra time after March 1 in which to do so. There were a large number of such extensions granted to corporations which were unable to get statements from all their branches before March 1. The last day allowed to any corporation, however, was March 31.

Notices of assessment will be sent out during June, for by June 30 all taxes must be paid.

HID MONEY UNDER TONGUE.

Impediment in Her Speech Revealed Woman Thief's Loot.

Through an impediment in her speech, $12 in bills and a certified check for $14, according to the police, were found yesterday morning under the tongue of a woman who said she was Helen Clarke, 29 years old, and said she lived at 246 West Ninety-sixth Street. The woman was locked up on the charge of grand larceny, the complainant being Nathan Hirshbein, an insurance agent, who said he lived at 1,244 Washington Avenue, the Bronx.

According to Hirshbein, he had been to a lodge meeting last night, and was returning home early this morning. As he was about to go down to the Subway station at 125th Street and Lenox Avenue Hirschbein said the Clarke woman approached him and talked with him for several minutes, and then suddenly threw her arms about his neck. As she did this, he said, he felt the woman's hand go into his pocket. When he managed to push her off, Hirshbein said that he discovered that his wallet, containing a ten-dollar and a two-dollar bill and the check for $14, was missing.

As the woman started across the avenue for the southbound entrance of the Subway Hirshbein called for help. His cries were heard by Policeman Pioco, who arrested the woman. At the station house when the Matron searched her no money could be found at first, and as she was about to be put in a cell the impediment in her speech was noticed. The Matron then forced her mouth open. Under her tongue, the police say, the money was found.

When before Magistrate O'Connor in the Harlem Court the Clarke woman had nothing to say about the charge, and she was held in $1,000 bail for trial.

Smith Gray & Co.
Foremost Clothiers Since 1845.

That which renders distinctive Smith Gray garments from the general run of high-grade ready-for-service clothes is attributable to the Smith Gray method, which is possible only through the unified Smith Gray organization.

After the styling, which is always distinctively advanced, comes the models—each designed for a specific type of man. The successful treatment of the models demands the selection of certain fabrics, and often of exclusive patterns.

The models and the fabric of which it is to be built bear the same relation to the finished garment as do the drawing and color scheme to a finished painting—the after work of cutting, trimming and tailoring working out the original idea in the same way that the master artist develops on canvas—the product of his mind's eye.

The result is a finished garment—finished in the sense of being complete—possessing the faculty of merging its own individuality with that of the wearer.

Smith Gray & Co. Spring Suits and Spring Coats range in price from $18 to $50, special attention being directed to many broken lots of Suits and Spring Coats, reduced to $18—silk lined to edge, black and Oxford, vicuna, finished fabric Spring coats, at $20, and many very exceptional Suits and silk lined Spring Coats at $2.750.

MATHEWSON HOLDS NORFOLK TO ONE HIT

Virginians, However, Find Weak Spot in Marquard's Delivery and Score Twice.

Special to The New York Times.

NORFOLK, Va., April 5.—Norfolk took another defeat at the hands of the Giants this afternoon, but the local fans were satisfied, for they had seen Mathewson pitch five innings of as pretty ball as the Virginians ever saw. The final score was 8 to 2, and it might have been larger but for the experimental base running tried by the Giants. As soon as they had the game well in hand they began to try out new tricks, and many of the experiments resulted in runners being thrown out.

The feature of the game, though, that pleased McGraw was the terrific hitting of the New York batters. They piled up thirteen safeties and several of them were for extra bases. Josh Devore was the star. In the ninth inning he hit for a home run, scoring a man ahead of him. The ball would ordinarily have been a two-bagger, but Josh completely fooled the Virginians by not even hesitating at second or third base despite the fact that the fielder had the ball in his hand before Josh had reached third. He made a great slide to the plate and beat the ball by a foot.

The heavy hitters were Seymour, Doyle, and Devlin. Each got three hits. McGraw got two bases on balls and a two-bagger. Mathewson's work in the box for five innings was very close to perfection in the pitching line. The Virginians got one hit off him, and that was very scratchy. Marquard, who worked in the latter part of the game, was wild in one inning, and a single, a hit batter, and an error permitted Norfolk to get two scores.

The Giants leave for Richmond early in the morning, and they play there to-morrow afternoon. The score:

Dodgers Got Busy in Eighth.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., April 5.—The Richmonds threw a scare into the Brooklyns for seven innings to-day. Then the Dodgers gave Manager Lawler's laddies a look-in on some big league baseball, and when the smoke had cleared away the game was safely stowed away in Dahlen's garner, 6 to 1. Wilhelm was elected to pitch the nine innings, but after the Richmonds had tied the score in the seventh Otto Miller was sent in as a pinch hitter. The big catcher fanned, and Bell pitched the game out. Both sides fielded brilliantly, the locals going the route without a misplay, while McMillan made the only error for Brooklyn in the seventh, letting Landgraff score Richmond's only tally. Three hits scored Burch in the curtain raiser, and then Hale settled down, pitching a star game for the next three innings, when he retired. Brooks was also effective until the eighth, when the Dodgers showed their class. With two out, Burch and Hunter drew passes. They pulled off a double steal, and Hi Myers slammed out the necessary hit. That started the ascension. Daubert scratched a one-timer and another double steal followed. McElveen drove out the third bingle, bringing Myers and Daubert across. McMillan sent McElveen over the pan with a safe drive to left. That was all, but it was enough. Myers made some good plays at second, a one-handed dive after a fly ball off Brooks, arousing applause. He had six chances, all hard ones. McMillan broke a sensational day with his unexpected "boot," but followed right along with a one-handed spear of a liner that made President Ebbets smile all over. The score:

Athletics Flay the Phillies.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., April 5.—The Philadelphia American League baseball team administered a crushing defeat to the local National League club at Shibe Park to-day, the score being 11 to 0. The series between the clubs now stands two victories to one in favor of the Nationals. Plank for the Americans was in superb form, allowing three hits in the six innings he pitched. Only one National Leaguer got to second base in the six innings. The Nationals' pitchers were batted hard and were given poor support. The score:

YANKS BAG EASY GAME.

Columbia's Errors Mix in Well with New York's Hitting.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 5.—The New York Americans made their departure early to-night for Greensboro, N. C., after trimming the South Atlantic League club of this city by the score of 8 to 2. The New Yorkers did not hit the minor league pitchers very hard, but the batting was timely and mixed with local misplays. Lewis, the left-hander, who worked the first five innings, received very poor support. From him the Yankees got six runs. Daring base running by the visitors was mainly responsible for the upsetting of the locals.

Columbia scored both runs off Jack Quinn in the sixth inning. Until this time the big pitcher was invulnerable. He got in a hole by hitting the first man to face him, and when Birdie Cree misjudged Wohlleven's fly it put runners on third and second with none out. Here Knight booted Hartley's sharp grounder and Marshall scored. A long fly to Wolter resulted in the second tally. Until the sixth inning Columbia scarcely got even a foul until after two were out. Marshall tripled to deep right in the first, and Schweitzka and Dwyer both hit with two down in the third, but it was all in vain. Quinn struck out the side in the second and fourth innings.

Southpaw Jack Frill, the Newark recruit, got his first taste of fire in the last three innings of the game. Only one man got on the bases while the left-hander worked. Dwyer hit with one out in the seventh and got as far as third on an out and a passed ball. The score:

Yankee Colts Pile Up Runs.

Special to The New York Times.

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., April 5.—Scout Arthur Irwin's second team of Yankees outbatted and outfielded the Winston-Salem club here to-day. The feature of the game was the batting of Roach and Kleinow, each getting three hits, two of the former's being doubles. Changes in Tennis Schedule.

Five new tournaments were added to the list of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association yesterday by the Executive Committee at a meeting held in this city. The dates of holding two other tournaments were changed from those announced last month. The most important addition, so far as the players of this city are concerned, is the reestablishment of the cup championship held on the courts of the Englewood Field Club at Englewood, N. J., which starts on June 11. Of the two changes the big open meeting of the Nyack Country Club is moved from the week of Aug. 22 to that of Aug. 29, so as to allow of it drawing for entrants from the competitors returning from Newport and the nationals, as hereofore.

Sharkey's Attraction Looks Good.

Indications point to a real good fight as a result of the match Jim Buckley of the Sharkey Athletic Club made between Harry Ferns and Mike Glover, which takes place to-night. Glover beat Bill Leary a short while ago, and Ferns has a good list of victories. In the semi-final young Healy will tackle Bob Erle.

Prof. Rossi's Fencing Victory.

Generoso Pavese, Julio M. Castello, and Yose M. Asensio have decided that the recent fencing match between Rossi and Senac was a victory for Prof. Rossi. Prof. Castello was the referee of the contest.

MORAN CLEVERLY WINS FROM BALDWIN

Englishman's Strong Defense Keeps Bostonian at Bay in Fairmont Fight.

Owen Moran of England outpointed and outfought Matty Baldwin of Boston at the Fairmont Athletic Club last night. The Englishman was in fine shape, and put up a line of defense that Baldwin was unable to solve. Only once, and that in the eighth round, did Baldwin get his dangerous punch working. He slammed a left swing against Moran's jaw which staggered the Briton against the ropes.

Moran throughout the fight stuck a tantalizing left jab against Baldwin's nose, which brought the blood early, and he jabbed it so often that if there had been much steam behind Moran's blows the Bostonian's nose would have been flat.

Baldwin did all the leading in the first round and kept Moran backing away from him. Once or twice only he reached his body and face. Moran laid aside his caution after the first round and with the agility of a dancer he jumped into Baldwin with his wicked jab and jumped away again before Baldwin was able to fight back. In the clinches Baldwin reached Moran's body with short armed hooks, but these did little damage.

It was in the third round that Moran began to inflict punishment on the Bostonian's face. Allowing Baldwin to lead, Moran would skillfully sidestep the onrush and plant rights and lefts against Baldwin's head and face. Moran kept the blood flowing from Baldwin's nose continually, and only in the eighth round was he in danger of the wallop which Baldwin is reputed to carry in two hands.

Moran's best work, however, was in the fourth round. He skipped lightly from his corner and tapped Baldwin a few on his sore nose. The Bostonian rushed in savagely, missing right and left swings by a wide margin. As he made his fiercest rush the Britisher turned loose a wicked right uppercut which sent Baldwin to the floor for the count of six.

This wallop dazed Baldwin for a time, but he stalled out the round. Jab and smash as hard as he could, Moran at no time had the rugged Bostonian anywhere near a knockout. The fifth, sixth, and seventh rounds were all Moran's, Baldwin scoring only occasionally with a left to the jaw and a right to the body. But these reached Moran when he was skipping out of reach and didn't hurt him.

In the eighth round Baldwin came back strong, and it looked as if he was going to make a fast finish. After sending Moran against the ropes with a left swing to the jaw, he landed hard on his body, but for the remainder of the round Moran kept out of his way, occasionally jabbing his left against Baldwin's bleeding nose.

Moran showed his skill as a boxer and clever defensive fighter in the ninth and tenth, when he blocked the half dozen swings which would have been damaging if they had landed. Baldwin's attempt to finish strong in the tenth was again offset by the shifty footwork and clever two-handed boxing of the Englishman.

Last night's mill was the fourth time the men have met. Once Baldwin defeated Moran, and the Briton has won the other three bouts. Baldwin will leave for the coast in a few weeks, where he is matched to meet the lightweight champion, Ad Wolgast.

JEFFRIES BEGINS TRAINING.

Wife, Nephews, and Trainers Accompany Fighter to Camp.

BEN LOMOND, Cal., April 5.—James J. Jeffries began preliminary training to-day for his fight with Jack Johnson, but it will be a week or more before he settles down to hard work. The fighter was accompanied to his training quarters from Oakland to-day by his wife, his two nephews, Sam Berger, Wrestler Farmer Burns, and a number of other men.

Jeffries expressed himself as greatly pleased with the place where he will work from now until a day or two before the fight. After looking at the cottage and the gymnasium that have been fitted for him, and after trying out the new handball court, Jeffries and his nephews and others engaged in a brisk game of baseball.

Johnson "a Good Family Man."

CHICAGO, April 5.—Jack Johnson, the prizefighter, was not granted his request for two negroes on the jury that heard the testimony in his trial for automobile speeding before Judge Scovel in the Municipal Court, but the twelve Caucasians who sat in judgment proved satisfactory to the pugilist by promptly returning a verdict of not guilty.

"They saved me the trouble of going up to the Supreme Court with the case," said Johnson. "I am not going to have the police put it all over me just because I'm a well-known man.

"If I ran around and got drunk and gambled the cops ought to pinch me, but I'm a good family man and behave myself. If every one was like me it would be a good world."

Jack Johnson Wins Case in Court.

BOSTON, April 5.—The Superior Court to-day annulled a contract between A. A. McLean of Chelsea and "Jack" Johnson, the pugilist, in which Johnson agreed to fight, box, and give boxing exhibitions, on the ground that the making of such an agreement was a felony in this State and could not be enforced. McLean sued the champion heavyweight on a contract made four years ago, and claimed that he suffered a damage of $10,000 when Johnson broke it in Australia in 1907.

National Sporting Club's Show.

The National Sporting Club has what looks like a good match for its show Friday night. Johnny Marto of this city and Frank Picato will engage in the main bout of ten rounds. Picato has two draws with Ad Wolgast in his record, and on his way East for the show here he stopped off at New Orleans and trimmed Dave Deshler.

Racing at Salt Lake City.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The Pacific Jockey Club to-day granted the Utah Jockey Club dates for a meeting of forty days at Salt Lake City, commencing June 6 and ending July 21.

HUGH DRURY INJURED.

Polo Pony Falls on Rider, Severely Hurting His Side and Thumb.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 5.—Anticipating the hard game which will be played here Saturday between the famous Hurlingham team of England and the Meadow Brook champions for the benefit of a local charity, to-day's game was not much more than a practice contest, the players desiring to keep themselves in the pink of condition for the international fray. In a close scrimmage Hugh Drury's horse fell, carrying him under the pony. Drury was severely injured in the side, and a thumb was dislocated. The game was between the Whites and Reds, the Reds winning by 5¼ to 3¾. The line-up:

Reds—No. 1, R. J. Collier; No. 2, H. Drury; No. 3, M. Waterbury; back, Capt. E. D. Miller.

Whites—No. 1, Capt. De Belleville; No. 2, Capt. De Crespigney; No. 3, H. P. Whitney; back, W. G. Buckmaster. J. B. Thomas replaced H. Drury in the third period.

Goals—By Collier, 3; by Waterbury, 2; by Capt. E. D. Miller, 1. Penalty—Foul by Collier. Safety—By Waterbury. Net score, 5¼ for the Reds. For the Whites: Goal—By De Belleville, 1; by De Crespigny, 2; by Whitney, 1. Penalties—Foul and safety by Whitney. Net score, 3¾.

ONE-SIDED BILLIARDS.

Gardner and Mayer Win Games for Amateur 18.2 Title.

In the play for the 18.2 amateur billiard championship of the United States at the Hamilton Club in Brooklyn, last night, Edward W. Gardner of the Montclair Athletic Club, one-time holder of the National title, scored a decisive victory over Morris D. Brown by a score of 400 to 235. The afternoon match between Dr. Walter G. Douglas of the New York Athletic Club and Joseph Mayer of the Columbia Club of Philadelphia also furnished one-sided play, the latter winning by a total of 400 to 125.

In view of the fact that it was the first time that Morris D. Brown of the home club had ever competed in a big tournament, his fellow-members of the Hamilton Club were out in force to see him, but the exhibition offered was not anything to boast of. Brown held Gardner for the first few innings fairly well, and then went to pieces, missing the easiest caroms, and then again executing a round-the-table shot or masse with great skill. The latter instances, however, while they brought forth applause, did not materially help his score, as his nursing game was weak.

Gardner, too, was not in any too fine fettle. Erratic was written out in big letters as a result of his part in the night's play. Several times he caught the ivories for clever runs, one of which reached the total of 62, the second highest made during the tournament, but he slumped from this form very badly for a number of innings. One of his shots of the evening could be called the best of the tournament. With a bad line-up on one of the end rails, the two object balls being straight ahead of the cue ivory, he played a stroke that caromed off to the opposite end rail, the first object ball at the same time going to the corner, where the cue ball met it and completed the carom. It was an accurately gauged shot, and was of the most spectacular order, all the spectators looking for a clean miss.

As far as the afternoon match between Dr. Walter G. Douglas of the New York Athletic Club and Joseph Mayer of the Columbia Club of Philadelphia was concerned, the element of contest was all but eliminated. Mayer had an easy victory. If, however, a close match was not forthcoming the brilliant cue work of the Philadelphian, who was third in last season's tournament after the play off of a triple tie for second position between Conklin, Mayer, and Jackson, more than made up for the lack in any other particular.

Aside from the fact that his average of 11 4-36 was of high station for an amateur tournament, Mayer displayed that close nursing of the ivories which followed along the style of play by the professionals. It was by far the best play that has been seen in the present tournament. He held the ivories for several long runs, the best of which was a cluster of 58 made in the twenty-third inning, and this came to an end through the miss single cushion try, in which perhaps a bit too much confidence was displayed. It was the same kind of a shot which terminated a run of 47 a few innings later. The scores:

AFTERNOON GAME.

Dr. Walter G. Douglas, 0, 0, 18, 4, 1, 8, 7, 0, 6, 4, 0, 3, 0, 2, 2, 2, 3, 7, 0, 10, 0, 8, 0, 1, 0, 7, 10, 9, 1, 9, 0, 1, 0, 6, 0, 1. Total—125. High runs—18, 10, 10, and 9. Average—3 17-36.

Joseph Mayer, 0, 13, 1, 5, 2, 32, 8, 1, 0, 49, 2, 5, 3, 6, 6, 0, 0, 6, 2, 31, 1, 0, 8, 58, 9, 2, 12, 0, 3, 10, 14, 1, 47, 17, 36, 0, 12. Total—400. High runs—58, 49, 47, and 36. Average—11 4-36.

EVENING GAME.

Edward W. Gardner, 3, 0, 4, 18, 8, 1, 29, 0, 11, 0, 8, 17, 1, 2, 12, 17, 0, 1, 1, 1, 5, 40, 8, 0, 0, 9, 7, 62, 45, 0, 21, 3, 3, 16, 2, 9, 1, 5, 1, 8, 11, 6, 4. Total—400. High runs—62, 45, 40, and 29. Average—9 13-43.

Morris D. Brown, 1, 0, 1, 2, 22, 0, 26, 4, 2, 2, 7, 7, 3, 14, 2, 11, 0, 0, 7, 2, 11, 2, 0, 0, 0, 1, 0, 16, 20, 2, 22, 11, 8, 8, 12, 4, 0, 6, 0, 6, 0, 0. Total—235. High runs—26, 22, 22, and 20. Average—5 25-42.

This afternoon J. Ferdinand Poggenberg of the Liederkranz Club will play Dr. Walter E. Uffenheimer of the Columbia Club of Philadelphia, and this evening the match will be between Dr. Walter G. Douglas of the New York Athletic Club, and Morris D. Brown of the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn.

Billiards at McGraw's and Doyle's.

Three games were played last night in the amateur handicap three-cushion caroom billiard tournament at McGraw's Billiard Academy, Thirty-fifth Street and Sixth Avenue. In the first game of sixty-seven innings C. H. Beyers defeated V. Finegold, handicapped at 5, by the score of 30 to 16. Beyers's high run was 3 and Finegold's was 2. In the second game V. Finegold, handicapped at 7, defeated Charles Hansell, scratch, by the score of 32 to 26. Finegold's high run was 3 and Hansell's 6. The game lasted eighty-four innings. In the third game Charles Hansell was defeated by C. H. Ditmars, handicapped at 2, in eighty innings by the score of 32 to 27.

In the three-cushion carrom billiard tournament for possession of the Metropolitan three-cushion championship and the Doyle Cups, which started last night with eight contestants at John Doyle's Billiard Academy, Forty-second Street and Broadway, Frank Hoppe defeated James Blair, holder of the Metropolitan Cup, by a score of 50 to 48 in eighty-nine innings. The high run of 7 was made by Blair. The conditions of the tournament are that the holder of the cup must defend successfully at least three times a season before he can claim the cup as his own.

JACOBUS LEADS WITH GUN.

Montclair Shooter Takes Prize in 100-Bird Match at New Jersey Traps.

Sultry weather and quite a haze over the shooting grounds greeted the gunners in a special one-hundred-bird shoot at the Montclair Gun Club grounds, Montclair, N. J., yesterday morning. It was a preliminary competition to the Metropolitan Handicap, which will be decided to-day, and while the field was small some good shooting was the result.

R. Jacobus of the Montclair Gun Club led the sixteen amateurs with a total of ninety-two out of a possible one hundred, but this included a five-bird handicap. The best work, however, was done by L. A. Colquitt, Jacobus's clubmate, who broke eighty targets from scratch. Champion Schauffler of the New York Athletic Club led the Travers Island contingent, but G. L. Bready, with a handicap of ten, was a close second.

The North Caldwell Gun Club was well represented by J. S. Sindle, who finished second to Jacobus, with a score of ninety-one. The Bergen Beach Gun Club, whose representative, George Kouwenhoven, won the Metropolitan Handicap two years in succession, had only one man at the traps, J. H. Vanderveer, who is also a member of the Crescent Athletic Club. The best Vanderveer could do was to get a total of seventy-seven, which included a handicap of three birds.

Of the three professionals who took part in the competition, H. S. Welles lost only two targets of his one hundred, while George Lyon of the New York Athletic Club had to be content with ninety, and ex-Champion Elliott with eighty-three. The scores:

THE RAPID TRANSIT HEARING.

Probably no subject other than rapid transit could have attracted such a multitude as attended the Board of Estimate's hearing, or would have given proof of equal keenness of interest. A single idea animated all those present. Whatever borough any speaker represented, he wanted the city to build a subway there, the aggregate of the demands being some $800,000,000. No speaker balanced the relative necessity of his proposal against any other proposal. No speaker considered the subject as a whole, or manifested the least tenderness for the city's treasury. No speaker showed any consideration for the profit and loss of his plan, still less for the outcome of the execution of all the plans. Only one or two of them, if any, had any qualification to speak as experts in construction, or operation, or financing. But every man of them was a real estate expert, and was sure of his profit if the city assumed the cost and risk. No one spoke for the city, but the Mayor more than once manifested his opinion that the demands were excessive and should be accompanied by the assumption of some share of the burden by those directly interested. Naturally there was no enthusiasm about that, and several openly dissented.

The main characteristic of this important meeting was the difference in its procedure from that which would have been adopted by those about to spend their own money. If the same gentlemen there present were adopting plans for their own action there would have been elaborate calculations of cost, and of traffic expectations, and whether or not existing facilities could not be developed better and cheaper. But the meeting warmed to nothing so much as to the proposal to build a subway beneath an elevated railway which is more than adequate to existing demands, and which private capital would develop to meet any demand with an economic justification. Nothing was said about expanding the usefulness of the city's own existing facilities, although the better utilization of the city's investment of about $100,000,000 might well be preliminary to further adventures.

No one with any appreciation of popular sentiment will oppose any good rapid transit plan, but assuredly if $800,000,000 is to be spent there is a preference of method. Indiscriminate construction is not the only nor even the best remedy for the inconveniences from which we suffer. Yet none of the speakers devoted attention to the manner of operation after construction. Nobody spoke about fares or transfers or linking up of the new roads with the old. If all the routes proposed were to be built as an independent system the result would not be so good as smaller construction having better connection with existing facilities. If there is one thing upon which experts are agreed it is that a single symmetrical system is superior to competition between independent systems. Yet so far as was reported no speaker supported the development of the existing system, which is the city's property, and which can be enlarged without using the city's money. On the contrary, all haste is being made to commit the city to unlimited construction, although it is known that the adoption of such plans will deprive the city of its option of an alternative plan, in connection with the existing system, whose efficiency is so great that it is now rendering a service double that contracted for, or contemplated in the original plans. The choice must be made in a few days, and there are signs that the plan most in favor is the one which promises the largest expenditure rather than the largest return in service in comparison to resources expended.

WHO CHANGED IT?

With the message transmitted to the Legislature by Gov. HUGHES, recommending the creation of a great people's park in the Catskills, in accordance with the terms of Mrs. HARRIMAN's generous gift, this to be connected with the present inter-State Palisades Park by extensions and a roadway built under the Palisades, is a map outlining the route of the proposed boulevard. This route extends along the Hudson, continuing unmistakably around the upper point of the Palisades to Piermont Creek, the limit of the park as established by the Palisades act of 1900. Thence the road proceeds along the river, making necessary détours of towns and villages.

Since this map was published the route has been changed. At the point where the original line of the boulevard enters New York State from the south, it is made to turn west from the river, and from the river-view, to the road at the top of the cliffs.

Who has changed the route, and why? The proposal was made to the Legislature and to the private donors as "one unified plan," including the "road under the Palisades," as indicated in the official map. Certainly the matter demands explanation.

THE METHODISTS IN ROME.

Those Methodists in Rome do seem to be a fine, old-fashioned no-Popery lot, and they are catching it right and left. Archbishop IRELAND, in particular, gives them a good sound cudgeling. It will probably do them good. Besides, the castigation of the Methodists and their resulting outcries will serve to divert attention from a recent unpleasant incident. But, for the life of us, we can't see what the behavior of the Methodists has to do with MERRY DEL VAL's refusal to grant to an ex-President of the United States the privilege of being presented to the Pope.

So far as the public is informed, Mr. ROOSEVELT had no intention whatever of going near the Methodists, or by any other act of omission or commission of offending against the etiquette of the Vatican. Nevertheless, an audience was refused save under conditions which no man could with self-respect have accepted. Now Mr. ROOSEVELT has canceled the arrangements for the reception to Americans in Rome, at which, conceivably, some of the Methodists might have been present. That must give the Vatican household further reason to regret the somewhat superfluous precautions it felt called upon to take.

A FEW MORE LEFT.

Senator CONGER has done the right thing, the wise thing, and he has done it in a very manly way. By resigning he relieves the Senate of the necessity of investigating his conduct, and spares the State the cost and inconvenience of an undue prolongation of the session. For himself he escapes the humiliation that might possibly be involved in the finding.

The charges which the Senate has found to be proved against ALLDS involved, in some measure, Senator CONGER himself. That he admits. He stood by and saw money improperly used to influence legislation, and said nothing. For nine years he held his tongue, and finally told what he knew of ALLDS's guilt, not from the wholesome desire to bring wrongdoing to the light and have it punished, but as an incident to a faction fight in the Republican majority. Senator CONGER now frankly admits that his course was wrong, he has always been ashamed of it, and "sincerely sorry." His expression of repentance and contrition are wholly commendable.

Having thus discharged his personal duty, Senator CONGER addresses a few words to his colleagues, under which, we think, they must have writhed. It is evident that the desire to investigate CONGER was based not alone on the very proper motive of calling him to account, but, perhaps, quite as much upon the resentment which some of his fellow-Senators feel toward him for making the scandal public. It may be freely admitted, as he says, that it is a little hard that a man who, at very great cost to himself, exposed an act of public corruption should be punished therefor. Everybody will admit that, without, however, surrendering the belief that Mr. CONGER ought not to remain in the Senate. However, there are others apparently intending to remain there who ought to follow his example. It was to these Senators that he addressed himself when he made the following observations:

> I am also informed that some of your number profess to feel that they cannot remain in the Senate if I am to be here, and yet some of those same Senators have been members of the Legislature for years, and as such had come to know the reputation and the true character of the Senator who has but so lately left us, and to know the workings of the régime of which he was a part, and knowing of the charge against him, which has now, by your and their votes, been declared true, nevertheless took pleasure on Jan. 5 last in voting to elevate him to the high and honorable office of Senate leader, the second in succession to the Governorship of this great State.

At this very moment an inquiry is in progress which, as it now promises, will make necessary more investigation and further explanations. In particular, there is a certain disbursement of $5,000 by the New York Board of Fire Underwriters during the session of 1909, as to which Supt. HOTCHKISS is insisting upon detailed information. Moreover, the Assembly has resolved to begin an insurance investigation. With ALLDS and CONGER out, there are still a few Senators left in the Chamber who will, doubtless, be called upon to explain their relation to the activities of the fire insurance lobbyists. Then there may be other resignations.

CHAMPLAIN PARK AND STATUE.

The public-spirited citizens whose offer to the State of a park on Lake Champlain was communicated to the Legislature by Gov. HUGHES's message published yesterday are entitled to thanks for their gift. Appreciation of the generosity of the givers—WITHERBEE, SHERMAN & Co.—could take no more appropriate form than prompt action assuring the execution of their intention that it "shall be open forever to the public," under such precautions that the historic forts will be preserved for all time against anything more destructive than the elements. Perhaps some degree of restoration may be attempted hereafter.

The gift of the park is no doubt traceable to the interest aroused by Mr. WITHERBEE's services in connection with the tercentenary celebration last year. Another result was the determination to erect a statue to CHAMPLAIN, for which a fitting site is now sought, under conditions bettered by the evident fitness of the park. The first attempts to select a site unfortunately aroused some jealousy between New York and Vermont, and there were natural objections to the erection of a historic monument on private property, with suggestions of commercial reasons as a motive. Naturally Vermont took no interest in a proposal of that sort, which was further objectionable by its remoteness from Vermont and its comparative inaccessibility. Now there is an opportunity for reconsideration of a plan not fully resolved upon because of its evident imperfections. This park is only a thousand feet or so from Vermont soil, is on the line of travel through the lake, and near the ferry across the lake. Without knowledge of the preference of the givers of the park, it is a safe assumption that they would be pleased by action so well suited to add to its attractions, and so desirable from other considerations.

PROF. SELIGMAN ON PRICES.

In an article of remarkable breadth and penetration, in the current number of The Independent, Prof. E. R. A. SELIGMAN of Columbia University discusses "High and Low Prices," their causes and effects. It is too closely reasoned and too compactly stated to admit of a fair summary. We commend it to the careful attention of those who are urging radical, not to say revolutionary and visionary, legislation to change conditions that are quite beyond the reach of National, or even international, regulation, and content ourselves with referring to two points. One is the professor's demonstration that the rise in prices since 1896 has, despite some extreme movements of limited scope, been general throughout the civilized world; the other is his proposition that the only remedy for what there is harmful in the present situation lies in the lessening of cost through the application of scientific human effort.

Not only does Prof. SELIGMAN show that the rise in prices since 1896 has been general, but that it has only half compensated the fall that took place between 1873 and 1896; that prices are now only at the level of 1850, and that the rise in fourteen years is but one-fourth the fall between 1810 and 1850. The professor believes that the recent general rise is due in a general way to the increase in the gold supply ($450,000,000 in 1909 against an annual average of $163,000,000 for five years preceding 1895) and to the great increase in the use of credit made possible by this addition to the gold reserves. He points out that this is a process that necessarily tends toward reaction, the poorer ores and mines becoming unprofitable as the exchange value of gold dwindles with the accumulation of the metal. As is proper, he presents the causes of high prices that are peculiar to America as unimportant relatively to the world's situation, a fact that does not prevent them, especially those of them that check the free working of enterprise arbitrarily, as the excessive tariff does, from being very important to us as a nation.

> What really should cause us concern [says Prof. SELIGMAN in presenting his second proposition] is not the rise of prices, (which will before long be followed by a fall, and which means no general change in the country's wealth or ultimate welfare,) but the increase of cost in the sense of a lessening of the powers of man over nature, and the failure of the same exertion to yield corresponding results. Economy of production and economy of consumption spell progress and wealth. A prodigal waste of natural resources and reckless extravagance in outlay spell retrogression and ultimate poverty. A rising price level is not an unmixed evil, and in so far as it is an evil at all, it will correct itself. Increasing cost, in the sense of the necessity on the part of society of more effort to secure the same amount of wealth, is both deplorable and remediable.

As instances of increasing cost of effort in production, the professor cites the "reckless cutting of our forests" and the "butchery of our virgin soil which for the time being kept down unduly the price of agricultural staples and is now working out its own Nemesis." Considering that the general rise of prices will, as Prof. SELIGMAN suggests, "correct itself," it is the plain dictate of common sense and civic duty for the people of the United States to direct their attention to remedies for their own share in existing evils. Toward this the tendency is at present strong, and likely, we think, to strengthen.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL PROFICIENCY.

Here is a specimen of the scholarship of a boy 15 years old, American born and bred, who has been promoted to the grade of 8A, the highest but one in the city's grammar schools:

> DICTATION.
>
> They attenmed no raush gast, therefor, at that stage of the prublem. "Boys also out teacher said," like to have it," Thought, when it get into a boy poctey, I belived it is oftened say to burned a hold there. Instinly twelty out strech hand indecake an Idle demaning utterans in twelty head "If you pleas "sir" I know what it is" "Well, what is it?" "a pice of cold?"

Here is the passage "corrected," the teacher spelling out each word dictated, the pupil writing his version of the spelled-out dictation:

> They attented no rash gess. therefore at that stage of the problem. "Boys also our "teacher said" like to have it," thought when it get into a boy potet. I belive it is often said to bruned a hold there, Instlaney twelty outstreach hand indicate an idle "If you pleas sir' "I know what it is" "Well what is it" "A pice of cold?

The key to the passage follows:

> They attempted no rash guess, therefore, at that stage of the problem. "Boys, also," our teacher said, "like to have it, though when it gets into a boy's pocket, I believe it is often said to burn a hole there." Instantly twenty outstretched hands indicated an idea demanding utterance in twenty heads. "If you please, Sir, I know what it is." "Well, what is it?" "A piece of coal."

The samples presented above, together with some others by older boys, that display not much greater proficiency, are submitted to THE TIMES, in manuscript, as typical of work done in the 8A grade by not less than one out of every eight pupils in Greater New York. The passing mark from one grade to the next in the public schools is fixed, for some unutterable reason, at 60 per cent. Not altogether fixed, perhaps, at that. We have heard that in some of the schools the order has gone to the teachers to pass children at 50 per cent., or even lower.

The school system is enormously expensive. With its present standards it is wasteful. We quite agree with Mr. ROBERT P. GREEN in his contention that pupils who can not, or do not, reach the scholarship average of 90 per cent. should not be promoted to the upper grades. By such promotion the mass of them are made morally and intellectually weaker, and the taxpayers are shamelessly robbed.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Women Will Jump at the Chance. That usually courageous paper, The Army and Navy Journal, is frightened for once—almost as frightened as was Boston when it heard that a Spanish fleet was coming to get it whether it watched out or not. The cause of our militant neighbor's panic is the news that one of the illustrated weeklies is printing letters from a woman sent to report on the war which Spain is waging in Morocco.

This, in the opinion of The Army and Navy Journal, is a clear warning that when next the United States gets into armed conflict with a foreign nation, the old and always sufficiently grave trouble with war correspondents will be vastly increased by the sending to the scene of operations by every "enterprising" newspaper, not only of a man to get the news, but of a woman to tell its readers how war looks from the feminine point of view. The results, according to this high authority, will be disastrous—nothing less, it seems, than a "softening of the National fibre" and a "weakening of the strong masculine hold on our destiny," both of which are to take place as soon as war is described, not by the standards of bivouac and march, but by those of the home and the nursery! Furthermore:

> Peace societies would spring up in every little town, and in the crucible of play and tenderness the public estimate of our National responsibility would melt down into an apologetic effort to live up to ideals of brotherly love entirely out of keeping with the present state of social development. It is difficult enough now to make the people understand that the obligations of National honor should weigh more than considerations of the markets or of commerce, and to interest them in the importance of an adequate army and navy. That difficulty will be dangerously increased when to the inertia of business preoccupation shall be added the enervating sentimentalism of women war correspondents.

There, now, is a prophecy and a warning to shake the stoutest heart—if its owner happens to lack a sense of humor. If he doesn't happen to do so he is almost sure either to smile or to laugh at the suggestion that female war correspondents would make war impossible, and, after he had recovered his gravity, the chances are that he would say, "Well, let 'em! Why not?"

Car Rowdies Must be Suppressed. While we have no great confidence in imprisonment as a teacher either of morals or manners, it is impossible to think of any punishment for rowdyism in subway and elevated trains more likely to be immediately effective than the workhouse sentences which Magistrate CORRIGAN is imposing on the boys brought before him for annoying their fellow-passengers by rough play and offensive talk in public vehicles.

The offenders, presumably, are not criminals or even particularly vicious, and their misbehavior is probably to be ascribed in large part to the fact that the city boy, especially in the tenement districts, has cruelly few opportunities for working off his animal spirits in ways profitable to himself and inoffensive to his neighbors. But in spite of such pity for and sympathy with him as may and should result from these considerations, the fact remains that such conduct as these boys are only too apt to indulge in when in sufficient numbers to give each other courage and countenance is simply intolerable in urban and suburban cars and trains. If terms of imprisonment will alone reduce them to order, as seems to be the case, in existing circumstances, then the terms of imprisonment should be imposed often enough and long enough to bring the nuisance to an end.

As soon as the boys become convinced the cars are not safe places for gymnastic exhibitions or noisy play, and that either will be followed by prompt arrest and a punishment more to be dreaded than a fine to be paid by somebody else, they will realize the expediency as well as the propriety of respecting the rights of others. Then the need to imprison them will pass away, and there is every reason to hasten its departure by making the reward of ill-doing certain, for it is not well that boys should be subjected, even for short periods, to workhouse associations and influences. If the Magistrates can devise a better method of repression they should do it, but until they do, or somebody does it for them, it is to be hoped that they will follow the stern example of Magistrate CORRIGAN.

A Study of Infant Mortality. An investigation just made by the New York Milk Committee with a view to getting definite information as to the effects on infant mortality of social and economic conditions has resulted in some interesting disclosures. Three sections of the city were selected for study, varying much in size, owing to different densities of population, but each containing about 7,500 persons. In the first, inhabited largely by the rich, only thirty-seven children were born in a year; in the second, where the circumstances of the people were what is called comfortable, the births numbered 160, while in the third, where poverty prevailed, 434 babies were born.

But during two Summer weeks, one of them the hottest of the year, not one of the 37 babies or of the 160 died, while among the 434 there were sixteen deaths. The figures are not large enough to warrant any final conclusions as to percentages, but doubtless they are fairly characteristic of the three classes. The immunity of the babies in the two more fortunate classes during this hot fortnight only happened to be complete, and that peculiarity would not be likely to be repeated.

That the one group did as well as the other is explained by the investigators as due to equally efficient care in both, in the one case, however, largely the care of highly trained nurses, and in the second to that of mothers with leisure and intelligence. Among the very poor each of the much more numerous babies had a decidedly smaller chance of life, but many more than enough of them survived to outnumber the other groups. Probably at the attainment of adult age the difference will not be nearly as large, for the excess of mortality will remain where it began.

CARTHUSIAN MONKS' FUND.

Courts of France Sustained M. Lecouturier's Management and Returns.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your number of Sunday, March 28, I find a statement substantially to the effect that grave suspicion rests on Mr. Lecouturier, the judicial liquidator of the property of the Carthusian Monks; that he is accused of allowing such property to be sold for a small amount, very much below its actual value. Your correspondent does not seem to be aware of the fact that the conduct of the business by Mr. Lecouturier has been judicially investigated by the courts of France, and that as a result of such investigation he has been sustained in every respect. The facts are substantially as follows:

Shortly after his appointment Mr. Lecouturier made a provisional contract with Mr. Cusenier. In such contract Mr. Cusenier bound himself, in case the brand and trade mark were sold at auction, to bid at least 1,500,000 francs. A Mr. Marnier-Lapostolle subsequently offered Mr. Lecouturier to bid at least 5,000,000 francs, a bid which was afterward reduced to 3,000,000 francs. This proposition was made after long negotiations and after all the details of the business had been carefully studied by Mr. Marnier-Lapostolle. Mr. Lecouturier induced Mr. Cusenier to waive any rights under the contract made with him, and after this was done he entered into a contract with Mr. Marnier-Lapostolle. When the auction took place Mr. Marnier-Lapostolle failed to make any bid, and the property was sold for only 500,000 francs to the Compagnie Fermiere de la Grande Chartreuse. Mr. Lecouturier thereupon brought a suit for damages resulting from the breach of this contract by Mr. Marnier-Lapostolle.

The suit was brought for the difference between the 3,000,000 francs which Marnier-Lapostolle agreed to bid and the amount actually realized. During all the phases of this suit, which was bitterly contested, and in which various appeals were taken, the defendant was allowed to introduce a mass of evidence, which, according to our American ideas, was mere hearsay, and to present to the court every rumor, opinion, and insinuation which in any way tended to discredit Mr. Lecouturier or impeach his business integrity and judgment. After the introduction of all this mass of evidence both the lower court and the Court of Appeals of Grenoble unhesitatingly decided in favor of Mr. Lecouturier and decided that the defendant had failed entirely to prove any fact which reflected in any sense unfavorably on the capacity or character of the liquidator or on the quality of the liqueur. The court below did not allow Mr. Lecouturier on technical grounds the full amount of his claim, but only 1,000,000 francs. On the 22d of June, 1909, the Court of Appeals reversed the judgment of the court below on this point, and awarded to Mr. Lecouturier the full amount claimed, namely, 2,500,000 francs. In this decision the court again approved in every respect of the acts of Mr. Lecouturier as liquidator.

MR. TAFT'S NEW COURSE.

With Mr. Roosevelt's Return Will Come the Test.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As you say of "Mr. Taft's New Course," it is deserving of our approbation, and in it, maybe, there is ground for hope—a renewal of the hope that first possessed us.

Who in this country did not welcome the advent of Mr. Taft as a calming specific—a sedative after the throes that had racked our organism? And who is there among us who has not watched the policy of blowing hot and blowing cold in friendly trustfulness of this man's rationality against the warp of party counsels?

Mr. Taft, though he was not elected unanimously by the people, has, it seems safe to say, been accepted gladly by the people as arbiter in the questions that affect their welfare. His broad experience, his judicial tendency, and, best of all, his honesty, have been recognized as a bearing upon our interests well nigh indisputable. Why should there be a cloud upon the horizon of our hopes? Why should we see the sunshine and then again the shadow?

The one answer that is only too plain is "Politics," not the politics that relates to the science of government, but politics in its meanest sense—"political trickery," as the dictionaries tell us.

Just here an era approaches in "Mr. Taft's New Course," an era that will put him to the test; an era in which we must discover whether Mr. Taft will stand for his people or fall for his party.

The return of Theodore Roosevelt may be counted as marking this era. E.

THE OUTRAGE UPON FINLAND.

Hopes Suffrage Associations Will Publish and Deliver Their Protests.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It gave me pleasure to read the letter of Mrs. Alice Hunt Smith in your columns calling for a general protest against the Czar's high-handed invasion of the constitutional rights of Finland.

The organ of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, with the approval of its President, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, publishes an appeal from the National Woman Suffrage Association of Hungary to the woman suffrage societies all over the world, urging them to hold meetings, pass resolutions of protest, and publish them in the local papers.

Disapproval of the Russian coup d'etat seems to be practically universal among Americans; I hear no attempt to justify it anywhere. But in order to do any good the public indignation must find voice. I hope the local suffrage associations will pass and publish resolutions of protest, and send a marked copy to the Russian Embassy at Washington. No doubt many other societies will do so, but it would be appropriate for the suffragists to lead off, since Finland was the first country in Europe to grant equal rights to women.

Widowed Mothers in Australia.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A correspondent in your columns described a charity which enables widowed mothers to keep their children with them. In Australia this is done by the State.

When a poor but respectable woman is left a widow with a large family of young children whom she cannot provide for the Government, of course, has to asume the support of the children. Instead of paying their board in an institution, or boarding them out in the families of strangers, it boards them with the mother, paying her a certain sum a month for each. In this way the family is kept together.

We are sometimes told that woman suffrage would "break up the home." It is interesting to note that this rational and humane plan to avoid the breaking up of homes originated in a land where women vote.

DENIES OWNING BUCKET SHOP.

Louis A. Cella Declares He Was Wrongly Indicted.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your esteemed and widely-read newspaper has given me much unenviable notoriety in the last few days, in connection with the Federal raid on bucket shops. Will you, therefore, be good enough to give the following an appropriate place in your columns to-morrow:

I have no bucket shop, and, therefore, my bucket shop was not and could not have been raided. I am neither an officer, Director, nor stockholder in the Standard Stock and Grain Dealers, with which you connected my name. I have never heard of Henry R. Duryee or Edward Everett Taylor in Washington, on account of whose business I have, it seems, been indicted. I have lived in St. Louis for the last twenty-five years of my life and have occupied there, I trust, a position of decent repute.

As President and practically the sole owner of the Southern Real Estate and Financial Company of St. Louis, I own the Missouri Trust Building, the American Hotel, the Public Library Building, and several commercial buildings there, and, therefore, am esteemed a person of some responsibility in that community. I never was arrested in my life and never before was indicted, much less convicted of any crime. I did not have to leave St. Louis on account of the activity of Gov. Folk, or for any other reason, and, in point of fact, still reside in that city. I have had extensive turf interests in the West, and when the law was passed in Missouri prohibiting betting on race tracks I caused the law to be obeyed, so far as my race tracks were concerned. And I have always endeavored to be a law-abiding citizen.

Happening to be in New York on a visit, I heard of the indictment against me, and through the courtesy of the United States Commissioner and of the Assistant United States Attorneys managed with some difficulty to be allowed to surrender myself to the United States authorities and be admitted to bail before the Special Government Agent could have the pleasure of incarcerating me for a few hours in his place in Nassau Street, or the special Central Office detective could have the pleasure of taking me to Police Headquarters and securing a "pedigree."

There seems to be no redress except to enter upon the defense of a litigation, and in due course to bring that defense, I may hope, to a successful conclusion. Meanwhile, I can only request any one who happens to know me, or to know my name, to be good enough to take the above disclaimer on my part into consideration, and to withhold any opinion until that litigation be ended.

NINETY PER CENT.

Mr. Green Would Have That the Passing Mark in Schools.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

During the past week several persons have professed satisfaction at some views on education advanced recently in your columns, and I further insist on the point of 90 per cent. as the proper mark for promotion—the point most needing attention.

The very perfection of school systems is the bane of the country; more than any other cause, in my opinion, they are urging people into urban as distinguished from rural life, for they practically say to parents: "Here are ways to make your children superior," and, playing on the creditable desire of parents to advance their children, they come in hordes from country places to the city. The news has reached foreign lands, too, and part of the congestion in this city is due to the news spread in schoolless Eastern Europe that here the folks are not only safe from being killed in pogroms and from being ground down in every other way but that education is free and even compulsory.

There is a charm about the word "compulsory." I know of nothing better fitted to arouse enthusiasm than "compulsory" education, paid for in some indefinite way out of the taxes. Those on whose behalf it is sought to be enforced can leave the city when they please and leave the taxpayers, whose interests are much more tangible than the rent-payers, to face the ever-increasing demands of the modern Moloch. These demands, if they stay in the city to get the "education," force them to pay so much for rent and the necessaries of life that the "education" is wasted on bloodless spectres—thus producing the further demand of progressive education, that they be fed at public expense. First ruin them at great effort, then ruin them at greater effort by pauperizing them—this seems to be the ideal.

Now, it seems incredible that any one can really believe in "compulsory" education, though children may be kept in school. Being kept in school, the next thing is to justify the keeping, and the resourceful educators promote "the child" with 60 per cent. of "its" work done—and the 60 per cent. is liberally interpreted and is in fact less. Such being done, the parent is placated and deluded into the belief that the child is being educated. The second, third, and other courses of schooling are laid in like manner and a premium actually placed on inefficiency—for the pupil never learns anything accurately save in rare instances.

You can find strings of them in upper elementary classes from one end of the city to the other who cannot read a paragraph from a simple book creditably, who know nothing of what they have read, even if their voices were clear and enunciation good, and who never by any chance arrive at the meaning of new or unusual words from the context of the sentence. One reason for this is that for years past a teacher has feared to be caught conducting so idle and inactive a lesson as a reading, although most of our knowledge is attained by it.

In arithmetic (and every other subject, for that matter) "the child," having been permitted to do 50 per cent. or 60 per cent. of its lessons for a dozen classes, each a half year in length, arrives at the upper elementary classes with 60 per cent. raised to the twelfth or fourteenth power of its nominal attainments as set forth in the syllabus, and, worse yet, with confirmed habits of shiftlessness and dawdling. The educators, to remedy this condition in the case of such pupils who enter "high" schools, actually install teachers of common branches instead of sending the pupils back.

It is all a magnificent delusion, almost a swindle, and the remedy is plain, being no more nor less than keeping "the child" in any given class till it has learned the lessons, thus rendering the next class's lessons not only easier but possible at all. A surprising number could do it, too, instead of being allowed to learn the lesson of inefficiency, and if a vastly greater number stayed in primary and lower elementary grades because of the 90 per cent. requirement they would abandon the idea of an "education," since they can not and do not get it anyway.

We hear much of conservation of natural resources—why not conserve the children?

Holding Up Business.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

On the text "Justice delayed is justice defeated" the splendid declaration of the late lamented Justice Brewer, let me ask whether the exigencies of the Supreme Court of the United States are so far above the welfare of the Nation that the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases there pending must continue to hold up the business of the entire country, as has been the fact in the tobacco case at least for months past.

Should not every other cause pending wait upon these decisions; and has not the country a right to expect that the Supreme Court will render these decisions without further delay?

New York, April 4, 1910. REASON.

TAFT'S SON AGAINST STUDENT WATCHERS

Yale Men Found They Lacked Sufficient Experience to be of Use in Last Election.

THEIR PRESENCE RESENTED

President's Boy Writes His Impression of Political Work for Students to Intercollegiate Civic Union.

Robert A. Taft, son of President Taft, sent a paper which was read yesterday at the annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Civic Union at Columbia, in which he gave his impressions of elections as they are carried on in New York. Mr. Taft was one of the party of Yale undergraduates who were recruited by the Republicans as watchers at the polls in the interest of pure politics. His conclusion was that undergraduates, while they gain a great deal of interesting experience for themselves, are of little use in practical politics.

Mr. Taft is President of the Yale Civic Government Club, and in his paper he told how a deputation from that organization came to New York the day before the election, and on visiting headquarters of the Republican Party, was assigned to different polls. He described the card catalogue supplied to each of the official watchers, in which were contained accurate descriptions of all the registered electors of the election district, and told how he was up at 5 o'clock in the morning in order to be on hand in time for the beginning of the election.

Things went smoothly at the poll at which he was stationed, and so about 12 o'clock he joined an automobile party, which went on a tour of inspection around the city.

"Along the Bowery," he said, "were some of the toughest-looking men I had ever seen hanging around the saloon or tailor shop or undertaker's parlor where the booths had been set up. In the rougher districts the room was always crowded with men simply talking or watching the election officers behind the rail. The law which allowed the public constant access to these rooms seemed rather ridiculous, as a great many of the men seemed to be there chiefly for the purpose of intimidation.

"We had a crowd of exceptionally big men with us. Our purpose was to show that the Republicans were alive and on the lookout for any crooked games and to encourage Republican voters in the heavy Tammany districts and to see that the watchers were numerous and active."

Mr. Taft said that in a few places it was suspected that the Republican leaders were in league with the Tammany people, but that the party of which he was a member felt that they could do nothing about it. When the trip was over he spent some time in walking about the streets and "mixing with Tammany Captains and a crowd of rough-looking fellows."

Summing up the result of his trip, he said that he did not think that students could be of much service as workers where they do not exactly belong, and "may even arouse the sort of opposition that always greets a tactless missionary." The experience, he said, was justified only by the increase of the practical knowledge of the students, and would be justified only on a particular occasion.

This brought out an interesting discussion in the convention on the advisability of students taking part in actual politics. A delegate from the City College asked whether the Yale men went through the east side in the typical garb of college students, with fancy socks and fraternity pins loudly displayed. A Yale man called his neighbor to witness that his own hose were black in hue, and declared that the City College man had an entirely erroneous idea of Yale undergraduates.

He declared that the men from New Haven had come to witness a New York election in an abjectly humble attitude and that it was the newspapers alone which had given to Mr. Taft the unpleasant notoriety on account of his being a President's son.

The Chairman, W. E. S. Griswold, Yale, '99, read an extract from a letter of a New York politician, in which this was said of the active work of students in things political:

"I know that among certain classes of people in New York the custom of bringing down college students as watchers arouses more hatred and indignation against colleges in general than anything else that could be done. The New Haven undergraduate does not, of course, belong in any kind of political work in New York City and when he gets into it generally acts with complete unwisdom and lack of tact or comprehension. For these latter he is not to be blamed, because he has had no experience which could enable him to know better, but the best solution is to keep him away altogether."

A paper was read by Roger Sherman Hoare of Harvard, in which he described the work of the Harvard Political Club. It has held public hearings on a number of matters at the university, the result of which has been the introduction in the Massachusetts Assembly of two measures, approved and drawn up by it, on injunctions and the conduct of political conventions.

At a lunch in Earl Hall the delegates, who represented such universities as Yale, Princeton, Columbia, New York, Cornell, Williams, Western Reserve, Northwestern, Kenyon, and Virginia were welcomed by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who spoke of the necessity of every politician having a sound knowledge of political literature as a basis of his activities. He recommended the thorough mastery of the Constitution of the United States, the Federalist, Marshall's Constitutional decisions, and Lincoln's writings, and also familiarity with Edmund Burke's speeches and writings, and Bagehot's "English Constitution." He declared that the study of politics is in importance second only to philosophy, and that politicians should apply to the solution of great problems the wisdom of their predecessors, rather than the information derived from newspapers.

MORE PLAYGROUNDS NEEDED.

Board of Education Seeking Vacant Lots for Summer Schools.

At a meeting of the Neighborhood Workers' Association yesterday morning at the Music School Settlement, 55 East Third Street, Dr. Stitt, who has charge of the vacation schools and recreation centres for the Board of Education, announced that more vacant lots were needed for the use of his department during next Summer.

Dr. Stitt said the programme includes evening meetings, study rooms for school children, game and reading rooms, and debating, athletic, literary, and dancing clubs for the older girls and boys. The study rooms have been established in neighborhoods "where the noise and confusion of tenement life prevented the children from doing their school work."

Dr. Stitt prophesied that they would greatly improve the work of the children.

Dancing clases for the older boys and girls is the latest experiment of the department and, Dr. Stitt declared, it has been very successful. Each Saturday night young men may attend the girls' dancing class, bringing their membership cards, signed by the school principal, to show they are in good standing. The dancing teacher may exclude any who misbehave.

"On St. Patrick's night I went to a school in Grand Street and watched the class," said Dr. Stitt. "There were two hundred young people enjoying themselves under the best conditions. Opposite the school was a dance hall. It was almost deserted. The suggestion that our pupils adjourn to the dance halls after the class is over is not true. Our boys and girls work during the day, and after dancing from 8 o'clock till 10:30 they are ready to go home."

For young men who might drift to the saloons athletic clubs are provided. Afternoon recreation centres for girls from 11 to 14 years old were strongly recommended, and a plea was made for better pianos.

RUSSIAN DANCERS TO RETURN IN FALL

Pavlowa and Mordkin Engaged by Metropolitan Opera Management for Five Months.

TO PRODUCE NEW BALLETS

Girl Dancer Says Russian School Combines the Dexterity of Italian and Grace of the French.

The Russian dancers, Anna Pavlowa and Michael Mordkin, who have been the sensation of this season in New York, have been engaged for the entire season next year by the Metropolitan Opera Company. This announcement will come as a surprise to many theatrical managers who have attempted to secure their services, and to the general public, who have understood that these dancers must remain in Russia during the Winter, and could only come here during the month of March.

As a matter of fact, they will be on hand some time in October, and will remain in America for five months. It is the intention of the opera company to produce several new ballets, Adam's "Giselle" for one, the scenario of which was sketched by Théophile Gauthier, and the Russians will also be seen in many new divertissements. During this long engagement the opera company will send the Russians on tour. They will be seen in Chicago, Boston, and the other cities of this country.

This engagement was made, it is said, against the personal wish of Mr. Gatti-Casazza, the present manager of the opera company. Mr. Gatti-Casazza believes that the success of the dancers is dangerous for the success of opera. However, his feelings in the matter have been overruled by the Board of Directors of the opera company, who are not averse to making money, especially when it can be made with such artistic results.

The official figures, which are said to have been paid for the Russian dancers are 40,000f., or $8,000 for thirty performances. As on several single evenings they have drawn this sum to the box office, their earning value may be estimated to be very great compared with their cost.

Their effect on the managers of New York has been electrical. These two dancers have received innumerable offers from other directions to go into vaudeville, to be starred in special ballets, or to dance in spectacular musical comedy productions. Fortunately for the direction of the Metropolitan Opera House, that institution had included an option clause for two more seasons in the contract which was made for the dancers this year.

However, the result of this will probably be the bringing of quantities of Russian dancers to these shores. Already there is some talk of a production of Tschaikowsky's "La Belle au Bois Dormant" by the Shuberts.

The Russians sail to-day on the Campania. They will dance for two months at the Palace Music Hall in London. After that they go to the Paris Opéra for a season. Then they return to London, and from there they go to St. Petersburg to dance at the Imperial Opera during the month of September, after which they return to New York.

On Monday night the dancers went through an experience which they had never had before in their lives, Mlle. Pavlowa said—that of dancing in two places wide apart on the same night. They had been engaged to dance at the concert given for the benefit of the Russian Immigrants' Home, at the Waldorf-Astoria, and later the Metropolitan management decided to have them dance also in Brooklyn at the closing performance at the Academy of Music, after "Madama Butterfly" had been sung.

The concert at the Waldorf commenced at 9 o'clock, and the Russians danced first. Six times in all they appeared, and they had not finished before 10. In the meantime Charles Strakosch of the Metropolitan Opera Company was waiting outside with a large touring car, and as soon as the dancers had stepped off the stage they were hurried into their wraps, still retaining their costumes; valises were hastily packed with other costumes, and, grasping piles of music and bow and arrows, Mordkin, Pavlowa, and Strakosch hurried down the elevator and into the car.

Once in the car, the pair threw aside their cloaks and breathed sighs of relief as they sped over toward Brooklyn. They peered out at the strange city, which was enveloped in a deep mist, and when the bridge was reached they were full of curiosity.

The ride was made in something under half an hour, and when the Brooklyn Academy was reached Miss Farrar had not yet finished her last notes in the final act of "Madama Butterfly." By the time the opera was finished and the stage reset Mlle. Pavlowa was ready to go on in "Le Cygne." The dancers also appeared in Chopin's C sharp minor valse, the "Papillon" valse, a variation of Tschaikowsky's, and the now famous "Bachanale" of Glazunow.

Last night at the Waldorf the dancers made their final New York appearance of the season, after which they were driven swiftly to Mrs. George Gould's, where they remained at a party until an early hour this morning, and at 11 o'clock to-day they will leave these shores.

Mlle. Pavlowa yesterday consented to talk for a few moments about the art of the dance. "The reason," she said, "why the Russian ballet school is so great is because it is a combination of the Italian and French schools. The Italian school makes a point of force, brilliancy, and dexterity, while the French school demands grace, suppleness, and plasticity. The Russian school combines the two.

"I have been asked why it is that I haven't muscular legs like other dancers, considering that my technique is as good as it is. The reason, I think, is that those other dancers are always seeking to astonish by feats of force, strength, and dexterity. They are not supple and they are not plastic. They do not recognize often the differences between different kinds of dances.

"A dancer should be able to change his manner with every costume, and that is what Mr. Mordkin and I try to do. We have enjoyed our success in America very much, and we shall be very glad to come back in the Fall."

Kneisel Quartet Ends Season.

The Kneisel Quartet closed its twenty-fifth season yesterday with a second special matinée concert outside of its subscription series at Mendelssohn Hall. As at the first matinée, the hall was crowded with lovers of chamber music, who followed the proceedings of the afternoon with close attention. The programme commenced with a performance of Robert Volkmann's quartet in G minor, not a work of the first importance. However, the beautiful reading which the Kneisels gave it excused its performance. The other quartet of the afternoon was Tschaikowsky's F major, with its fascinating scherzo. Between the two quartets Mr. Willeke and Heinrich Gebhard played Beethoven's A major sonata for 'cello and pianoforte.

Gustav Mahler Sails for Europe.

Gustav Mahler, the conductor of the Philharmonic Society Orchestra, sailed yesterday for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. "During my rest in the mountains," said Mr. Mahler, "I shall work on my next symphony, and also work out a programme for the concerts to be given next year. As usual we will play music from all schools, both ancient and modern. I think that the taste for modern music is growing, and that Richard Strauss will be a good deal more popular ten years hence than he is now." The conductor, who is accompanied by Mrs. Mahler, will go to Paris, Rome, and Vienna for concerts, and then to the mountains for a rest.

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish will give a large house party over April 23 at Garrison's, and a second over Decoration Day.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Sanford Rogers and Lieut. Henry Sheldon Green, U. S. M. C., will take place at St. James's Church at 4 o'clock this afternoon. There will be no reception.

The National Arts Club will give a reception and opening exhibition of pictures this evening in the gallery of the club, 14 Gramercy Park. The pictures are by Alfred East, President of the Royal Society of British Artists.

Mrs. Henry Siegel is booked to sail to-day on the Campania en route for Italy to be with her daughter, the Princess Dentice di Frasso. The Prince di Frasso is critically ill with typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield are sailing to-day for Patras, Greece, where, with friends, they are going on a yachting cruise. They will visit Dalmatia, Montenegro, and Herzegovina, going later to Carlsbad. Mr. and Mrs. Penfield will pass the Summer mortoring in Europe, and the early Autumn will be spent in England. They plan returning to America by November.

Mrs. J. De Forest Danielson is the guest of Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster in Newport for a few days.

Miss Janet Richards of Washington will give an illustrated lecture on "The Passion Play" at Oberammergau on Friday afternoon, April 15, at the Plaza for the benefit of the Babies' Wards' Guild of the Post-Graduate Hospital. Among the patronesses are Mrs. John R. Drexel, Mrs. Van Rensselaer Kennedy, Mrs. James F. McKernon, Mrs. William D. Barbour, Mrs. Henry R. Hoyt, and Mrs. Gustav Heye.

The Cotillion of Eight, which was organized nine years ago by people interested in the Charity Ball, has been discontinued with the present season.

There was a special performance of "The Millinery Shop" last evening in aid of the Widowed Mothers' Fund Association at the Waldorf-Astoria. Miss Anna Pavlowa and Michael Mordkin danced between the acts.

GEN. MILLER DROPS SUIT.

Never Could Serve Subpoena on Wife in Divorce Action.

FRANKLIN, Penn., April 5.—It was learned to-day that the suit for divorce instituted by Major Gen. Charles Miller, the oil man, against his wife, Mrs. Emma A. Miller, has been dropped. The subpoena in the case was never served, Mrs. Miller having led the process servers a merry chase through the State, and she is now believed to be in New York.

The attorney, in announcing the cancellation of the suit to-day, would not explain the motive for the action.

DANCES AT THE PLAZA.

Miss Sachetto and Her Pupils Perform for Society.

Miss Rita Sachetto of the Metropolitan Opera House and some of her pupils gave an entertainment at the Plaza yesterday afternoon called "Dances and Pantomimes of To-day and Yesterday." Following the overture by the orchestra Miss Sachetto in a crinoline gown of the Empress Eugenie's time did Loin du Bal to music by Gillet, following it by the Lure of the Siren, L'Amourette de Pierrot, the Dance of the Butterfly and a Hungarian dance.

Part II. consisted of Simonetta's Dance and Death, after Botticelli and the Pre-Raphaelites. This showed a huge picture frame of gold, against the dark crimson background of which hung dull rose-colored gauze, edged with roses. On a couch against this drapery were seated Miss Helen Coster and Miss Una Fairweather in lilac and greenish-blue gauze draperies, with flowing hair dressed, the one with purple the other with blue flowers, as they wore garlands, Simonetta, Miss Irmgard von Rottenthal, in pale pink, with roses in her hair, dancing to the music of Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," and the other two then rise and dance the Death Dance to music by Tenaglia. Simonetta dies and is led to the couch and the rose-colored, rose-bordered drapery is, to slow music and dancing, laid over her. The Angel of Death, Miss Madeleine Dabo, in soft brown draperies, then leads in Lorenzo di Medici, Rita Sachetto, and as he kneels at the bier the pantomime ends.

Andalouse and Miss Sachetto also danced the Toreador of the Caprice Espagnol with castanet solo, and closed with the Tarentelle.

Among the patronesses and others, most of whom were present, were Mrs. Archibald S. Alexander, Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Mrs. J. W. Alexander, Miss Katherine Atterbury, Mrs. Courtland D. Barnes, Mrs. Edmund L. Baylies, Mrs. Gordon Knox Bell, Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden, Mrs. Arthur O. Choate, Mrs. Andreas Dippel, Mrs. A. Leo Everett, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Mrs. Ben Ali Haggin, Mrs. James B. Haggin, Mrs. H. Harold Henderson, Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, Mrs. Otto Kahn, Mrs. Francis G. Landon, Mrs. Lewis C. Ledyard, Mrs. Howard Mansfield, Mrs. Jacob W. Miller, Mrs. Lewis S. Morris, Mrs. Amos Pinchot, Mrs. Dallas Bache Pratt, Miss Beatrice Pratt, Miss Constance Pratt, Mrs. Henry H. Rogers, Mrs. J. West Roosevelt, Miss Margaret Roosevelt, Mrs. Rudolph E. Schirmer, Miss Emily Dearborn Ayres, Mrs. F. Harper Sibley, Mrs. Alexander D. B. Pratt, Mrs. G. Montgomery Tuttle, Mrs. Harold Villard, Mrs. David Wagstaff, Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, Mrs. J. R. Worthington, Mrs. William May Wright, and Mrs. Kurz Ziegler.

HONOR JOSEPHINE P. PEABODY.

Luncheon To-day to Playwright Who Won Stratford-on-Avon Prize.

Josephine Preston Peabody, the playwright, whose play "The Piper" has recently received the Stratford-on-Avon prize; Edith Wynne Matthison of The New Theatre, Charles Rann Kennedy, author of "The Servant in the House"; Henry Van Dyke, Winthrop Ames, Director of The New Theatre, and others will be guests of honor at the annual luncheon of the League for Political Education to-day at 1 o'clock at the Hotel Astor. E. R. L. Gould, President of the Board of Trustees, will preside. The occasion will centre about the departure for England in a few days of Josephine Preston Peabody, (who is Mrs. Lionel S. Marks of Cambridge, Mass., her husband being Prof. Marks of Harvard University,) in order to receive the prize in person at Stratford.

Mrs. Marks submitted her play, "The Piper," in November under conditions which made it impossible for the committee to know that it was written by a woman and an American.

Among other special guests at the luncheon will be Little Bison, the Sioux Indian, son of the famous chief Big Foot, who lost his life at the battle of Little Big Horn, when Gen. Custer was killed. Dr. Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue will also be a guest.

Secretary of the Treasury Franklin MacVeagh has accepted the invitation of the Illinois Society, through its President, George W. Perkins, for a dinner in his honor on the birthday of Gen. Grant, April 27, at Sherry's.

Count and Countess Sigray Sail.

Count Anton Sigray and the Countess Sigray, who was Miss Harriet Daly, sailed yesterday for Europe on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II. The newly wedded couple will land at Plymouth and spend some time in England, after which they will proceed to the Sigray home at Ivancz, near Budapest, where they will spend the Summer.

MRS. HETTY GREEN AGAIN IN SOCIETY

Son of the Richest Woman in the World Denies That She Is Ill.

GOES TO NEWPORT SOON

Mother of Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks May Continue Her Social Campaign —Has Made Many New Friends.

A report that Mrs. Hetty Green was seriously ill was said last night by her son, Col. E. H. R. Green of Texas, who is staying at the Waldorf-Astoria, to be unfounded. Mrs. Green was as well and active as usual, he said, and had been out yesterday for an automobile ride.

Mrs. Green, it is understood, has been arranging to spend the Summer in Newport with her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks. Mrs. Green is said already to have several residences under consideration, and may even open an active social campaign in Newport.

Her decision to spend the Summer at Newport, it was asserted, was due mostly to the persuasion of Miss Annie Leary, who is her close friend, and who brought about the meeting that led to her daughter's marriage to Mr. Wilks. It was less than a month ago that Mrs. Green was said to have given to Miss Leary a large plot of land in Fifth Avenue, near the Museum of Art, for a memorial university of art.

Upon several occasions Mrs. Green has taken apartments at uptown hotels, notably the Plaza and the St. Regis, so as to be near her daughter, who lives at 440 Madison Avenue. On one occasion she gave a dinner at the Plaza, at which the gold service was used, and report had it then that Mrs. Green would continue to plunge into society and spend money on entertainments the rest of her life.

But all such projects were apparently abandoned when Mrs. Green returned to her modest flat at 1,309 Bloomfield Street, Hoboken, and instead of going to Newport for the Summer spent the hot months at the old family home at Bellows Falls, Vt.

But the brief glimpse of the fashionable world, it is said, and the pleasure of many friendships which she enjoyed with members of New York society, it is declared, caused Mrs. Green to again take up her social life. Mr. and Mrs. Wilks go to Newport every season, and it is a certainty now that Mrs. Green will be chronicled this Summer as riding in her automobile up and down Bellevue Avenue and attending many of the social functions.

MRS. J. S. ULMAN ENTERTAINS.

Gives Dinner Dance at Her Residence for Miss Eleanor G. Brown.

Mrs. J. Stevens Ulman entertained last evening with a dinner dance at her residence, 24 East Eighty-first Street, for her cousin, Miss Eleanor Granville Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Post Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Ulman and Miss Brown received the guests in the drawing room. The latter wore a gown of blue satin under black chiffon and spangles, and carried orchids and gardenias. There were some seventy dinner guests, who sat at small tables decorated with Spring flowers.

A few additional guests were invited to the cotillion, which started shortly after dinner, and was led by Franklin Plummer, dancing with Miss Borwn. There were about forty couples. A buffet supper was served at midnight.

Among those invited were the Misses Alice Kortright, Gertrude Leverich, Mildred G. Townsend, Bessie Claflin, Gertrude Cheever, Martha Kobbe, Anita Ingersoll, Kathryn Motley, Eleanor Hastings, Jean Roosevelt, Charlotte Wyeth, Phyllis De Kay, Constance Folsom, Isabel Atterbury, Muriel and Nathalie Kelley, Elise Ladew, Mildred Poor, Wilfreda Mortimer, Doris Dick, Marjorie Noyes, Amie Myers, Mary Wilde, Elizabeth Fowler, Harriet Glover, Fanny Dickinson, Madeleine O'Brien, Miss Ludlow, Miss Bogart, and Miss Frances Mears of Philadelphia.

Allan Hudson, John Perry, Halstead Vander Poel, T. Chesley Richardson, Franklin Plummer, Beekman Hoppin, Phoenix Ingraham, Robert Butt, Marshall Kernochan, Allan Wellman, Edmund Fairfax, Theron Strong, Tarleton Goldthwaite, Emmet and Duncan Harris, Frederick and Arthur Gwynne, Lynford Dickinson, Dongon De Peyster, De Lancey Coster, Linzee Blagden, Stuyvesant Fish, Jr., Wentworth Bacon, Thomas Kearney, Harvey Ladew, Philip Green, Roger Minton, Daniel S. Riker, Henry L. Burnett, Jr., Douglas Green, Alfred Macy, Harold Imbrie, Wright Barclay, Griswold Thompson, Lawrence Atterbury, J. Egmont Schermerhorn, James De Wolf Cutting, Sumner Gerard, Nathan Lord, George Bolling Lee, David Munroe Cary, Carlisle Boyd, and Campbell Steward.

Imbrie-Greenwood Wedding April 26.

The wedding of Miss Mary Whittlesey Greenwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Greenwood, Jr., formerly of St. Louis and now of this city, to William Morris Imbrie, Jr., will take place on Tuesday, April 26, at noon, in the Marble Collegiate Church. The matron of honor will be the bride's sister, Mrs. William A. Herron, whose husband is a cousin of Mrs. William Howard Taft, and the bridesmaids will be the Misses Caroline Garrett and Hazel Joerdet of St. Louis, Miss Gretchen Greenwood, sister of the bride, and Miss Jean Imbrie, a sister of Mr. Imbrie. Henry A. Wells will be best man. The ushers will be chosen later.

Miss Greenwood was a classmate of Miss Adelaide McAlpin a few years ago at the Villa du Pont School in Paris, and while traveling abroad both narrowly escaped death at the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. Their marriage takes place in the same week, Miss McAlpin's wedding being set for April 25. Returning to this country, Miss Greenwood made her début two years ago in St. Louis.

Mr. Imbrie is a member of the Stock Exchange and a Vice President of the Packard Dredging Company of Providence, R. I.

DR. CHARLES ORRIN DAY DEAD.

Was President of Andover Theological Seminary for Seven Years.

Special to The New York Times.

ANDOVER, Mass., April 5.—Charles Orrin Day, formerly President of the Andover Theological Seminary, died suddenly of heart disease this afternoon while on a visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert P. Keep. He had been in poor health the past year and had given up active work.

Dr. Day was for many years a prominent figure in Congregational circles in New England. For seven years he was President of the Andover Theological Seminary, holding the Bartlett Professorship of Homiletics and Practical Theology at the seminary from 1901 till 1908. He was born in Catskill, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1851, and prepared for college at the Hopkins Grammar School. He was graduated from Yale in 1872. He studied in Europe in 1872 and 1873, and spent a year at the Yale Graduate School. The next three years he spent at Andover, graduating from the Andover Theological Seminary in 1877. The following year he served as City Missionary at Montreal.

After his ordination to the ministry in 1879 he held pastorates at Williamsburg, Penn., and Brattleboro, Vt., until 1898. During the Spanish war he served as Chaplain in the First Vermont Infantry at Chickamauga.

MRS. STREET'S COSTUME DANCE.

Many of the Girls in Costumes They Wore in "Captain Jinks."

Mrs. William A. Street gave a small costume dance last evening at her residence, 43 Park Avenue, for her daughter, Miss Anna Street. The dance was preceded by a dinner at the home of Mrs. Frederick Pearson, 3 West Fifty-seventh Street.

Many of the girls came dressed in the costumes worn by them in "Captain Jinks" last February, as did Miss Anna Street, who wore the same old-fashioned costume in brown she wore when she took the part of Mrs. Merriam. Miss Frieda Pearson had on a red peasant costume and Miss Laura Webb was dressed as a flower girl in a tulle dress, with pink roses.

Miss Alice Kortright went as a lady in the time of Marie Antoinette, with powdered hair with roses, and a pink striped skirt. Miss Catherine Hamersley was dressed as a shepherdess in a flowered pale blue satin dress, an old-fashioned kerchief, and muslin apron.

Miss Lillian Endicott wore a gipsy costume and large hoop earrings, red shoes and hose, a handkerchief tied about her head, and a green skirt with a band at the bottom.

Miss Ruth Adams was a Bulgarian peasant with a red skirt, embroidered apron, and embroidered waist with black bodice.

Miss Joan Tuckerman wore an old Colonial costume of light blue satin, short waisted, and had her hair powdered.

Miss Eleanor Burrill was a shepherdess in a costume of light blue silk.

Others present were the Misses Beatrice Flagg, Jean Roosevelt, Frances Burr, Civilise and Virginia Alexandre, Elizabeth Fowler, Maude Gwynne Shepherd, Leila Haven, Marie Seton, Marion Kennedy, Rose Kane, and Marshall Kernochan, Robert Fowler, Jr., Townsend Lawrence, Stephen Van Rensselaer, Wadsworth Lewis, Robert Le Roy, Henry Morgan, Malcolm Sloane, Gavin Hadden, Albert Hoffman, Lanier Winslow, Newton Rae, and George Roosevelt.

MISS MARY H. PELL A BRIDE.

Wedded to Charles Noe Daly in Church of the Ascension.

Mrs. Mary Hutton Pell and Charles Noe Daly were married yesterday afternoon in the Church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street. The Rev. Percy Stickney Grant officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a small reception at the home of Mrs. Pell, 6 East Forty-third Street. Relatives and a few intimate friends only were invited to the church.

Mrs. Pell's matron of honor and only attendant was Mrs. Mary Willard Hatch, who also gave her in marriage. The bride wore a gown of gray satin trimmed with gray and silver, and a gray straw hat trimmed with plumes. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Hatch was in black and pink. Frederic H. Hatch, Mr. Daly's brother-in-law, was best man. There were no ushers.

Before her marriage to Alexander Mercer Pell the bride was Miss Mary Hutton Ecclesine. She obtained a divorce from Mr. Pell in 1907.

Among those at the church yesterday were Mrs. S. Otis Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Tailer, Mrs. Adolf Ladenburg, Dr. Percy R. Turnure and Mrs. Turnure, Mr. and Mrs. John Corbin, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dennison Hatch, Joseph Wells, Louis Hosmer, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Confeldt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks, Mrs. W. H. Daly, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hatch, Morris Ely, Mrs. John B. Van Schaick, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Franklin, and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ruland.

Dare A. Macbeth Dies in Mexico.

Dare A. Macbeth, assistant general solicitor of the National Surety Company, died in the City of Mexico on March 30. He was in his forty-first year. Mr. Macbeth was born in St. Louis, Mo., the son of Fannie A. Macbeth. He studied law and was admitted to the bar at Indianapolis when 21 years old. In 1892 he became connected with the first local board agency established in Indianapolis by the American Surety Company. In 1894 he became special agent of the Central States for the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Baltimore. He became Superintendent of agencies for the American Bonding and Trust Company in 1898, holding the position for four years. From 1892 to 1905 he was general manager of the Bankers' Surety Company. Since 1905 Mr. Macbeth had been assistant general solicitor of the National Surety Company of New York in charge of the claim department with offices at 115 Broadway. He is survived by a wife, who, before her marriage, was Miss Mary A. Zion.

Commits Suicide as Her Chum Did.

Grief over the death of her old friend, Katherine Lee, who ended her life on Sunday by taking carbolic acid in her home, 273 Henderson Street, Jersey City, caused Mrs. Margaret Clark to do the same thing at her home, 42 Wayne Street, Jersey City, yesterday morning. Her husband found her unconscious on the floor. A bottle that had contained carbolic acid was beside her. She was taken to the City Hospital, where she died. Miss Lee, who ended her life on Sunday, and Mrs. Clark had been close friends.

BUSINESS TROUBLES

NEW YORK CORNICE AND SKYLIGHT WORKS.—Judge Hough has appointed L. Harding Rogers receiver in bankruptcy for the New York Cornice and Skylight Works of 408 East 151st Street; bond $1,000. Assets are estimated at $3,000 in machinery, materials, and accounts.

FRITZ BRODT.—Judge Hough has dismissed the petition in bankruptcy filed on March 4 against Fritz Brodt, who formerly had the catering privilege at Ellis Island, and who kept a saloon and hotel at 385 West Street, by default, as no one appeared for the petitioning creditors when the case was called for trial.

MAYER LEVY.—Judge Hough has appointed Charles L. Cohn receiver in bankruptcy, for Mayer Levy, manufacturer of suspender trimmings, 321 East Third Street, on application of J. Brandt & Son, creditors, who stated that about $1,000 of assets had been concealed in a basement seven or eight blocks away, which had been removed from his place of business on Friday.

A. C. HOWARD POLISH COMPANY.—Judge Hough has dismissed the petition in bankruptcy filed on March 22 against the A. C. Howard Polish Company, incorporated, of 205 Water Street. It was stated that William H. Bird and some other creditors, who are also stockholders, have bought or paid off all claims against the company with their own money and not with any funds of the company. Liabilities were $18,625.

HENRY MEYERHOFF.—Henry Meyerhoff of 1,402 Broadway, manager for vaudeville booking, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $6,529 and assets of 110 shares of stock of the Lemon Creek Company, no value. He has eleven creditors, among whom are Harry A. Dorsey, Montreal, $2,133, loans; Edward Hirsch, Palisades Park, New Jersey, $750, and Harrington & Duffy, Cincinnati, $1,245, services. He owes $1,794 to four lawyers for legal services, $222 for telephone, and $103 for telegrams.

MORRIS I. PERLOWITZ.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Morris I. Perlowitz, dealer in clothing on the installment plan at 112 West Fourteenth Street, this city, and 920 Broadway, Brooklyn, by these creditors: Harry Leight, $343; Alexander Kahn, $207, and Morris Streicher, $75, all on assigned claims. Judge Hough appointed John Gruenberg receiver on consent of Mr. Perlowitz. Assets are estimated at $3,500 in stock and accounts. In November last he filed a certificate of trade style as the Standard Outfitting Company. He has been in business about ten years. A petition in bankruptcy was filed against Morris I. Perlowitz on Oct. 27, 1902, and a discharge was granted Jan. 19, 1903.

BLOOM & STURMAN.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against William Bloom and Charles Sturman, who compose the firm of Bloom & Sturman, manufacturers of misses' suits, at 33-35 West Seventeenth Street, by James, Schell & Elkus, attorneys for these creditors: Feierls, Buhler & Co., $1,000; William P. Coe, $50, and C. A. Auffmordt & Co., $50. It is alleged that they are insolvent by admitting it in writing and consenting to be adjudicated bankrupts. Mr. Bloom began business in October, 1907, and Mr. Sturman in May, 1899, and a year ago they consolidated and formed the firm of Bloom & Sturman. A statement of their financial condition on Oct. 31 last showed liabilities of $50,508 and assets of $81,865. Since then they have paid off a large part of their indebtedness and owe now, it said, about $20,000. Assets are now estimated at $8,000 to $10,000.

ROBERT E. LANE.—A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday against Robert E. Lane, independent dealer in tobacco and cigars, of 16 Wall Street, who has stands in various downtown office buildings, by Thomas & Oppenheimer for these creditors: George J. Mahr, $719; Strand Tobacco Company, $173, and James H. Nottage, $50. It is alleged that he is insolvent and admitted in writing his inability to pay his debts. Liabilities are from $20,000 to $23,000 and assets probably $15,000 to $20,000. Lane formerly did a large business, but it declined in the last few years, and in the trade it is said that he could not compete with the trust. The rentals for his cigar stands aggregated $16,000 a year. It is said Lane has some tobacco in warehouses, some of the receipts for which are pledged to the Shoe and Leather Bank as security for notes of $2,700. Other notes are falling due, and he was not able to meet them. He began business in 1899 at 111 Broadway.

HAVEMEYER WINS HARD TENNIS MATCH

Racquet Club Expert Defeats Huhn of Philadelphia, 3 Sets to 1, in Tourney.

Philadelphia and New York again clashed yesterday in the second day's play of the amateur court tennis championship at the New York Racquet Club, when T. A. Havemeyer, representing the New York Racquet and Tennis Club, defeated W. H. T. Huhn of Philadelphia in a hard four-set match by the score of 6—3, 6—5, 6—8, 8—6. Although the contest lacked many of the finer points of court tennis, it was very interesting in that the Quaker, when practically hopelessly beaten, made a splendid rally and almost snatched victory from defeat. With the exception of the first set the match was stubbornly contested throughout, two of the sets going to vantage before a decision was reached.

The exhibition of the Philadelphian was very commendable. Although he has been playing tournament games but two seasons, he handled himself at times like a veteran, and in addition met one of the strongest players in the local club. His plucky display in the third set, when he ran from 2—5 to 8—6 and captured the set, won for him unstinted applause, but the effort was unavailing, for, although he managed to carry the fourth and deciding set to vantage before he was put out of the running, he did not have any too much luck in the court.

But for an error of judgment, due to lack of familiarity with court rules, Huhn might have been returned the victor. In the second set, with the score 5 games all, Havemeyer drove a ball over the rafter. Huhn though the ball was out of court and caught it in his hand as it descended. The point was awarded to Havemeyer, much to the surprise of the Philadelphian, who thought the championship rules were the same as those of the Philadelphia Racquet Club in this respect. Had he played the ball and won the point he would have had an excellent chance of winning the match.

The technical score was a peculiar one, and reflected the play of the two contestants. There were very few successful plays for the winning openings. Huhn reached the dedans eight times, while Havemeyer added five points to his score by this play. The Quaker did not score on the grille once, but secured five winning openings, against three grille shots and two winning openings for Havemeyer. Huhn went out of court twice and was guilty of one double fault, while the New York expert lost one point through wild hitting. The total games were: Havemeyer, 26; Huhn, 22.

Two games will be played to-day. At 1 P. M. Payne Whitney, New York Racquet and Tennis Club, will meet Dr. Miskey of Philadelphia, and at 2:30 Joshua Crane of Boston will cross racquets with T. A. Havemeyer. The summary:

FIRST SET.

Havemeyer ....1 1 0 0 1 1 1 0 1—6

J. E. Sullivan Finds Western Athletic Conditions in Good Shape.

James E. Sullivan, Secretary-Treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, returned to New York yesterday from a tour of inspection of amateur athletic conditions west of the Mississippi, which he made in the company of Everett C. Brown of Chicago, President of the union. Mr. Sullivan said that a new Western association would shortly be formed, although as yet neither its name nor the territory to be placed within its jurisdiction had been decided upon.

"The trip was made," said Mr. Sullivan last evening, "to look over the athletic clubs and playground associations, &c., in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri, and to see whether the conditions there warranted the formation of a new association. We found, I am glad to say, that good health and sound mind were the predominant features of the territory, so far as amateur athletics are concerned, and that, with a strong governing body that will give the district home rule, they will soon be very much improved.

"We found the West rapidly coming to the Eastern idea relative to parent bodies governing amateur athletics. They realize now that some one must be in the position to make the rules and penalties and then to inflict these penalties when such a course becomes necessary.

"As a result of our Western trip Omaha has been designated as the headquarters of the association of the Amateur Athletic Union, which will shortly be given a definite name and territory. Omaha will, so far as amateur athletics in that district are concerned, be subordinate only to St. Louis as the head and centre of the Amateur Athletic Union out West. It seems likely at this time that the National meeting to be held next November the new district will be called the Missouri Valley Association, and that it will embrace in its jurisdiction Western Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa."

ORPHANS' DAY OUTING.

President Pardee Orders Meeting to Arrange for Sixth Annual Event.

President K. C. Pardee of the Orphans' Automobile Day Committee of New York, has instructed Secretary Schwalbach to call a general meeting of the committee at Reisenweber's, Eighth Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street, on Monday, April 11, at 1 o'clock, so that preparations for an early campaign may be inaugurated at once.

The meeting, the first of the year, will therefore be an important one, and a large attendance of those interested is desired. The Ladies' Auxiliary committee, in charge of Mrs. J. Norwood Smith, who did such excellent work last year, are already in the field, and they hope that the day for the sixth annual orphans' automobile outing will be set early enough in June, so that a great many cars will be entered before they go away to the country for the season.

As usual, cars and cash will be necessary, and more so than ever this year, because the committee will now have to take care of 4,000 orphan and dependent children on this day for the institution orphans of New York City, when their annual outing combines the twenty-five-mile ride in an automobile and sightseeing at Coney Island.

Three Riders Fall in Hunt.

Special to The New York Times.

MEADOW BROOK, N. Y., April 5.—Three falls marked the run of the Meadow Brook Hounds to-day. The riders were Messrs. Bell, Davis, and Hayes. Aside from a coating of mud they were unhurt. The meet was at Roslyn, near Harbor Hill, and the finish at George B. MacDonald's estate, Westbury. The others out were Henry Fletcher Godfrey, Miss Bell, Mr. Schwartz, and Beverly Robinson. On May 7 the "farmers' day," to be held at the club, will consist of gymkhana events, in which the farmers of the surrounding country will participate.

Canada May Stop Race Track Betting.

OTTAWA, Ontario, April 5.—The bill to prohibit betting on the race tracks in Canada will be reported from committee to-morrow. The chief fight will be to delay the adoption by the House until such time as will be too late for the Senate to enact the bill into law. If the measure is delayed a week there will be but slight chance of its becoming law this year.

Vanderbilt Horse Wins $8,000 Stake.

PARIS, April 5.—The Prix d'Orgeval, selling, of $600, run at Maisons-Laffitte to-day, was won by Eugene Fischof's Indian Prince. The Prix Lagrange, for three-year-olds, of $8,000, was won by W. K. Vanderbilt's Messidor III.

COURTNEY'S LATEST SHAKEUP

Two Changes in Cornell 'Varsity Boat and Four in Junior Eight.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 5.—Two changes in the 'Varsity boat and four in the junior eight were noted when the Cornell crews left the boathouse for the lake this afternoon, after the biggest shakeup since rowing began this Spring. Stroke Distler of last year's freshman eight was sent to the premier position in the big boat, Wiechers going back to the second crew. Coach Courtney plans to give Distler a thorough workout.

Wakeley was shifted from the junior eight to the big boat, at No. 3, while Beyea went back to the second crew. Other new men in the second are O'Conner and Stimson. Johnson and Ferguson were removed from that boat to the junior four.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Grains and Cotton Decline on Brightening Crop Outlook—Provisions Steady on Small Arrivals.

Wheat was weak under the influence of favorable weather conditions and increasing stocks. The weather map early showed a widely extended rainstorm and still raining from Eastern Kansas into the Ohio Valley and from the Gulf north to the lakes. The rainfall was at points quite heavy, and the question of dry weather has been completely and effectually eliminated over practically the entire country, excepting portions of Nebraska and Kansas. With the question of the dry weather out of the way the market was influenced by the increasing stocks and the poor cash demand. The Ohio State report, out early, while showing a loss of 10 points, compared with December, showed a condition of 83, and was 21 points better than last year, and showed more wheat in farmers' hands than a year ago. Another point was made that with the rain since the 1st of April the Government report for April 1 would show conditions at practically their worst. The deterioration had been checked by the rains, and the crop started improving again. The statistics showed an increase of 976,000 bushels in Bradstreet's American visible, against 782,000 bushels decrease last year, and a gain in the world's stock of 1,202,000 bushels, all in North America, against a decrease of 3,814,000 bushels a year ago. The market late was dull and rather heavy. The Chicago market was closed on account of the Spring election. Cash wheat quoted No. 2 red Winter $1.23, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 2 red, spot, nominal, free on board, afloat, $1.24½; No. 1 Northern, Duluth, opening, $1.28½ nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, nominal; No. 1 Northern, Manitoba, $1.17⅝.

The tone of the corn market was dull and heavy with wheat. There was further pressure on the cash market, and prices were influenced to some extent by the rains which will put the ground in good condition for plowing, and by the persistent lack of cash demand to take care of the cash corn. Bradstreet's visible, however, showed a decrease of 1,402,000 bushels for the week, while Chicago stocks gained 310,000 bushels in the contract total. Cash corn quoted No. 2 nominal, elevator, export basis; No. 4, 60c asked and steamer, 62½c, nominal, all elevator export basis.

The provision market was without feature in absence of Western advices. Live hogs were steady with small arrivals West.

COTTON.

The cotton market was active and very weak. It opened down on the cables and the favorable weather conditions, but there was pronounced pressure in evidence most of the day and rallies were feeble, while breaks were serious.

The weather map showed further good rains west of the Mississippi, and now the weather ceases to be a factor on the bull side. East of the river showers were predicted, and the question of drought is a thing of the past. The taking of this support from the market brought all the pressure against the bull interests in the near positions, and the bull interest did not appear to be willing or able to withstand the pressure. Prices broke very rapidly and at the low point were down about 1c a pound from the high level. While it was asserted that the bull position in the May was practically unchanged and Mr. Patten and Mr. Hayne denied that they had sold out their cotton or been forced to settle, the trade as a whole seemed to accept the idea that the bull control of the near positions had been very materially reduced, if not completely eliminated. Although the relative strength of the May compared with July showed that congestion still existed, the market in the afternoon was very irregular and unsettled at the decline. Large spot and Southern interests were reported liberal sellers. Southern spot markets unchanged to ¼ decline.

New York spot cotton quiet, 25 decline; middling uplands, 14.55; middling Gulf, 14.80.

COFFEE.

Coffee was moderately active, with sales of 20,000 bags, but prices, after opening steady at unchanged to 5 points advance, influenced by steady cables and fair buying for outside account, closed unchanged to 5 points lower, with considerable liquidation in the near positions. Havre closed ¼ franc higher, Hamburg was unchanged to ¼ pfennig advance, and in Brazil, Rio was 25 reis lower and Santos was unchanged. The steamship Byron cleared from Rio with 17,000 bags. The visible supply of Brazilian coffee in and afloat for the United States is 3,345,019 bags, against 3,902,255 last year and 3,789,491 two years ago. Spot coffee easy; Rio No. 7, 7⅛c.

(a) to consent to, approve and authorize an increase of the authorized common capital stock of the Company by the addition thereto of stock in the par amount of $36,739,700, to be divided into 367,397 shares of the par value of $100 each, so as to make the total authorized par amount of such common capital stock $100,000,000, consisting of 1,000,000 shares of the par value of $100 each;

(b) to authorize the creation of an issue of convertible bonds of the Company, to be known as its Four and One-Half Per Cent. Twenty-Year Convertible Gold Bonds, to be limited to a principal amount of not exceeding $37,200,000 at any one time outstanding, such bonds to be issued, from time to time, either as coupon bonds of the denomination of one thousand dollars, or as registered bonds of the denomination of one thousand dollars or of any multiple of one thousand dollars that the Board of Directors of the Company, by resolution, may from time to time prescribe, such bonds to bear such date or dates, to be payable, both principal and interest, in such currencies and at such fixed rate or rates of exchange, and to be convertible at the option of the holder into common stock of the Company upon such terms, as said Board may determine and as may be provided in any trust indenture approved by said Board under which such convertible bonds may be issued; such bonds and such indenture to contain such provisions as to conversion, redemption, maturity, and otherwise as said Board may determine and such indenture to contain appropriate provision to the end that the Company shall not (1) create any additional mortgage upon the lines of railroad owned by it at the date of such indenture or upon any part thereof without making effective provision in such additional mortgage that all such bonds then outstanding, unpaid and unconverted, under such indenture shall be secured under such additional mortgage by a lien upon said lines of railroad, which shall be upon a parity with the lien thereupon enjoyed by any bonds or other obligations issued under such additional mortgage and secured thereby, nor (2) during the life of the conversion privilege, issue any stock entitled to preference or priority over its common stock;

(c) to approve the form and terms of such bonds and of such indenture; to authorize the issue and disposition of such bonds; to authorize so much of such additional stock as may be required, to be reserved and set aside and used, together with the unissued remainder of the common capital stock as now authorized, solely for the conversion of such bonds, and to authorize the residue of said $36,739,700 additional of said common stock to be issued from time to time as said Board may, in the exercise of its lawful discretion, determine;

(d) to ratify and confirm such action theretofore taken or authorized by said Board, in anticipation of such action of the Stockholders, as may be submitted to the meeting; and

(e) to transact such other business as may properly be brought before the meeting.

The stock transfer books of the Company will be closed for said meeting on the 5th day of April, 1910, at 3 o'clock P. M., and will be reopened on the 29th day of April, 1910, at 10 o'clock A. M.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF LIQUIDATION, CITY DEBT, Room 206 City Hall Annex.
New Orleans, March 11, 1910.

The Board of Liquidation, City Debt, acting under authority of Act No. 19 of the General Assembly of the State of Louisiana for the session of 1906 and Act No. 116 of said General Assembly for the session of 1908, both of which said acts have been ratified by Constitutional Amendments and have become part of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana, will receive sealed proposals at its office in the City of New Orleans, Louisiana, up to twelve o'clock noon on Tuesday, April 12th, 1910, for the purchase of seven million dollars in face value of the new public improvement bonds of the City of New Orleans, authorized by and to be issued under the provisions of the acts aforementioned and the Constitutional Amendments ratifying same.

Said bonds are of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, and bear interest at the rate of four per cent. (4%) per annum, evidenced by interest coupons attached, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July of each year respectively. They are by law exempt from taxation, State, parish and municipal.

Said bonds are payable January 1st, 1942, and are subject to call at the option of the City of New Orleans after January 1st, 1928, and will be issued under and subject to the acts aforementioned, which are referred to and made part hereof for greater certainty and particularity. Said proposals shall be received under and subject to the following conditions, to wit:

1st. No sale shall be made of any of the said bonds unless the aggregate of the bid or bids shall be for the full amount of said bonds, to wit, $7,000,000 in face value.

2d. Said bonds will be adjudicated to the highest bidder or bidders, provided that said bonds or any part thereof, shall not be adjudicated for less than par and accrued interest, less a commission not to exceed six per centum on the principal thereof.

3d. All matured interest coupons on said bonds shall be cut from said bonds and cancelled, and the successful bidder or bidders shall pay the interest which may have accrued on said bonds up to the date of delivery.

4th. Said bonds shall be paid for by the successful bidder or bidders in cash as fast as they can be signed and delivered, said deliveries to be made on twenty-four hours' notice.

All bonds to be delivered within a period not to exceed ninety days from date of final acceptance of bid.

5th. No bid will be received or considered unless accompanied by a certified check on some chartered bank in the City of New Orleans for three per cent. of the amount of each bid, the check or checks of the successful bidder or bidders shall be cashed and the proceeds retained by the Board of Liquidation as a guarantee that the said bidder or bidders will comply with his or their bids, and said proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the bonds last delivered to said bidder or bidders respectively. In case of neglect or refusal to comply with any bid the proceeds of said bidder's check shall be forfeited to the Sewerage and Water Board.

6th. The Board of Liquidation, City Debt, reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Mark all bids "Proposals for purchase of new public improvement bonds."

Further particulars and information will be furnished upon application to T. Wolfe, Jr., Secretary Board of Liquidation, City Debt, Room 206 City Hall Annex, New Orleans, La.

T. WOLFE, Jr.,
Secretary Board of Liquidation, City Debt.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Close Strong—Call Money Rates, 2¾@3 Per Cent.

HEAVY EXPORTS OF GOLD

Bank of England Increases Bid for American Coin—Further Outflow from This Centre Likely.

In the last hour of trading on the Stock Exchange yesterday, following the announcement early in the day of the engagement of over $5,000,000 gold coin for export to London, the half dozen or more stocks, the trading in which made up practically all of the day's business, rose very sharply and closed at the day's maximum prices with net gains varying from 1 to nearly 3 points. Certainly there was nothing in the further large outflow of gold, which was the chief development of the day in the financial markets, to account for the seeming eagerness with which stocks were purchased during the last hour of trading following a very dull morning. The explanation of the seeming discrepancy between the course of the market and the day's other developments lay possibly in the fact that most of the buying, which put prices up, was credited to traders who were short of the market. The mere fact that the market seemed indifferent to the announcement of the large gold engagements may have been enough to induce this buying by those who held a bear position in the market, on the theory that if stocks were plentiful prices would have declined on the engagement of enough gold to wipe out the entire surplus reserve reported by the banks last Saturday. Whatever the reasoning of those who were the principal purchasers of stocks yesterday, the movement on the Exchange made it again clear that in the present position of the market prices are very easily swayed. The day's total transactions were not far in excess of 400,000 shares, yet such advances were recorded as 2¾ in Union Pacific, 1 in Southern Pacific, 1⅞ in Atchison, 1½ in New York Central, 2¼ in United States Steel, 2 in Amalgamated Copper, and 1⅞ in American Smelting. Apart from these and a few others, which showed substantial changes, the great majority of stocks contributed only a few hundred shares to the day's trading.

The taking of over $5,000,000 in gold for export yesterday brought New York's loss of the precious metal since last Friday, when this movement began, up to $7,650,000. The engagements this week now amount to more than the entire surplus reserve reported by the banks last Saturday, and the question arises from what source the banks can replenish or adjust their reserves to prevent the wiping out of the surplus. This inquiry will be still [illegible] promises to be the case, that further exports of gold will be arranged before the end of the week. The Bank of England, in advancing the price of eagles to a still higher premium than that which was paid last Friday, evidenced its keen desire to obtain gold in this market, and, despite a recession of about 15 points in sterling exchange rates yesterday, this market is still at the gold export point. London cables reported yesterday the withdrawal of $2,500,000 from the Bank of England for shipment to Brazil, so that half of the gold gained by London from this centre yesterday was immediately relost to South America. The 1 per cent. rate in call money recorded on Monday was not repeated yesterday, but yesterday's average was no higher than the previous day's, 2⅞ being still the ruling rate. The banks in their operations with the Sub-Treasury gained a nominal sum of $7,000, bringing the banks' total gains from this source since last Friday up to $436,000, which furnished a very small offset to the loss by gold exports.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—Trading of little significance continued to mark the operations on the local Exchange to-day, there being no news of importance to affect the market. The movement which excited greatest interest was the decline of Lake Superior from its closing figure yesterday, 23, by gradual degrees to 21⅞. Lehigh Valley opened ⅛ above yesterday's closing figure and lost the gain, the final figure for the day being 116¼. Shares of the Philadelphia Electric Company declined ⅛ on an exchange of 1,550 shares.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Trading in Small Volume with Few Notable Price Movements on the Curb.

MIAMI IS AN EXCEPTION

Gains 1⅝ Points on Day's Business of 2,000 Shares in Face of General Sluggishness Among Coppers.

The curb market was sluggish and narrow again yesterday, although in one or two issues among the mining stocks there were some substantial advances. Miami was conspicuously strong, rising from 22⅝ at the opening to 23⅞. The close, after transactions of 2,000, was at 23⅝. Nevada Consolidated advanced from 21¼ to 21⅝ on transactions of 1,500. Ray Central and Ray Consolidated moved within narrow limits. Butte Coalition and Greene-Cananea closed even with the opening levels. Trading in the bond list was in small volume and without feature.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Tuesday.

Business on the Consolidated Stock Exchange increased heavily in the final hour, when the shorts were in retreat all around the room. Early in the day a contingent of the professional floor element construed the market to be oversold, and they bid for all the standard shares. In contrast to the exceeding dullness at that time on the New York Stock Exchange, the Consolidated market was a fairly broad one, with odd-lot transactions in a number of prominent issues, including Erie, Ontario & Western, and Rubber common, taking place long before those stocks were quoted on the other board. Sales of all stocks for the day totaled 82,792 shares, with fifty-one different issues represented on the list.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The Country's Cash Supply.

The country's supply of money increased in March by more than $4,000,000, bringing the per capita circulation on April 1 up to $34.87. The total of the money in circulation on April 1 amounted to $3,138,273,811. Compared with the 1901 figures, this shows an increase of practically a round billion dollars. In two or three of the classes of money used in the country, the April 1 figures this years show decreases, compared with a year ago, but other items of circulation show heavy increases. There was about $14,000,000 less gold coin in circulation on April 1, 1910, than on April 1, 1909, and the United States Treasury notes showed a small decrease. A very large increase was shown in National banknotes, and the gold certificates and silver certificates in circulation this year were more numerous than those in the hands of the public a year ago. Subsidiary silver coins showed an increase for the year of more than $12,000,000.

Southern Pacific Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Southern Pacific stockholders will be held to-day at the home of the company at Beechmont, Kentucky. Besides the routine business of the annual meeting, stockholders will have before them to-day the proposal to authorize a mortgage on the company's terminal properties in and around San Francisco, but despite this special business, the meeting is expected to be as uninteresting as such annual meetings usually are. It is only occasionally that the annual meetings of stockholders prove anything but the tamest of gatherings, but there are exceptions to the rule. The Southern Pacific annual meeting eight years ago, when James R. Keene was fighting for a dividend on the company's common stock, which the late E. H. Harriman was unwilling to pay at that time, furnished one of these exceptions, but even on that occasion most of the fighting took place before the meeting itself.

***

Granby Consolidated Troubles.

Granby Consolidated was quoted at 40 bid on the Stock Exchange yesterday, with no offer forthcoming, at about the time the Directors were holding their meeting to discuss the report of their President and expert, which, when its discouraging character was made public last month, had the effect of sending the stock down with a rush in the Boston market. There has been no actual sale of the stock on the Stock Exchange here since Jan. 5, when it sold at 112. The Directors are understood to have been divided yesterday as to the advisability of making public the details of what the expert decided from his recent examination, but a whole as to the necessity of getting to the bottom of the whole matter. The sentiment prevailed that the situation would only be further confused by making public what is at best only one opinion.

***

Strange Drop in Federal Mining.

Federal Mining and Smelting preferred has fallen nearly 14 points in the last two days on small transactions. The stock is paying 7 per cent. dividends, the last disbursement having been made on March 15. Early in the year the shares sold at 88, which contrasts with yesterday's low price of 53. In January, 1906, when copper was at top notch, sales were made as high as 112⅞, and the common stock, which now pays no dividends, sold then at 199. Yesterday the common was offered at 40.

***

Hopeful predictions were heard yesterday from practical men in both the steel and copper trade. President Schwab, in his Bethlehem Steel report, said it was "evident that we are on the eve of a great demand and prosperity." B. B. Thayer, President of the Anaconda, who returned yesterday from Butte, said that the properties in his charge were looking better than at any time in the last five years.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Panama Railroad Company, Major A. C. Duval was elected to the directorate to succeed Senator J. C. S. Blackburn. The other retiring Directors were re-elected. Secretary of War Dickinson attended the meeting, which transacted only routine business.

At the West Side Young Men's Christian Association, 318 West Fifty-seventh Street, to-night, Moreton Frewen, English economist and author, will speak on "The Serious Depreciation of Gold," and John Franklin Crowell, associate editor of The Wall Street Journal, on "The World Market from the New York Standpoint."

The Controller of the Currency has approved the increase in the capital stock of the Fourth National Bank of this city, so that the bank now reports a capital of $5,000,000, a surplus of a similar amount, and net profits of $614,507, making a total working capital of $10,614,507. The deposits are now $82,669,460, and its resources are $43,905,763.

STEEL ORDERS PILING UP.

President Schwab Says We Are on the Eve of Great Prosperity.

The annual report of the Bethlehem Steel Company for the year ended Dec. 31, issued yesterday, shows net manufacturing profits of $2,634,457 against $2,020,208 in 1908. Additional income of $182,136, approximately $10,000 more than that item in the previous year, brought the total net income up to $2,836,593. Interest charges and a charge of $500,000 for depreciation, left a balance of $800,812, equal to 5.37 earned on the $14,908,000 preferred stock. Orders booked during the year were $28,696,516 compared with $14,458,997 during 1908, and the uncompleted orders on Dec. 31 were $14,073,834 compared with $7,592,502 at the end of the previous year.

In his report President Schwab explains that the contracts entered into with the Argentine Government for armor, armament, ammunition, &c., since the beginning of the current year have added to the unfilled orders approximately $10,000,000, making the aggregate unfilled orders at the date of the report about $25,000,000. Speaking of the company's rate of wages, President Schwab gives figures to show that the men are paid approximately what they get at other plants, but makes no reference to the strikes of a few months ago.

Commenting on the outlook, President Schwab says:

> It is evident that we are on the eve of a great demand and prosperity, and it was especially desirable that our steel producing departments should be completed so that our rolling mills might be run to their full capacity. It was consequently considered advisable to increase our melting capacity by the addition at the Bethlehem plant of Bessemer converters, which in conjunction with the present open-hearth furnaces will manufacture steel by the so-called duplex process, and will at least double our output.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

American Securities Close Firm on the London Exchange.

LONDON, April 5.—The money market was disturbed to-day by the payment of £21,000,000 for exchequer bonds and the redemption of the war loan, but dividend disbursements prevented a stringency. Discount rates were firm.

The stock market developed a reactionary tendency in the forenoon, rubber shares, home and Mexican rails, and mining stocks suffering on profit taking, but fresh support in the afternoon caused a steadier closing. Foreign bonds and gilt-edged securities were dull throughout the day.

American securities opened steady and a fraction above parity. Trading was very light during the session, but the market became firm on covering. New York bid up Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific, and United States Steel in the afternoon, and prices closed firm.

Bar silver steady at 24 1-16d per ounce.

Money, 3½@4 per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3⅞ per cent.; for three months' bills, 3⅞ per cent.

PARIS, April 5.—Trading was dull on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 98f 80c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 23c for checks.

BERLIN, April 5.—Fears of an advance in the Bank of England's rate of discount caused weakness on the Boerse to-day.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 5.—Lake Copper was the bear card at the opening to-day, opening off 4½ points and selling down to 52 on the result of the March mill run, which is considered poor. North Lake and Indiana both sold off in sympathy, but support was given these two stocks on a scale down. In the late afternoon Utah Consolidated was attacked and stops were reached, carrying it down 3¼, to 24½. The close was strong in sympathy with the rally in New York.

GRANBY DIRECTORS WAIT.

Mine to be Thoroughly Explored Before Detailed Report Is Made.

The Directors of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelter & Power Company, Ltd., met yesterday and discussed the report of the engineering party which recently inspected the property and reported that the ore in sight ready for stoping only totaled about 6,000,000 tons, instead of being enough for "many years to come," as stated in the last annual report. The tonnage reported would hardly last five years if the company's enlarged smelter were run at full capacity.

The recent inspection was made by President Langeloth, George C. Clark, Jr., one of the Directors, and Otto Sussman, as engineer. It was made in the absence of Vice President and General Manager J. P. Graves, who has had full charge of operations for a number of years, and to whom the officers largely gave discretion developing the property. Mr. Graves was expected to attend yesterday's meeting to explain the discrepancy in reports. He is ill in California, and sent word that he hoped to be able to come to New York in time for the Directors' meeting next month.

Meanwhile the management contented itself with the following statement:

> In view of the unfavorable reports that have been given to the public as to the condition of the Granby mine, the Directors at their meeting decided to order a full investigation by well-known experts for the purpose of reviewing the said report, and ascertaining the exact condition of the mine. This examination to be effective will take several months, and may not be commenced until certain explorations now in progress shall have further advanced.

It is understood that sentiment at the meeting was divided between the advisability of making public the technical report of the engineer, as submitted to the Directors, or of waiting until it could be checked up by the Vice President and General Manager, and possible modifying circumstances shown.

Some of the Directors held that, after all, the opinion of one mining engineer could not be final and that the situation would only be confused by attempting to make a positive statement about the condition of the mine at this time. It is expected that a detailed report will be made to stockholders as soon as Vice President Graves has come forward with his side of the case.

Sugar Trust Raises Wages.

The Directors of the American Sugar Refining Company voted yesterday to increase wages in all of their plants from 5 to 10 per cent. Although no estimate was made of the amount by which the payrolls would thereby be increased, it was stated that the order affected about 5,000 men, who receive from 16 to 30 cents per hour. Some of the employes have been on strike.

The Hocking Valley Railway Company

RETIREMENT OF PREFERRED STOCK

April 6th, 1910.

To the Holders of Preferred Stock of the Hocking Valley Railway Company:

Notice is hereby given that in the exercise of the power reserved by The Hocking Valley Railway Company, and specifically stated in its Articles of Incorporation and Regulations, and also declared in every outstanding stock certificate, the Company has duly determined to retire the Preferred stock, and the same will be duly retired in whole at par upon the 30TH DAY OF APRIL, 1910.

Accordingly, each and every holder of Preferred stock is notified to present and to surrender his certificate for such Preferred stock, at the office of J. P. MORGAN & COMPANY, No. 23 Wall Street, New York City, on or after the 30TH DAY OF APRIL, 1910, and upon such surrender such holder will receive payment in cash of the par amount thereof, together with a proportionate amount of the dividend thereon from the date when the last dividend accrued, viz., December 31st, 1909, to April 30th, 1910.

No holder of any certificate for Preferred stock shall or will have any right after APRIL 30TH, 1910, as a stockholder of the Company, nor any claim against the Company, except to receive payment for the certificates surrendered at the rate above stated.

BY ORDER OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

BANK BUSINESS LARGER.

Exchanges at 116 Centres Show Gains of 18.6 Per Cent.

Bank exchanges during March at the 116 banking centres of the United States amounted to $14,880,400,905, a gain of 18.6 per cent. over March, 1909, and of 14.5 per cent. over March, 1906. Dun's says:

> There is a considerable increase reported at cities in all sections, and at New York City, notwithstanding the fact that speculative operations were not especially large, exchanges show a very satisfactory gain over a year ago and over 1906. At most New England points there are gains compared with both years. Cities in the Middle Atlantic States report gains over 1909, but exchanges at Pittsburg are still smaller than in 1906.
>
> Prosperous conditions in many parts of the South Atlantic States are reflected in a well-maintained volume of payments through the banks.
>
> In the Middle South bank clearings of many of the more important cities approach new record points, reflecting the maintenance of business activity in the leading commercial centres of that territory. Almost every city in the Middle West makes gains and some of them are very large, while the exceptions are extremely small and unimportant. In the Far West conditions are uniformly satisfactory, gains being made by all the principal cities. On the Pacific Coast payments through the banks continue to expand and reports indicate that there has been no diminution in the current volume of business.

FEWER FAILURES IN MARCH.

Only Four Years in Last Fifteen Show a Smaller Number for the Month.

Failures in the business world last month show very little change in the total of defaulted liabilities from those in March a year ago, although in the number of failures the statistics for last month are much more favorable, according to the figures compiled by Dun's Review. The average liabilities of the defaulting firms are therefore higher. Dun's says:

> The total number of failures during March was 948, as compared with 1,274 in 1909, 1,339 in 1908, 853 in 1907, 1,052 in 1906, and 1,208 in 1905; liabilities for the month were $13,628,572, comparing with $13,718,162 in 1909, $21,542,106 in 1908, and $8,163,695 in 1907. During the last fifteen years there have been only four years when the number of failures in March were less than during the past month, but there have been nine years in which the total of liabilities was smaller. Of the aggregate liabilities during March of $13,628,572, $5,716,263 were of defaulting manufacturing concerns; $6,415,712 of defaulting traders, and $1,496,597 of defaulting brokers. The manufacturing liabilities amounted to 41.99 per cent. of the total liabilities of the month, as compared with 43.43 in 1909; the percentage of traders' liabilities was 47.13, as compared with 51.70 in 1909, and the percentage of liabilities in the brokerage class was 10.88, as compared with 4.87. While the proportion of manufacturing and trading disasters declined during last month, as compared with a year ago, the proportion of financial liabilities largely increased.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Times Square Corner Sold for $526,000—New Co-operative Apartment for Park Ave. and 60th Street—Deals in the Loft Zone.

Park Avenue in the vicinity of Sixtieth Street seems destined to be the co-operative apartment house centre of New York. To the number of fine buildings of this type which have lately been projected for that locality was added another yesterday by the announcement that clients of William A. Boring, architect, had purchased through Huston & Asinari the three old dwellings on the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Sixtieth Street, forming a plot with 100 feet frontage on the avenue and 60 feet on the street. Mr. Boring is preparing plans for the immediate erection on the site of a twelve-story co-operative apartment house of the highest type, to be similar in style to the building at the northwest corner of Park Avenue and Sixty-first Street, known as 540 Park Avenue.

Exactly opposite the plot just purchased, on the northwest corner of Park Avenue and Sixtieth Street, a twelve-story building is to be erected for which plans are [illegible] finished. They will be harmonious in architectural design, and when completed will form an imposing gateway to the residential section of Park Avenue. This latter building will be known as 520 Park Avenue. Two apartments in these buildings have already been taken, and the sale of two or three others is about to be closed. They will be completed by August, 1911.

$526,000 for Times Square Corner.

The southwest corner of Broadway and Forty-eighth Street was bought at auction yesterday by Samuel K. Jacobs of Walter Emmerich & Co. for $526,000.

The plot, which measures 51.1 feet on Broadway and 128 feet on the street, was sold at the stand of Joseph P. Day in the Vesey Street salesroom for the Davies estate. On the plot stands a five-story factory building, which is part and parcel of the Brewster Carriage factory and is under lease to that firm until next year.

The Sutphen estate owns the balance of the Broadway frontage, running to Forty-seventh Street and abutting the Davies corner. These holdings have been leased for a long term of years for a restaurant enterprise.

Competition was unusually keen for the Davies corner. The bidding was started by Heilner & Wolf at $250,000. This bid was immediately jumped $100,000 by Robert E. Dowling, and by large bids up to $500,000.

Louis Rodney Berg, acting, it was said, for the lessees of the Sutphen property, then carried the bidding along on advances of $1,000 until it was finally taken on a bid of $526,000 made by Horace S. Ely & Co., representing Mr. Jacobs.

Horace S. Ely & Co., acting for a client, were also the successful bidders for the block front on the east side of Eighth Avenue, between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Streets, 200 by 80, for which they paid $277,000.

The tenements 833 to 837 Eighth Avenue, also part of the Davies estate, went to an unidentified bidder at $120,100.

Investor Buys Greenwich St. Loft.

James H. Cruikshank has sold to an investor 537 to 545 Greenwich Street, a six-story fireproof mercantile building, on plot 100 by 100, between Charlton and Vandam Streets, occupied as a medical supply department of the United States Government. This building was finished and leased one month ago, and is the third building Mr. Cruikshank has built and sold in this section within the last three months.

Karl Shapiro, together with Levinson & Shapiro, have purchased a six-story modern tenement, 164 Henry Street, through Charles E. Rosenthal, for speculative purposes.

Deals in Loft Zone.

O. Herman Olson has sold 232 to 236 West Seventeenth Street, three three-story frame buildings, on plot 75 by 84, to Alexander Frazer, who has resold the property to a builder for improvement with a loft building.

Mr. Olson has bought 252 to 258 West Twenty-ninth Street, a plot 90 by 80 and irregular, which will be resold to a builder.

The Taylor-Sherman Company has sold for J. Keen 28 West Forty-sixth Street, a four-story and basement dwelling, on lot 20 by 100.5. The buyer will occupy.

Gibson Estate Sells Two Parcels.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

To whom it may concern:

Please take notice that WILLIAM V. ROWE, as assignee for the benefit of creditors of J. M. CEBALLOS & COMPANY, will expose for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, at the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange Rooms, No. 189 Montague Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn, City of New York, County of Kings, on the 20th day of April, 1910, at twelve o'clock noon, by WILLIAM H. SMITH, auctioneer, the following-described premises, viz.:

All that certain plot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Brooklyn of the City of New York, County of Kings, and State of New York, known and designated on a certain map entitled "Map of property belonging to the estate of Nathaniel L. Griswold, deceased, Brooklyn, September, 1848. Surveyed by William Day and Son, City Surveyor," and filed in the office of the Register of the County of Kings as Map No. 189 on November 14, 1848, as and by the lot numbers 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, and 530, which said plot is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the easterly side of India Wharf distant 459 feet 1 inch northerly from the northeasterly corner of India Wharf and Conover Street; running thence easterly at right angles to India Wharf 200 feet to the westerly side of Hamilton Avenue; thence northerly along the westerly side of Hamilton Avenue 100 feet; thence westerly at right angles to Hamilton Avenue 200 feet to the easterly side of India Wharf, and thence southerly along the easterly side of India Wharf 100 feet to the point or place of beginning. Together with all the right, title, and interest of said assignee of, in, and to India Wharf lying in front of said premises, and of, in, and to one-half of Hamilton Avenue, lying in front of said premises; and also of, in, and to the strip of land ten feet in width lying between the premises above described and Hamilton Avenue as laid out on the map of the Commissioners for laying out streets, avenues, and squares in the City of Brooklyn.

Said premises will be sold subject to the following liens and encumbrances:

Unpaid water rents and meter charges, if any.

To all existing covenants of record in respect to the nature of buildings thereon, or the use of said premises, and possible breaches thereof.

To any state of facts or easements which a survey would show.

To railroad consents contained in Liber 2,192 of Conveyances, Page 101, and Liber 2,099 of Conveyances, Page 412, in Kings County Register's office.

Subject to existing rights to use for street purposes the ten-foot strip of land lying between the above-described premises and Hamilton Avenue, as laid out on the map of the Commissioners for laying out streets, avenues, and squares in the City of Brooklyn.

To rights of present tenants.

Dated New York, March 30th, 1910.

WILLIAM V. ROWE,
as Assignee for the benefit of creditors of J. M. Ceballos & Company.

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Showing Brick

If you are going to build, brick will interest you—at least they SHOULD interest you. Then you will know what the exterior of your building will look like when finished.

We have a permanent al fresco exhibition of front brick always on view. We can show you 25,000 buildings in Greater New York, attesting the beauty, durability and desirability of our front brick. Brick in a picture may be one thing and in a wall another. Let us show you the buildings.

Delay in the delivery of brick is a vexatious and expensive matter. With us, there are no delays.

HOMESEEKERS.

SUMMIT PARK

I have let to a responsible builder a very advantageous contract for the erection of ten (10) Houses to be commenced at once at SUMMIT PARK, South Orange; they are one-family houses and consist of eight to twelve rooms with hardwood trim, every modern, up-to-date convenience, and are to be erected on large plots of ground with a uniform depth of 150 feet, thus allowing for garage or stable.

Plans for these houses are now at my office and may be reasonably altered to meet the idea of the purchasers; Houses will be sold for a small amount of cash down, balance to be paid same as rent; 60 per cent. can remain permanently on mortgage at 5 per cent. per annum.

SUMMIT PARK, SOUTH ORANGE, N. J.

The highest altitude in the Oranges; streets macadamized and parked, sewer, water, gas and electric light, cement sidewalk, curb and gutter; ten minutes from station, three minutes to trolley; lots $425 and upward; easy payments; boulevard 80 feet wide, streets 60 feet wide. Write for descriptive booklet, price list and map of property.
H. J. ALEXANDER,
47 West 34th St., New York.

WEEQUAHIC PARK
NEWARK TRACT NEWARK
A Handsome Residential Development.

This tract is almost as accessible from New York as it is from Market and Broad Streets, Newark. This property is directly opposite Weequahic Park, one of the handsomest park developments in Essex County. Accessible residential property opposite large public breathing places is bound to become extremely valuable with the natural upbuilding of the city. Paved boulevards with parkways in centre. Five-foot cement walks. Shade trees planted throughout. Sewer, water and gas mains laid with connections to curb. Electric lights.

The Lehigh Valley "Park View" Passenger Station is located at the property. This Railroad is operated over the Pennsylvania R. R. tracks and ferries to New York.
Upon completion of Pennsylvania R. R. tunnels under the North River, this development is only 20 minutes from New York City, WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS ON JERSEY SIDE.
TERMS THAT WILL PERMIT YOU TO BUY—MONTHLY PAYMENTS.
Agents on Property. Maps and Particulars.
Take Lehigh Valley Train (Sunday), Pennsylvania Railroad Ferries. Or take Jersey Central, Pennsylvania or Lackawanna Railroad to Newark, and take Mt. Prospect Ave. or "Main" Line trolleys to property.

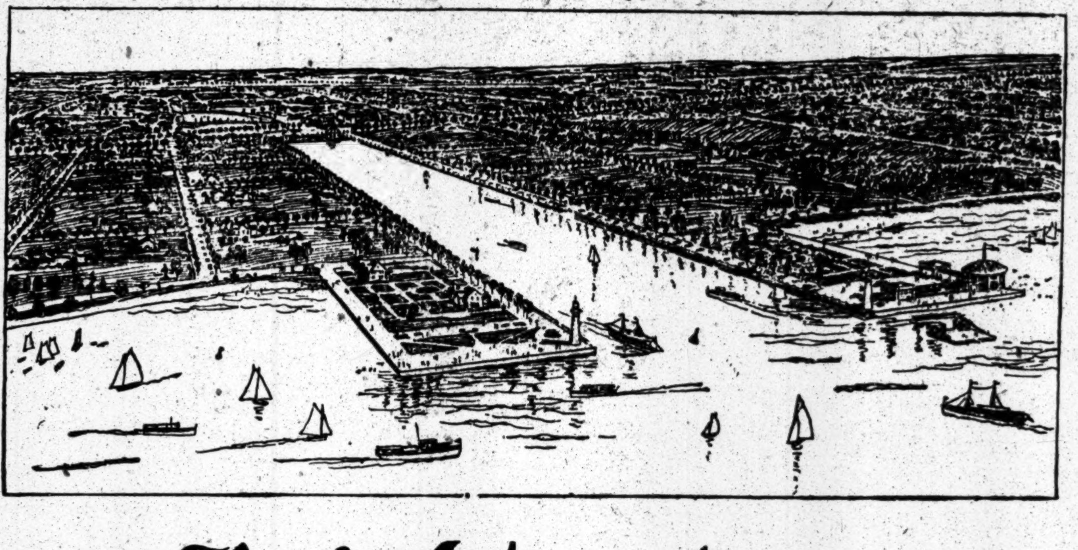
LONG ISLAND—FOR SALE OR TO LET



Brightwaters
(BAYSHORE, L. I.)

PHENOMENALLY SUCCESSFUL because—beyond question the most unique, distinctive, beautiful and irristibly attractive suburban development of the age. The high standard of the magnificent innovation—development work, places "Brightwaters" by public acclamation—"IN A CLASS BY ITSELF."

No matter how ample or restricted your purse, there are building sites, "Ackerson Cottages" and Bungalows at "Brightwaters" easily within the means of the average income.

We cordially invite the readers of The Times to inspect our "Houses of Merit" and "Land Worth Owning" in all three of the beautiful sections of "Brightwaters."

"Thousand Acre City By the Sea"

—BAY—
BAY SECTION contains many new artistic "Ackerson Cottages" and Chalets, overlooking the Bay and Venetian Harbor, which afford safe harbor for all kinds of water craft; sandy bathing beaches; fishing and sailing. The many attractive features of this section include artistic boat landings, a central clubhouse, pergolas, broad concourses, beautiful horticultural effects, bordering the Grand Canal, making it a veritable Venice in America.

—LAKES—
LAKE SECTION contains many new "Ackerson" Cottages, Chalets and Bungalows, also charming building sites. Plots are irregular in size, the extent being governed by the topography of the land. There are five crystal lakes for canoeing and rowing; beautiful winding drives and walks; Roman stone and concrete bridges, woodland scenes and grand old shade trees. A spot that is irresistibly charming in every respect, and leaves little to be desired in the way of natural beauty.

—PINES—
In the PINE SECTION are unique, cosey "Ackerson" semi-bungalows from $3,000 upward, containing large living room with open fireplace, light kitchen, roomy cellar and from 3 to 6 sleeping rooms. These convenient homes are located on half-acre plots, among the balsam pines, and facing wide drives among the most picturesque and wholesome surroundings. An ideal place for modest, comfortable home life, where all the recreative features of the country may be enjoyed to their fullest extent.

Next Sunday's Times

"The Pictorial Section of next Sunday's New York Times will contain a beautiful double-page representation of the paintings lately acquired by Americans at a cost of $2,000,000, including the famous work by Frans Hals, which was purchased for $500,000.

Other striking pictures show King Alfonso's fearlessness at Seville, the home of the Anarchists; the Aviation Fete at the Hotel Astor, the story of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," Princeton College Boys in the musical comedy, "His Honor the Sultan," and Central Park the first warm day in Spring.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Western disturbance has again assumed definite formation, and is central to-night over the lake region. Since Monday night it has been attended by showers and thunderstorms in the Central Valleys.

Temperatures have fallen considerably over the rain's area, and have generally risen over the remainder of the country. In the interior of New England and the Middle Atlantic States, the Upper Ohio Valley, and the Northwest they are from 20 to 34 degrees above the seasonal average.

Thunderstorms and showers in the Atlantic States Wednesday, continuing Thursday in New England, will be accompanied by a temperature fall to more normal conditions, and temperatures will continue moderate during Thursday over the eastern third of the country.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate south; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate south to southwest, but thunder squalls probably Wednesday afternoon; South Atlantic Coast, moderate southwest to west, but thundersqualls probably Wednesday afternoon.

Steamships departing Wednesday for European ports will have moderate south to southwest winds, with unsettled weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND THURSDAY.

Eastern New York—Showers Wednesday or Wednesday night, cooler in interior. Thursday fair; moderate to brisk southwest to west winds.

New Jersey—Thundershowers Wednesday or Wednesday night; cooler in the interior. Thursday fair; moderate to brisk southwest to west winds.

New England—Increasing cloudiness Wednesday; showers at night and Thursday, cooler Thursday; moderate to brisk south to southwest winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Thundershowers and cooler Wednesday. Thursday fair; moderate to brisk southwest to west winds.

	1909.	1910.		1909.	1910.
3 A. M.	45	55	4 P. M.	56	72
6 A. M.	46	54	6 P. M.	53	68
9 A. M.	47	57	9 P. M.	50	64
12 M.	57	73	12 P. M.	50	62

This thermometer is 108 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 64; for the corresponding date last year it was 50; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 44.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 55; at 8 P. M. it was 64. Maximum temperature, 77 degrees at 2 P. M.; minimum, 51 degrees at 5 A. M. Humidity, 90 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 75 per cent. at 8 P. M.

Want Philosophy

Over in Hoboken the car conductors know by name about half of the people who ride.

In New York it's doubtful if 10 per cent. of the occupants of the Singer Building could tell who is President of the Singer Company.

The city is too large for extended friendships, and the man who looks for a position, nine times out of ten, must apply to strangers. The only way to reach strangers, successfully, is through advertising.

You might go to some manufacturing concern where your services were immediately needed, but if you were a stranger there you wouldn't know who to ask for. The head men don't tell their office boys, and "information" desks when they want help—they either advertise or read the situations wanted, or both.

* * *

When they go over the Situations columns they judge a person by the advertisement—how else can they judge at such long range? The more you tell about yourself the better your chances.

You may be an office man—and a good one. There are good ones that get about $100 a month, and are considered very good, because they have a grasp of what is required in a certain line where the services are not worth over $100. Then there are other classes of good ones—some get $200 a month, and more than that—all according to what the job, and the man, are worth.

If you are looking for $100 a month it's best to say so, and say why you're worth that amount. Then the man who has a responsible place worth $200 a month won't bother you and make you spend carfares—and time—looking him up. If you're looking for the $200 berth better say so—then you won't be bothered answering the smaller man.

* * *

There's a little knack in telling what you are and what you want in an advertisement. If you haven't got that knack better drop in or telephone The Times, 1000 Bryant—get your advertisement written without extra charge.

Situations Wanted—Males.

CITYPARKDEFENDERS TALK TO KELLOGG

Court House Commissioner Spends Uneasy Hours at Architectural League Dinner.

STANDS FOR SITE SELECTED

All Save One of the Guests Disagree with Him—Civic Centre Favored in Resolutions.

L. Laflin Kellogg, a member of the Mayor's Court House Commission, spent some uncomfortable hours with the Architectural League at its dinner last night. Mr. Kellogg had been invited to make known his stand on the location of the new Court House and to listen to arguments of leading architects, lawyers, and others against the encroachment on City Hall Park.

Before the speechmaking, which followed the dinner, was over Mr. Kellogg found himself, with one exception, the only champion of City Hall Park as a site for the new Court House. One other speaker, William S. Jenner of the Bar Association, agreed with Mr. Kellogg, but a dozen others, including Lyman Abbott, Arnold W. Brunner, President of the American Institute of Architects, New York Chapter, and Charles S. Bostwick of the Bar Association's Court House Site Committee protested strongly against the use of City Hall Park for the purpose, and told Mr. Kellogg that he and his fellow members of the Court House Board would be doing the city a grave injustice if they insisted on the adoption of their plan.

The gathering adopted resolutions in defense of City Hall Park at the close of the meeting. These resolutions read:

> Whereas, The City of New York, as the metropolis of this country, should lead the way in civic development, and should, therefore, have a civic centre worthy of the second greatest city in existence; and,
>
> Whereas, The proposed new building to house the judiciary, which will probably be the largest building of its kind in the world, demands a site, setting, and approach befitting the dominant element in a great civic centre; therefore be it
>
> Resolved, as the sense of this meeting, That it is incumbent upon the City of New York to provide such a proper site for the proposed new Court House, outside the limits of City Hall Park, as may be recommended by the Court House Board, and that the Architectural League of New York will welcome any such recommendation and will lend its full influence to its support and realization.

C. Grant La Farge, President of the Architectural League, started the speechmaking by explaining that the discussion of the proposed Court House as part of a new civic centre was in order. Mr. Brunner said that his organization, as well as those of the painters and sculptors and others who had given time and thought to the Court House site problem, were unanimous in the belief that the space in City Hall Park should not be curtailed. He said that forty-four other cities were considering the establishment of civic centres on a large plane, and that New York should not allow herself to be eclipsed.

"The words 'city beautiful' have done more to stop this movement for civic development than anything else," said Mr. Brunner. "It is a vile phrase. When we ask for a civic centre we ask only what is reasonable. If we do not have a good civic centre we do not have civic art, and civic art means dollars and cents. It means civic pride and good citizenship—the best asset a city could have."

Mr. Kellogg, who was the second speaker, said that he preferred to express his views as an individual rather than as a member of the Court House Board.

"This is the first time I have heard of a unanimous opinion of the gentlemen of this organization," he said. "It is the first time I have known exactly what they thought. I have examined into this thing very thoroughly. To my mind no site is so convenient as that contiguous to City Hall.

"There has been a persistent effort of some one who owns property near City Hall Park to force the city to take that property just north of City Hall Park. Now, we have got to have a Court House right away. When we consider the fact that we can build a building that is architecturally sufficient on the site of the present Court House I think all citizens ought to join us and help us in getting a Court House in a place where the city can afford to build it. I am willing to stand for that and on that site."

Mr. Bostwick of the Bar Association said that he was the author of the bill which created the Court House Board, but that he was not willing to stand responsible for the acts of the board. He protested against the use of the City Hall Park, and ridiculed the stand of Mr. Kellogg. George B. Post, one of the oldest members of the Architectural League, also spoke against encroachment on the park, as did the Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Slicer.

"There are three things we might safely take for granted," said Dr. Lyman Abbott. "One is, we need a new Court House. The second is, we need not less park space, but more, and we ought to recover all the park space taken in the past. The third is where there is a will there is a way. I do not sympathize with the suggestion that this city is altogether indifferent to beauty. When we set our minds on beauty we can accomplish it. The city is no pauper. It can condemn and take the land necessary for its buildings."

John M. Carrere of Carrere & Hastings told Mr. Kellogg that the views of the architects should be given consideration, because the architects were experts on the subject. J. Milburn Hayes expressed a similar view. When it came time for Mr. Jenner to speak he sprung a surprise. The architects had supposed that Mr. Kellogg would have no champion. Mr. Jenner said that a Court House was no fit building to place as the hub of a civic centre.

"Consider the future of New York and the impossibility of building a civic centre around the proposed Court House, and you will come down to the hard plane of common sense and build the Court House in City Hall Park," he said.

BOY HUSBAND DID NOT FLEE,

But His Tardiness in Changing $20 Bill Frightened Aged Heiress.

Mrs. Robert Hitchcock, formerly Miss Jeannette Suffern, the aged eccentric heiress, of Suffern, N. Y., whose hobby of late has been for marrying young men, had an adventure yesterday with her new husband in Hackensack, N. J.

The couple drove from Suffern, N. Y., last night, and Mrs. Hitchcock, who is nearly 60, registered at the Mansion House. Hitchcock, who is only 24, spent the night elsewhere. When they appeared at the stable to get their team and buggy Mrs. Hitchcock took $1 from her purse.

"That isn't enough," said the young man. Thereupon the aged but giddy heiress produced a twenty-dollar bill, which Hitchcock took to get change. As he did not return at once the heiress feared he had deserted her, and put Justice Bratt and a constable on his trail. They found him after a brief search, and his wife ordered him to give her all his money. Then she scrambled into the buggy and drove away. Hitchcock followed on foot, and after a brief explanation he was allowed to get in the buggy.

Killed by Collapse of Building.

Two men were killed yesterday in Newark by a falling wall in the building of the Electric Motor and Equipment Company at 230 and 232 Market Street, which was burned recently. One of the victims was Louis Zamelsky of 130 Somerset Street. The other was unidentified. The men were cleaning the cellar when without warning the wall collapsed, burying them under tons of bricks and beams. It took an hour to dig their bodies out.

Wife Divorces Andrew Mack.

Supreme Court Justice Fitzgerald signed yesterday a final decree of divorce in favor of Alice V. McAloon against William A. McAloon, known on the stage as Andrew Mack. Mack was found guilty of living at a West Forty-fourth Street hotel with a woman called in his wife's complaint Kate Humphrey, otherwise known as May Stevenson. Mrs. McAloon receives the custody of her nineteen-year-old son, Francis A. McAloon.

METHODISTS NAME PASTORS.

East Conference at Middletown Also Commends Dr. Tipple of Rome.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., April 5.—Increases in membership and finances were shown by reports presented to-day at the closing session of the New York East Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held in this city. There are 880 full and probationary members more than last year, and the valuation of Church property has increased by $32,000.

An echo of yesterday's hot controversy over the Roosevelt-Vatican resolution was the unanimous passage of a resolution to-day commending the work of Dr. B. M. Tipple, pastor of the Methodist Church in Rome.

The Rev. A. H. Goodenough of Bristol was made Superintendent of the New York district, and the Rev. W. A. Layton of the Brooklyn South.

Pastoral appointments for the ensuing year, announced to-day, included the following:

Brooklyn, North District.—Superintendent, J. S. Chadwick; Brooklyn, James Robert Bagnell; Knickerbocker Avenue, William B. Carnes; St. John's, Robert N. Moore; Sands Street, no appointment; Simpson, Frank D. Walter and W. J. Thompson; Sumner Avenue, Don S. Colt; Tabernacle, A. F. Campbell.

Manhattan.—East Side Parish, Lewis R. Streeter. Manhattan Borough—Trinity, Jay B. Hamilton; Bronx Borough, Olin A. R. Davies; Westchester, A. L. Foust; New Rochelle, First, John C. Yoyers; Port Chester, King Street and Round Hill, J. E. Parks; Pound Ridge, G. F. Armstrong-Hopkins.

Queens.—Flushing, Raymond L. Forman; Jamaica, Samuel O. Curtice; Bayport, no appointment; Bay Shore, Gordon L. Thompson; Bellmore, J. D. Cox; Bellport, Arthur Jones; Bridgehampton, J. W. Eggleston; Centre Moriches, H. M. Richards; East Moriches, W. O. Miller; East Quogue, H. E. Manland; Ellmont, St. John's, J. A. Cook; Lawrence, J. W. Johnson; Lynbrook, C. R. Carlos; Patchogue, I. W. Henderson; Rockville Centre, W. G. Griffin; Sayville, A. M. Witkins; Southampton, M. O. Lepley; Valley Stream, First, no appointment; Grace, J. W. Mace; Danish Mission, Perth Amboy, N. J., C. W. Hanson.

Long Island City.—Maspeth, Edgar L. Jackson; Middle Village, Halford E. Luccuck.

Long Island.—Bayville and Locust Valley, I. B. Koonce; Centreport, F. W. Smith; Cold Spring Harbor, C. G. Fort; East Meadow, W. M. Courtice; Great Neck, H. E. Wilson; Greenport, Thomas B. Miller; King's Park, Newton H. Hudson; Orient, D. E. Lyon; Roslyn and Zarington, G. A. Lamphear; Sea Cliff, L. K. Moore; Setauket, J. S. Payton; Smithtown, Clyde E. Baker; Stony Brook, Clyde H. Hale.

Brooklyn, South District.—William A. Layton, District Superintendent. New York City, Borough of Brooklyn—Bensonhurst, St. James, William B. Beach; Eighteenth Street, William E. Schoonhover; First Place, Rowland Hill; Fleet Street, J. E. Adams and W. L. Davison; Fourth Avenue, Arthur J. Smith; St. Paul's, Charles Pitman; Sixth Avenue, Edgar C. Tullar; Wesley, J. H. Fairchild; York Street, Edward Cunningham.

RESENT FORT'S CRITICISM.

Jersey Senate to Ask Him to Explain References to Lobbying.

TRENTON, N. J., April 5.—What looked this morning like a bitter open controversy between Gov. Fort and the Republican Senators is likely to end in quiet. The Senators in executive session this morning took exception to a speech made by the Governor in New York last Saturday in which he criticised lobbying and corporation influence in connection with legislation. The Democratic Senators refrained from taking any part in the discussion. Some of the Republican Senators severely criticised the Governor and others defended him.

While the Senate was in session, the Governor reaffirmed his speech in an interview, and said he intended to make many speeches of the same kind. The Senators planned first for an investigating committee, but compromised by the appointment of a committee to wait upon the Governor and ask him what information he had to justify his strictures. This committee was made up of Senators Bradley, Fielder, Minch, and Prince. Senator Fielder is a Democrat. The Governor left for home early in the afternoon after the Senate had convened for the afternoon session. The committee had not waited on him, and it is generally understood now that the committee will take no further steps.

Some of the cooler heads among the Senators seemed to have reached the conclusion that there was no necessity for them to take to themselves what the Governor had said about improper methods in connection with legislation.

The Governor told the reporters to-day that he had been correctly quoted and that he stood by every word of his speech, and that the speech was only one of a good many more that he proposed to deliver before the Fall campaign closed.

The committee appointed in the executive session consists of Senators William J. Bradley, Bloomfield H. Minch, John D. Prince, Republicans, and James F. Fielder, Democrat. Mr. Frelinghuysen, President of the Senate, refused to serve on the committee. Senator Wakelee took the position that Gov. Fort was a Republican and that the Republican Senators should not take any action to criticise his utterances.

HID LOOT; KILLS HERSELF.

Woman Hotel Keeper Feared Arrest for the Vanderbilt Robbery.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, N. Y., April 5.—Mrs. Bertha Beyer, a widow, 58 years old and proprietor of a hotel at Garden City Park, committed suicide by shooting herself in the breast here this morning as she sat facing a mirror on the edge of her bed. She had learned that she would be arrested as an accomplice in hiding part of the stolen goods recently taken from W. K. Vanderbilt's estate.

Her hotel was raided by Sheriff Foster a week ago and a good part of the goods recovered. Mrs. Beyer was sent for yesterday by District Attorney Coles, who told her that only by revealing what she knew would she escape serious consequences.

HUDSON DRIVE ASSURED.

Bill Passes Jersey Senate Appropriating $500,000 for the Work.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., April 5.—The Wakelee bill appropriating $500,000 for the Henry Hudson Drive along the Hudson River was passed by the Senate to-day, as was the Brown bill, changing the name of the Ocean Boulevard to the "Ocean Highway."

On reconsideration the Senate passed the Brown bill increasing auto license fees and permitting non-resident automobilists to enter Jersey free for a limited number of days.

Fall Off Cliff Kills Man and Girl.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—While strolling along "Lovers' Path," near Myersdale, last evening, Jessie Meyers, daughter of one of the prominent families of that borough, and George Lindaman, a mine foreman, fell headlong over a sixty foot cliff, directly on to the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. An express train passing at that instant ran over both bodies, which were found early to-day.

Church Methods Make Pastor Resign.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5.—The Rev. Allen C. Shuler, pastor of the Western Heights Baptist Church, resigned to-day because a week ago two deacons of his church advertised that they would put on a prize fight in the pulpit of the church before services. When the time came they confessed they had made the announcement merely to draw a crowd.

WARDLAW SISTERS SEEK CLERICAL AID

Letters to Newark Methodist Conference as Daughters of a Stainless Minister.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON THEM

It Would Be Necessary to Constitute Ourselves a Court of Justice, Says the Superintendent.

The Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which adjourned yesterday, failed to take any action on an appeal made to it by the Wardlaw sisters, who are in the Essex County Jail, in Newark, N. J., awaiting trial on a joint charge of murdering Mrs. Ocey W. Snead, their relative, who was found dead in an East Orange bathtub. The appeal is said to have asked that aid be extended to them, as daughters of a dead Methodist clergymen. One such communication was sent to Bishop Anderson and his staff and one to the Rev. Jesse L. Hurlburt, District Superintendent of Newark.

The letters were not discussed in the conference, and the recipients declined to make them public. They were sent out by the women personally from the jail, and accompanied an inclosure, a communication from Bishop Joseph H. Keys of Sherman, Texas, which said that the women were worthy of consideration, sympathy, and all assistance possible.

The letters were informally discussed by Bishop Anderson and members of his staff at an executive meeting yesterday morning. It was decided at the meeting to stay silent on the appeal and to withhold the letters.

"The women," said Dr. Hurlburt later, "are strangers to us. We cannot help them, for it would be necessary for us to constitute ourselves into a court of justice to do so. The Bishops they have mentioned in their communication are of the Methodist Church South, and, of course, have no official connection with the business of our conference. I do not propose to take up the matter personally in any way."

The letters were signed "Daughters of the Rev. John B. Wardlaw." A Newark newspaper printed this version of that addressed to Bishop Anderson:

> We are the daughters of an ordained Methodist minister, who preached the Gospel for upward of fifty years, who died when he was nearly 80, with a life record of stainless purity and integrity.
>
> We beg to lay before you our appeal for your prayers and for Christian sympathy, because of the most extraordinary and phenomenal injury that has been done to us. One of us taught upward of fifty years in one New York City school, and was finally retired on a life pension of $100 a year, because of the mental weakness of old age. Another one of us headed for many years Soul College of Tennessee, not far from Chattanooga. We are the granddaughters of a revolutionary soldier and nieces of the late Albert Gallatin Goodall, long President of the American Bank Note Company of 142 Broadway, New York City.
>
> We are innocent of any wrongdoing, but are languishing with illness, being incarcerated at New and Wilsey Streets. We have been falsely accused under a gigantic mistake. We ask you to obtain a pass from the office of the Prosecutor of the Court House and bring or send spiritual administration to us in great affliction, remembering the Scriptural saying: "I was sick and in prison, and ye visited Me."
>
> The Prosecutor, we believe, is erroneously informed as to the facts in this case. We have been informed that two New York insurance companies that were involved in legislative bribery are behind this attack upon us, although we are not beneficiaries, under any policy whatsoever, or in any company whatever.
>
> We have been informed that the Prosecutor is a Christian, and we invoke, through you, his and your Christian and humane efforts to alleviate our affliction of undeserved incarceration.
>
> There is a thorough and innocent explanation for every understanding under which the Prosecutor or his staff may be laboring. We do ask you and the conference to give us your prayers for a speedy deliverance from incarceration and for personal religious administration.
>
> We have hundreds of letters from Methodist ministers and Bishops expressing faith in our innocence. Among them we have letters from Bishop Haas, from Bishop W. A. Candler of Georgia, and from Bishop Joseph S. Key of Texas, who has known us throughout our entire lives as conscientious school teachers. God only knows when the lightning stroke of affliction may fall upon you or upon any one absolutely innocent.
>
> The great philanthropic reform movement for alleviating human sufferings includes, we believe, your powerful help for us innocent, aged women in affliction. God grant that you may be the good Samaritan to us—sick by your wayside.
>
> Please let us hear from you.
>
> DAUGHTERS OF THE REV. JOHN B. WARDLAW.

The accompanying letter from Bishop Key was said to run as follows:

> I am a minister of the Gospel, Methodist. My soul is stirred with sympathy for the Wardlaw ladies, who are now overwhelmed with calamity.
>
> I have known the family intimately for more than fifty years. Their father, the Rev. John B. Wardlaw, was an eminent minister in the Methodist Church. I was acquainted with him in the work for many, many years. No better man ever lived; no more elegant family. His daughters are among the most cultured and refined ladies of our land. To hear of their arrest and imprisonment is to me horrible—the charge unthinkable.
>
> When I read the first newspaper accounts of this I was dumb with horror. I want to protest against such treatment of helpless women, pursued by crooks and insurance men, who for a few dollars would scandalize an agel.
>
> I write out of a full heart. We think the whole proceeding an outrage. A lot of helpless women among strangers caught up and treated as felons is a disgrace to American civilization.
>
> Save these women from further shame and persecution. I am yours truly,
>
> JOSEPH S. KEY.

GOLD GOES OUT FASTER.

Believed Now $25,000,000 Will Be Exported Before Movement Stops.

The gold outflow took on increased proportions yesterday with the shipment of $5,150,000 coin to London, bringing the total shipments on this movement, which began on Friday last, up to $7,650,000. Bankers engaged in the shipments expressed the belief that the movement would not terminate until possibly $25,000,000 or more had been sent out. The Bank of England was still keen after the gold yesterday, and the heavy shipments were made in the face of a recession in sterling exchange rates of about 15 points from Monday's closing figure.

No surprise at all was caused by the day's large engagements, for the reason that it had been recognized that a gold export movement could not long be postponed, except in the event of further heavy purchases of American securities by European investors. Lately we have placed very few bonds abroad, and the bid for gold made by the Bank of England in the shape of a premium on the London price of American eagles was enough to send the gold out. The premium was increased by a half penny yesterday.

The effect of the loss of gold on the reserves of the New York City banks was being discussed yesterday, but it was still too early in the week for bankers to form any definite opinion as to the showing which will be made in this week's statement. The shipments arranged yesterday and Monday amounted to more than the entire surplus reserve reported by the banks last Saturday in their actual statement, but a possible gain of cash from the interior or a reduction in reserve requirements through a decrease in deposits is being counted on to offset at least partially the effect of the gold exports.

Of the $5,150,000 gold coin withdrawn yesterday $4,150,000 was taken by the National City Bank, $500,000 by Muller, Schall & Co., and $500,000 by the Produce Exchange Bank.

LONDON, April 5.—A total of $5,500,000 in eagles has been purchased from New York in the past few days in behalf of the Bank of England. Of this amount $3,000,000 was purchased yesterday, but the price paid is not known.

The Bank of France declines to part with its gold, and it is not impossible that the Bank of England soon will be obliged to increase the bank rate to 5 per cent.

BOTH NAME CO-RESPONDENTS.

Eleven Figure in Counter Suits Filed by Mr. and Mrs. Hein.

The trial of the suit of Edna Valentine Hein, daughter of Washington S. Valentine, an importer, against her husband, Asa Willard Hein, Vice Consul of Honduras, for divorce, and his counter action for divorce against her, was begun before Justice Bischoff and a jury in the Supreme Court yesterday.

Eleven co-respondents figure in the case, six accused by Mrs. Hein and five accused by her husband. Max D. Steuer is Mrs. Hein's counsel and W. M. K. Olcott counsel for Hein. Among the co-respondents is Norman Selby, otherwise "Kid McCoy," the former prizefighter.

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes
Experience
BEFORE we went into the clothing business one of the members of our firm who had been a custom tailor examined every line of men's clothes made.
He delved into the history of each garment he examined—applying to what he learned the knowledge gained by his own experience in making clothes.
When he had given every reputable firm a just consideration,—he chose.
Nor for one minute was there a doubt of his selection,—our order was given to Hart, Schaffner & Marx because of the manifest superiority of their clothes.
Experience guided our choice.
We saw in Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes the handiwork of master tailors.
We saw, too, that in the buying of woolen cloths Hart, Schaffner & Marx had an immense advantage.
For they consume the entire output of many mills, which they get at a price.
That is why Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes offer such unordinary values, and it is because they DO offer such values that we sell them.
Our Spring stocks are here.
Come and see them.

MR. ADAM, of Eden, was born many years ago, even before Joe Cannon. I don't believe any clothier would sincerely mourn his demise, because Adam wasn't much for clothes.
¶ Adam never knew the joy of an auto ride or the sport of a joy ride. Had he seen my Spring Suits with permanent creased trousers at $20 to $40, he could have made love to Mrs. Eve without getting baggy trousers around the knees.
¶ I sell Kuppenheimer, Washington and Society Brand Clothes and my own make also; no need saying any more. Suits & Overcoats, $15 to $45.
